HAPPY, they say, is the country that has no history; little has happened to worry the inhabitants.

Happy also, persumably, the nation that does not take its elections seriously, the citizens not agitated about the public questions.

ELECTIONS Tuesday, which might mean inability of the administration to carry out its plans, leave the average citizen as cold as a bulletin from the agricultural department on raising sweet potatoes.

THE little man makes $5 a day. Seventy-five Americans tell the tax department they make more than $3,000 a day, $1,000,000 a year. At least three of us Americans own a thousand million dollars. Why should elections worry us, or interest us much? Let lawyers look after the big men and the corporations, while the little fellows trust to luck.

WE have no national policy and absolutely no systematic, modern national defense. We are unfit as Haiti to fight a modern nation. The world at large hates us or feels toward us as a hungry fox feels toward a fat goose. But why should we worry? God will take care of us probably. He always has done so.

Anyhow, worrying or taking violent interest in elections would do us little good, the difference between the men that want to be elected is so slight.

WALL STREET gentlemen were quiet and conservative before election day, and will continue quiet until they know definitely what happened Tuesday.

Wall street, which really buys and sells the nation and its values, acts as though it were dealing in politics.

A Democratic Senate would not put Pennsylvania down from a 7 per cent basis, with Attebury President, or melt away the four hundred million cash surplus that Gary has piled up for United States Steel.

HIGH finance is as nervous as a man with a load of plaster statues on his head. The Democrats come out from behind the door and say "boo" oftener than Republicans. But neither of them means anything by it, and neither lack deep affection for high finance.

That institution owns two parties, and usually prefers to use the Republican one because it never even

POSTMASTER RICHARD GILSON DIES IN STEUBENVILLE HOME

Jefferson County Republican Leader, Long Active in State and National Affairs, Claimed by Blood Poisoning.

Richard Gilson, 63, postmaster at Steubenville, former sheriff of Jefferson county and a leader in the Republican party in the 18th district for 25 years, died in his home, 1302 Oregon avenue, Steubenville at 7 o'clock this morning after an eight weeks' illness of blood poisoning whic had been superinduced by a carbuncle.

He was born at Yellow Creek, Columbiana county, on December 15, 1863, a son of James and Jane Kerr Gilson, and first worked as a brakeman on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad. While thus engaged he suffered the amputation of his right band. He next was employed as a telegraph operator at Irondale, Rush Run and Rayland, Jefferson county. Afterwards he moved to Steubenville where he entered politics.

He was sheriff of Jefferson county for four years, and later was appointed sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives, Columbus. He was also connected with the Steubenville water works department under Mayor George McLeish. He was appointed postmaster at Steubenville during the administration of President Taft. Four years later he relinquished the post to a Democrat, appointed by President Wilson. He was reappointed by the late President Harding.

Secretary to Congressman.

Gilson was secretary to Congressman Frank Murphy for several years, giving up this place upon his appointment as postmaster. The secretaryship is now held by his brother, Charles Gilson. He was also chairman of the Jefferson County Republican Central committee for many years.

He married Miss Susan McCarroll of Irondale 39 years ago. He is survived by his widow and six children, Herbert of East Liverpool; Mrs. Rezen Morton and Mrs. Charles Roe, Steubenville; Mrs. Clarence Clark, Los Angeles; and Misses Edna and Helen Gilson, at home.

He was a member of the Odd Fellows, Maccabees and Knights of Pythias and was also affiliated with the La Belle View Methodist Episcopal church, Steubenville.

MELLETT DEATH COUNT WILL BE SERVED TODAY ON M'DERMOTT

Supreme Penalty Will be Asked, Prosecutor Says.

CANTON, O., Nov. 4.—After loitering along and taking it easy for three and one-half months since the assassination of Don R. Mellett, vice fighting Canton publisher, justice this afternoon stepped on the gas with the serving of a first degree murder indictment on Pat McDermott, "key figure" in the mystery.

Prosecutor C. B. McClintock asked Judge Edwin Diehl that Pat be arraigned at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and that the judge then also set "an early date for a speedy trial."

McDermott, in a low voice, asked that the court appoint an attorney for him as he claimed to be destitute. He expressed a preference for Ed L. Mills, Canton attorney, who is defending Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, the two others indicted in connection with the murder.

CANTON, Nov. 4.—Service will be made this afternoon on Pat McDermott of a first degree murder indictment as a result of the assassination of Don R. Mellett, vice fighting Canton publisher on July 16.

The indictment will be served before Common Pleas Judge Edwin Diehl, according to the announcement made by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

Arraignment of McDermott on the same indictment will be made before Judge Diehl some time tomorrow, McClintock said.

Close on the heels of these announcements came definite information from an authoritative source that the "key figure" to the murder mystery will be the first of the indicted to go on trial, and that the supreme penalty will be asked by the prosecutor.

Refuses to Talk.

"Pat McDermott has signed his own death warrant," the same person said. "He refused to talk. We did not care for the information he may have given against himself—we have an air-tight case against him. What the state wanted was some more evidence against Mazer and Ben Rudner.

"McDermott has received the 'office' not to talk and all the pleadings of his brothers were rendered null by these 'grapevine' messages."

Direct denial of reports that a deal has been made with McDermott before his surrender after a three months' nation-wide search, that the first degree murder indictment would be nolled and that McDermott would be charged with manslaughter was made by McClintock.

Evidence Against Prisoner.

"All that was told McDermott when he surrendered was that he would be given a 'square deal if he talked.' He hasn't talked the way he should." McClintock said, "and so he is going to take the rap just like any one else."

Evidence that the state has against

Non-support Case Against W. E. Mercer Dismissed by Court

Non-support charge against William E. Mercer, 823 Avondale street, filed by his wife, Mrs. Florence Mercer, was dismissed today by Municipal J. C. Hanley.

46 OTHER MEN DROWNED BY QUICKSAND CAVE-IN NEAR ISHPEMING, MICH.

Hidden Pocket of Watery Substance, Breaking Through Wall Without Warning, Pours Down Upon Workers 1600 Feet Under Ground in Barnes-Hacker Iron Shaft.

CATASTROPHE OCCURS JUST BEFORE LUNCH HOUR, TRAPPING VICTIMS

Sand and Water Floods Every Nook and Cranny of Mine and Backs Up and Rises Within 175 Feet of Surface, Killing Men Who are Caught Like Rats in Trap.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Nov. 4.—Seven of the 53 miners who were drowned by a cave-in of watery quicksand in the Barnes-Hacker iron mines here yesterday, had been accounted for early today.

Their crushed and badly mangled bodies were recovered in No. 6 level of the North Lake mine, two miles from the Barnes-Hacker shaft.

The disaster was one of the most unusual in the history of mining. A huge, hidden pocket of quicksand, broke through the mine shaft wall without warning, and poured down upon the workers, caught like rats in a trap on the third and last level of the mines, 1,600 feet below the surface.

The catastrophe occurred just before the noon lunch hour. Thirty minutes more and the men would have been safe on the surface.

Sweeping everything in its path, the hundreds of tons of sand and water poured into every nook and cranny of the mine. Its progress halted by the stub ends of the levels, it backed up until it had risen to within 175 feet of the surface.

Horror and Swiftness of Tragedy.

The seven bodies recovered included those of Captain William Tippett and William E. Hill, county mine inspector. From the bodies the rescuers were able to picture the horror and swiftness of the tragedy. The men had apparently tried to outrun the rushing torrent that came upon them from behind.

Officials of the mine declared there wasn't one chance in a million that any of the miners in the workings at the time would be taken out alive.

Today preparations were being made to sink a new shaft into the mine, through the shifting sands within the old shaft, through which it is hoped the bodies may be brought to the surface.

Gas Fumes Cause Death of Bride; Husband May Die

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 4.—Fumes from a gas stove caused the death of a young bride here early today and may prove fatal to her husband.

Mrs. Amelia Gendova, 21, died in a hospital after her mother had broken in the doors of the Gendova home and dragged out the bodies of her daughter and son-in-law. Tony Gendova is not expected to live, physicians say.

The stove had been left burning when the couple retired. They were married two weeks ago.

Force of Water Strips Victims of Their Clothing

ISHPEMING, Mich., Nov. 3.—So strong was the force of water which snuffed out the lives of 53 miners in the Barnes-Hacker iron mine that several of the victims were found today to have been completely stripped of their clothing. Many were horribly mangled.

Sweden's Princess Becomes Bride of Prince of Belgium

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 4.—In the presence of four kings and two queens, and scores of lesser royalties, Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium and Princess Astrid of Sweden were this afternoon married in a civil ceremony in the throne room of the royal palace.

The king of Sweden, the king of Belgium, the king of Denmark, the king of Norway, the queen of Belgium and the queen of Norway, were all seated in the throne room when the crown prince and Princess Astrid entered and went through the simple ceremony, which is to be followed by a state religious ceremony in Brussels next week, performed by Mayor Carl Lindhagen, of Stockholm.

City Court Suit Against Adamant Company Dismissed

Suit of the Hukill-Hunter company, Pittsburgh, against the Adamant Porcelain company, to collect $79, alleged to be due on an account for pipe fittings and other supplies, was dismissed by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today at the cost of the plaintiff. The plaintiff was represented by Lones, Hill and Davidson, while Brookes and Thompson appeared for the defendant.

EXPERT MARKSMAN VISITED SCENE OF HALL-MILLS MURDER YEAR AFTER DOUBLE CRIME AND ALMOST COLLAPSED ON SPOT, WITNESS SAYS

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4.—Henry Stevens, expert marksmen, on trial with two others for murder in the Halls-Mills case, visited the scene of the crime a year after the double murder was committed and when he passed the spot where the bodies were found he almost collapsed, it was testified in court today.

This dramatic testimony was given by Mrs. Anna L. Hoag, who lives on a farm near the scene of the double murder.

Mrs. Hoag, an elderly woman, with a sharp, incisive voice, said that she now lives in East Orange but four years ago she resided on a farm near De Russey's lane where the Rev. Edward W. Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, were shot to death on the night of September 14, 1922.

She Heard Four Shots.

"Did you hear or see anything unusual on the night of Sept. 14, 1922?" Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, asked the witness.

"I did. That night I heard four shots."

"Did anything unusual come to your attention at any time after the murders?" Simpson asked.

"Yes, about a year after."

"Well, a man came to my place—

"Can you identify that man?" Simpson asked.

She rose from her seat, glanced around and then dramatically pointed to Henry Stevens.

"Tell what occurred," Simpson said.

"Well," she related, "Henry Stevens came to my place. He was alone and immaculately dressed. He wore a Panama hat. He did not look as if he was hiking. After asking me a few questions he suddenly said:

"'Wasn't there a tragedy on this place?'

"I leaped up, declaring that I knew nothing of a tragedy and rushed into the house.

"He then left. As he passed near the spot where the bodies were found, he almost collapsed."

Mrs. Hoag said she remembered Henry Stevens because "his face made a deep impression on me."

Ralph Gorsline Called.

Mrs. Hoag was then excused and Ralph Gorsline, vestryman who admits he was in De Russey's lane the night of the murder, with a girl companion, was next called to the stand.

Gorsline, tall, thin vestryman in the slain Dr. Edward W. Hall's church, denied on the witness stand that he had seen or spoken to Henry Stevens on the Phillips farm the night four years ago when the rector and his choir singer were shot to death.

He told of going to the scene which was a "lovers' lane" at about 10:30 an the night of the double murder. He was accompanied, he testified, by Miss Catherine Rastall. He parked his car near the famous crabapple tree where the murders were committed. Soon he heard the mumbling of voices, a shot, a woman's scream, then three shots—and then moans.

"Didn't you ever tell a man that you were in the lane that night and that you saw there Henry Stevens and that he said to you: 'Get to hell out of here,' and fired two shots into the ground?" Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson shouted.

"I did not," the witness replied.

He said he met Miss Rastall in front of the Y. M. C. A., in New Brunswick about 10 o'clock on the night of the murder. He invited her for a ride in his car. They then drove to the lane, about 700 feet from the crabapple tree, and put out the automobile lights.

He Heard Mumblings.

"How long were you in the lane when you heard the shots?"

"A few minutes."

"How long did you wait in your car

Supreme Penalty Will be Asked, Prosecutor Says.

CANTON, O., Nov. 4.—After loitering along and taking it easy for three and one-half months since the assassination of Don R. Mellett, vice fighting Canton publisher, justice this afternoon stepped on the gas with the serving of a first degree murder indictment on Pat McDermott, "key figure" in the mystery.

Prosecutor C. B. McClintock asked Judge Edwin Diehl that Pat be arraigned at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and that the judge then also set "an early date for a speedy trial."

McDermott, in a low voice, asked that the court appoint an attorney for him as he claimed to be destitute. He expressed a preference for Ed L. Mills, Canton attorney, who is defending Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, the two others indicted in connection with the murder.

CANTON, Nov. 4.—Service will be made this afternoon on Pat McDermott of a first degree murder indictment as a result of the assassination of Don R. Mellett, vice fighting Canton publisher on July 16.

The indictment will be served before Common Pleas Judge Edwin Diehl, according to the announcement made by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

Arraignment of McDermott on the same indictment will be made before Judge Diehl some time tomorrow, McClintock said.

Close on the heels of these announcements came definite information from an authoritative source that the "key figure" to the murder mystery will be the first of the indicted trio to go on trial, and that the supreme penalty will be asked by the prosecutor.

Refuses to Talk.

"Pat McDermott has signed his own death warrant," the same person said. "He refused to talk. We did not care for the information he may have given against himself—we have an air-tight case against him. What the state wanted was some more evidence against Mazer and Ben Rudner.

"McDermott has received the 'office' not to talk and all the pleadings of his brothers were rendered null by these 'grapevine' messages."

Direct denial of reports that a deal has been made with McDermott before his surrender after a three months' nation-wide search, that the first degree murder indictment would be nolled and that McDermott would be charged with manslaughter was made by McClintock.

Evidence Against Prisoner.

"All that was told McDermott when he surrendered was that he would be given a 'square deal if he talked.' He hasn't talked the way he should," McClintock said, "and so he is going to take the rap just like any one else."

Evidence that the state has against

Non-support Case Against W. E. Mercer Dismissed by Court

Non-support charge against William E. Mercer, 823 Avondale street, filed by his wife, Mrs. Florence Mercer, was dismissed today by Municipal J. C. Hanley.

46 OTHER MEN DROWNED BY QUICKSAND CAVE-IN NEAR ISHPEMING, MICH.

Hidden Pocket of Watery Substance, Breaking Through Wall Without Warning, Pours Down Upon Workers 1600 Feet Under Ground in Barnes-Hacker Iron Shaft.

CATASTROPHE OCCURS JUST BEFORE LUNCH HOUR, TRAPPING VICTIMS

Sand and Water Floods Every Nook and Cranny of Mine and Backs Up and Rises Within 175 Feet of Surface, Killing Men Who are Caught Like Rats in Trap.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Nov. 4.—Seven of the 53 miners who were drowned by a cave-in of watery quicksand in the Barnes-Hacker iron mines here yesterday, had been accounted for early today.

Their crushed and badly mangled bodies were recovered in No. 6 level of the North Lake mine, two miles from the Barnes-Hacker shaft.

The disaster was one of the most unusual in the history of mining. A huge, hidden pocket of quicksand, broke through the mine shaft wall without warning, and poured down upon the workers, caught like rats in a trap on the third and last level of the mines, 1,600 feet below the surface.

The catastrophe occurred just before the noon lunch hour. Thirty minutes more and the men would have been safe on the surface.

Sweeping everything in its path, the hundreds of tons of sand and water poured into every nook and cranny of the mine. Its progress halted by the stub ends of the levels, it backed up until it had risen to within 175 feet of the surface.

Horror and Swiftness of Tragedy.

The seven bodies recovered included those of Captain William Tippett and William E. Hill, county mine inspector. From the bodies the rescuers were able to picture the horror and swiftness of the tragedy. The men had apparently tried to outrun the rushing torrent that came upon them from behind.

Officials of the mine declared there wasn't one chance in a million that any of the miners in the workings at the time would be taken out alive.

Today preparations were being made to sink a new shaft into the mine, through the shifting sands within the old shaft, through which it is hoped the bodies may be brought to the surface.

Force of Water Strips Victims of Their Clothing

ISHPEMING, Mich., Nov. 3.—So strong was the force of water which snuffed out the lives of 53 miners in the Barnes-Hacker iron mine that several of the victims were found today to have been completely stripped of their clothing. Many were horribly mangled.

Gas Fumes Cause Death of Bride; Husband May Die

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 4.—Fumes from a gas stove caused the death of a young bride here early today and may prove fatal to her husband.

Mrs. Amelia Gendova, 21, died in a hospital after her mother had broken in the doors of the Gendova home and dragged out the bodies of her daughter and son-in-law. Tony Gendova is not expected to live, physicians say.

The stove had been left burning when the couple retired. They were married two weeks ago.

City Court Suit Against Adamant Company Dismissed

Suit of the Hukill-Hunter company, Pittsburgh, against the Adamant Porcelain company, to collect $79, alleged to be due on an account for pipe fittings and other supplies, was dismissed by Municipal Judge J. C. Hanley today at the cost of the plaintiff. The plaintiff was represented by Lones, Hill and Davidson, while Brookes and Thompson appeared for the defendant.

EXPERT MARKSMAN VISITED SCENE OF HALL-MILLS MURDER YEAR AFTER DOUBLE CRIME AND ALMOST COLLAPSED ON SPOT, WITNESS SAYS

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4.—Henry Stevens, expert marksmen, on trial with two others for murder in the Halls-Mills case, visited the scene of the crime a year after the double murder was committed and when he passed the spot where the bodies were found he almost collapsed, it was testified in court today.

This dramatic testimony was given by Mrs. Anna L. Hoag, who lives on a farm near the scene of the double murder.

Mrs. Hoag, an elderly woman, with a sharp, incisive voice, said that she now lives in East Orange but four years ago she resided on a farm near De Russey's lane where the Rev. Edward W. Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, were shot to death on the night of September 14, 1922.

She Heard Four Shots.

"Did you hear or see anything unusual on the night of Sept. 14, 1922? Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, asked the witness.

"I did. That night I heard four shots."

"Did anything unusual come to your attention at any time after the murders?" Simpson asked.

"Yes, about a year after."

"Well, a man came to my place—"

"Can you identify that man?" Simpson asked.

She rose from her seat, glanced around and then dramatically pointed to Henry Stevens.

"Tell what occurred," Simpson said.

"Well," she related, "Henry Stevens came to my place. He was alone and immaculately dressed. He wore a Panama hat. He did not look as if he was hiking. After asking me a few questions he suddenly said:

"'Wasn't there a tragedy on this place?'

"I leaped up, declaring that I knew nothing of a tragedy and rushed into the house.

"He then left. As he passed near the spot where the bodies were found, he almost collapsed."

Mrs. Hoag said she remembered Henry Stevens because "his face made a deep impression on me."

Ralph Gorsline Called.

Mrs. Hoag was then excused and Ralph Gorsline, vestryman who admits he was in De Russey's lane the night of the murder, with a girl companion, was next called to the stand.

Gorsline, tall, thin vestryman in the slain Dr. Edward W. Hall's church, denied on the witness stand that he had seen or spoken to Henry Stevens on the Phillips farm the night four years ago when the rector and his choir singer were shot to death.

He told of going to the scene which was a "lovers' lane" at about 10:30 on the night of the double murder. He was accompanied, he testified, by Miss Catherine Rastall. He parked his car near the famous crabapple tree where the murders were committed. Soon he heard the mumbling of voices, a shot, a woman's scream, then three shots—and then moans.

"Didn't you ever tell a man that you were in the lane that night and that you saw there Henry Stevens and that he said to you: 'Get to hell out of here,' and fired two shots into the ground?" Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson shouted.

"I did not," the witness replied.

He said he met Miss Rastall in front of the Y. M. C. A., in New Brunswick about 10 o'clock on the night of the murder. He invited her for a ride in his car. They then drove to the lane, about 700 feet from the crabapple tree, and put out the automobile lights.

He Heard Mumblings.

"How long were you in the lane when you heard the shots?"

"A few minutes."

"How long did you wait in your car

Collegiate Flivvers Will Not be Barred From College Campus

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Collegiate flivvers shall not be barred from the University of Minnesota campus.

This announcement by E. E. Nicholson, dean of student affairs, set at rest the fears of college boys who have labored all summer in developing their hand painted autos for use this fall and winter.

"There are too many student automobiles," Dean Nicholson said, "but we cannot legislate against them because too many students need their cars in coming to and from school."

So although Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin and other universities have barred students from using their autos the collegiate flivver will survive in Minnesota.

Popular London Vicar, Prominent in Radio Circles Quits Post

LONDON.—The Rev. "Dick" Shephard, London's most popular vicar, who has become known to thousands through his radio sermons, is resigning at Christmas through ill-health.

His church of Saint Martin's in the Fields, situated at the east side of Trafalgar Square, has been crowded every Sunday since he was appointed vicar, and so great is his popularity that when his resignation was announced from the pulpit several women broke down and cried.

He gained nation-wide fame by allowing the crypt of his church to be kept open all night to house London's unfortunates, and by his broadmindedness in religious matters.

CLOSE BATTLE FOR CONGRESS

Official Canvass May be Necessary to Decide Winner.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 4. — An official canvass may be necessary to determine the winner in the sixth congressional district of West Virginia it appeared today when belated returns from Tuesday's election show that Congressman Alfred Taylor had made tremendous gains on E. T. England, his Republican opponent.

With only nine precincts missing, including seven in Kanawha county and one each in Pocahontas and Fayette counties, the unofficial count showed England leading by 210 votes. The total was: England, 45,728; Taylor, 45,518.

Congressman Taylor maintained that he has won the seat on the basis of returns compiled at his headquarters in Fayetteville which gave him a lead of 239 votes with only one Kanawha precinct missing.

Further belated returns this morning assured the election of W. S. O'Brien, Democrat, for the seat in the third district, over John Wolverton, Republican incumbent.

Republican victories in three of the congressional districts were made more certain by today's reports and their majories in both branches of the legislature by substantial numbers is certain.

Hungarian Pawnshop Shows Money Shortage; Many Articles Pawned

BUDAPEST. — Money is getting tighter and tighter in Hungary as measured by that infallible meter, the pawnshop. More than twice as many articles found temporary asylum in the pawnshops of Budapest during the first four months of 1926 than a year ago.

Like Russia, most of the personal wealth of Hungarians is represented in jewels, and 157,752 jewels were pledged in the four-month period this year as compared with only 75,735 last year. Other pledges this year totalled 285,584 and last year 136,497.

London Poorhouse Street Now Termed Land of Promise

LONDON.—Of all London's thousand of streets and roads the most ironically named is surely Land of Promise, in the Islington district.

Land of Promise is nothing more or less than a gateway to the poorhouse, down which come the sick and the aged and infirm, to be received as guests of the local guardians.

Once there were six cottages and several workshops in the street, but these were pulled down when the poorhouse was erected.

Steps are to be taken to have the plate naming the one-time street taken down.

The Improved Anchor Hot Blast Heater Has No Equal

Wherever heating stoves are used, the Anchor Hot Blast Heater proves its superiority—proves that in downright efficiency, in convenience, in actual economy, it is without an equal.

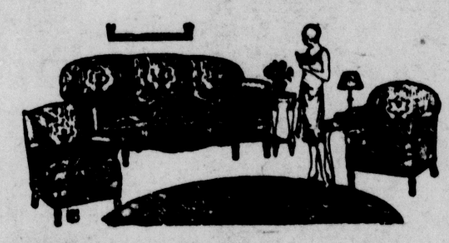

This superiority is not an accident, but is the result of many years of practical and scientific heating-stove manufacture and practical tests.

The features of construction in the Anchor Hot Blast Heater meet every requirement of heating-stove efficiency and long-time service. Highest quality materials, expert workmanship, and scientific design combine to give a heating result unequalled in this type of heater.

The Anchor Hot Blast will burn any fuel—hard coal, soft coal, lignite, wood, or coke, giving a uniform heat under perfect control, and a slow, economical combustion. Because of the hot-blast feature, the gases from soft coal are completely burned, making a ton of soft coal about equal to a ton of the more expensive hard coal.

Careful attention has been applie dto every detail of construction. And it is mounted absolutely air-tight and remains air-tight, because these details have been perfected and made practical.

In addition to a fine appearance that will last the life of the stove, the Anchor Hot Blast offers real home comfort and a saving of 25% on your fuel bill.

Collegiate Flivvers Will Not be Barred From College Campus

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Collegiate flivvers shall not be barred from the University of Minnesota campus.

This announcement by E. E. Nicholson, dean of student affairs, set at rest the fears of college boys who have labored all summer in developing their hand painted autos for use this fall and winter.

"There are too many student automobiles," Dean Nicholson said, "but we cannot legislate against them because too many students need their cars in coming to and from school."

So although Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin and other universities have barred students from using their autos the collegiate flivver will survive in Minnesota.

Popular London Vicar, Prominent in Radio Circles Quits Post

LONDON.—The Rev. "Dick" Shephard, London's most popular vicar, who has become known to thousands through his radio sermons, is resigning at Christmas through ill-health.

His church of Saint Martin's in the Fields, situated at the east side of Trafalgar Square, has been crowded every Sunday since he was appointed vicar, and so great is his popularity that when his resignation was announced from the pulpit several women broke down and cried.

He gained nation-wide fame by allowing the crypt of his church to be kept open all night to house London's unfortunates, and by his broadmindedness in religious matters.

Collegiate Flivvers Will Not be Barred From College Campus

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Collegiate flivvers shall not be barred from the University of Minnesota campus.

This announcement by E. E. Nicholson, dean of student affairs, set at rest the fears of college boys who have labored all summer in developing their hand painted autos for use this fall and winter.

"There are too many student automobiles," Dean Nicholson said, "but we cannot legislate against them because too many students need their cars in coming to and from school."

So although Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin and other universities have barred students from using their autos the collegiate flivver will survive in Minnesota.

Popular London Vicar, Prominent in Radio Circles Quits Post

LONDON.—The Rev. "Dick" Shephard, London's most popular vicar, who has become known to thousands through his radio sermons, is resigning at Christmas through ill-health.

His church of Saint Martin's in the Fields, situated at the east side of Trafalgar Square, has been crowded every Sunday since he was appointed vicar, and so great is his popularity that when his resignation was announced from the pulpit several woman broke down and cried.

He gained nation-wide fame by allowing the crypt of his church to be kept open all night to house London's unfortunates, and by his broadmindedness in religious matters.

CLOSE BATTLE FOR CONGRESS

Official Canvass May be Necessary to Decide Winner.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 4. — An official canvass may be necessary to determine the winner in the sixth congressional district of West Virginia it appeared today when belated returns from Tuesday's election show that Congressman Alfred Taylor had made tremendous gains on E. T. England, his Republican opponent.

With only nine precincts missing, including seven in Kanawha county and one each in Pocahontas and Fayette counties, the unofficial count showed England leading by 210 votes. The total was: England, 45,728; Taylor, 45,518.

Congressman Taylor maintained that he has won the seat on the basis of returns compiled at his headquarters in Fayetteville which gave him a lead of 239 votes with only one Kanawha precinct missing.

Further belated returns this morning assured the election of W. S. O'Brien, Democrat, for the seat in the third district, over John Wolverton, Republican incumbent.

Republican victories in three of the congressional districts were made more certain by today's reports and their majories in both branches of the legislature by substantial numbers is certain.

Hungarian Pawnshop Shows Money Shortage; Many Articles Pawned

BUDAPEST. — Money is getting tighter and tighter in Hungary as measured by that infallible meter, the pawnshop. More than twice as many articles found temporary asylum in the pawnshops of Budapest during the first four months of 1926 than a year ago.

Like Russia, most of the personal wealth of Hungarians is represented in jewels, and 157,752 jewels were pledged in the four-month period this year as compared with only 75,735 last year. Other pledges this year totalled 285,584 and last year 136,497.

London Poorhouse Street Now Termed Land of Promise

LONDON.—Of all London's thousand of streets and roads the most ironically named is surely Land of Promise, in the Islington district.

Land of Promise is nothing more or less than a gateway to the poorhouse, down which come the sick and the aged and infirm, to be received as guests of the local guardians.

Once there were six cottages and several workshops in the street, but these were pulled down when the poorhouse was erected.

Steps are to be taken to have the plate naming the one-time street taken down.

The Improved Anchor Hot Blast Heater Has No Equal

Wherever heating stoves are used, the Anchor Hot Blast Heater proves its superiority—proves that in downright efficiency, in convenience, in actual economy, it is without an equal.

This superiority is not an accident, but is the result of many years of practical and scientific heating-stove manufacture and practical tests.

The features of construction in the Anchor Hot Blast Heater meet every requirement of heating-stove efficiency and long-time service. Highest quality materials, expert workmanship, and scientific design combine to give a heating result unequalled in this type of heater.

The Anchor Hot Blast wil burn any fuel—hard coal, soft coal, lignite, wood, or coke, giving a uniform heat under perfect control, and a slow, economical combustion. Because of the hot-blast feature, the gases from soft coal are completely burned, making a ton of soft coal about equal to a ton of the more expensive hard coal.

Careful attention has been applie dto every detail of construction. And it is mounted absolutely air-tight and remains air-tight, because these details have been perfected and made practical.

In addition to a fine appearance that will last the life of the stove, the Anchor Hot Blast offers real home comfort and a saving of 25% on your fuel bill.

CLOSE BATTLE FOR CONGRESS

Official Canvass May be Necessary to Decide Winner.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 4. — An official canvass may be necessary to determine the winner in the sixth congressional district of West Virginia it appeared today when belated returns from Tuesday's election show that Congressman Alfred Taylor had made tremendous gains on E. T. England, his Republican opponent.

With only nine precincts missing, including seven in Kanawha county and one each in Pocahontas and Fayette counties, the unofficial count showed England leading by 210 votes. The total was: England, 45,728; Taylor, 45,518.

Congressman Taylor maintained that he has won the seat on the basis of returns compiled at his headquarters in Fayetteville which gave him a lead of 239 votes with only one Kanawha precinct missing.

Further belated returns this morning assured the election of W. S. O'Brien, Democrat, for the seat in the third district, over John Wolverton, Republican incumbent.

Republican victories in three of the congressional districts were made more certain by today's reports and their majories in both branches of the legislature by substantial numbers is certain.

Hungarian Pawnshop Shows Money Shortage; Many Articles Pawned

BUDAPEST. — Money is getting tighter and tighter in Hungary as measured by that infallible meter, the pawnshop. More than twice as many articles found temporary asylum in the pawnshops of Budapest during the first four months of 1926 than a year ago.

Like Russia, most of the personal wealth of Hungarians is represented in jewels, and 157,752 jewels were pledged in the four-month period this year as compared with only 75,735 last year. Other pledges this year totalled 285,584 and last year 136,497.

London Poorhouse Street Now Termed Land of Promise

LONDON.—Of all London's thousand of streets and roads the most ironically named is surely Land of Promise, in the Islington district.

Land of Promise is nothing more or less than a gateway to the poorhouse, down which come the sick and the aged and infirm, to be received as guests of the local guardians.

Once there were six cottages and several workshops in the street, but these were pulled down when the poorhouse was erected.

Steps are to be taken to have the plate naming the one-time street taken down.

The Improved Anchor Hot Blast Heater Has No Equal

Wherever heating stoves are used, the Anchor Hot Blast Heater proves its superiority—proves that in downright efficiency, in convenience, in actual economy, it is without an equal.

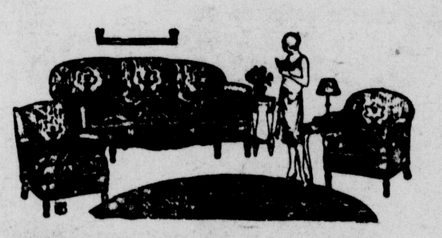

This superiority is not an accident, but is the result of many years of practical and scientific heating-stove manufacture and practical tests.

The features of construction in the Anchor Hot Blast Heater meet every requirement of heating-stove efficiency and long-time service. Highest quality materials, expert workmanship, and scientific design combine to give a heating result unequalled in this type of heater.

The Anchor Hot Blast wil burn any fuel—hard coal, soft coal, lignite, wood, or coke, giving a uniform heat under perfect control, and a slow, economical combustion. Because of the hot-blast feature, the gases from soft coal are completely burned, making a ton of soft coal about equal to a ton of the more expensive hard coal.

Careful attention has been applie dto every detail of construction. And it is mounted absolutely air-tight and remains air-tight, because these details have been perfected and made practical.

In addition to a fine appearance that will last the life of the stove, the Anchor Hot Blast offers real home comfort and a saving of 25% on your fuel bill.

Rival Waterway Routes

The proposed international ship canal via the St. Lawrence, as against the proposed "all-American" canal from the Lakes to the Hudson across New York State, is given another boost in the latest report of government experts.

The army engineers find, after fresh investigation, that the St. Lawrence route can be built for about half the money the New York route would cost; that the United States will be obliged to pay only half of the money required for it, whereas it would be expected to pay the whole cost of the New York project; that the St. Lawrence route would repay its cost in waterpower developed, while the New York route would not; and that the St. Lawrence route would be more useful to American shipping than the other.

In the face of such a report, it seems unlikely that congress will sanction the New York project as a national undertaking.

It will still be possible for New York state itself to develop its present barge canal into a channel to carry ocean shipping, if it cares to spend the necessary money. American transportation could doubtless make good use of both routes eventually. But it would be a very costly undertaking for a state already heavily taxed.

King of Germany

German monarchists, lately in the dumps, are said to be plucking up hope as a result of a prophecy made by an Italian fortune-teller.

In the mountains behind Locarno, the story runs, the soothsayer studied long over the hand of the German crown-prince and then told him:

"You have fingers like a woman. The lines on your hand tell me that you will be proclaimed king of Germany."

Fritz may have fingers like a woman. He certainly acts like a woman. But what has that to do with his being proclaimed king is not clear. Still, prophecies always have something queer in them, to make them more mysterious.

The crown prince may be proclaimed king of Germany, at that. It's easy to make a proclamation. What gruff old Hindenburg or his successor will do with the proclaimers is another story.

When An Industry Quits

Lloyd George estimates that the British coal strike has cost the nation about $2,500,000,000 in the last six months. That is very likely. The lost wages and profits of the labor and capital in the industry itself, though great, are a minor consideration. Other industries have been handicapped, trade has dragged, general business has been prostrated. Peace is said to be hopeless.

Every strike in a fundamental industry has such an effect. Industries are "members one of another." When the coal or iron or transportation industry is tied up by strike, it is as if an individual's stomach or heart or spinal chord were on strike. Society is an organism made up of many organs, all of which have to act together, else the rest suffer and die with it.

It is just as necessary to maintain industrial peace as it is to prevent wars between nations.

Real Americans in Disguise

The Queen of Roumania is said to regret that so far she has not seen America or the real Americans. Of course, no country can be "seen" in a few weeks when the points of vision are confined to hotels, railroad trains and banquet halls. Celebrities rarely have opportunity to see a country in which they travel from any more intimate vantage points. On the whole, however, Queen Marie and her party are doing pretty well and covering an amazing lot of ground in their visit, so that they should at least acquire a feeling for the size of and variety of scene of this country.

When it comes to "real Americans," the royal party is doing still better, but doesn't know it. What more typical citizens have we to offer than the President of the United States and the mayor of New York, not to mention the other public officials and business men with whom the Roumanians have dined or driven or lunched?

The trouble is that the queen has seen these real Americans only in a sort of stage setting, all dressed up and putting on formal manners as etiquette seems require for meeting royalty. If the queen could have slipped into this country as any well-to-do private traveler, she might have had better luck catching Americans in more customary and democratic surroundings, attire and poses.

The Blood-Giver

Most philanthropists give money. Some give time or labor. Raymond Briez, a young Frenchman, gives blood. The other day he submitted to transfusion for the 101st time, giving a quart of his blood to save a patient's life.

He has given 25 gallons of blood in five years, and never taken a cent for it. Once he gave a quart to three different patients in one day. Giving that much in one transfusion would have killed him. Few persons can stand the loss of a quart at a time. Briez's blood cells multiply like yeast germs.

Friends have asked his admission to the Legion of Honor. What war hero is more entitled to membership?

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, No. 4.—New York has howled for years about theatrical ticket speculation but does nothing. State laws have been passed to no avail. When a play is a "hit" it means best seats go to reputable agencies and from there into hands of the "gyppers."

There is a maximum 50 cent fee permitted by law allowed the agencies. It is doubtful if they could keep their tickets from going into the hands of "gyps' if they desired. The "gyps" employ "stalls" as 50 cents a head to buy tickets in advance.

Considering they are able to dispose of the tickets at triple the printed price, that fee is, of course slight. Only New Yorkers realize the enormity of this graft. Few out of-towners will stand for the gouge. They sit in the balcony or go to a matinee.

Eventually, of course, it will work irreparable harm to the theatre although the producers smile at such prophecy. It has reached the point already where many lovers of the theatre have abandoned it because of the trouble it requires to secure seats. Try to get a seat two hours after a play is a hit!

For a successful play it is well night impossible to obtain seats far down front. The agencies—where a patron is willing to pay the 50 cents extra—cannot supply them. The tickets have gone into the hands of the "stalls" who work for the "gyps."

The turn-over in theatrical ticket speculation amounts to many millions a year which is, naturally, at the expense of the public that supports it. Producers feel they have expended a fortune on a gamble and why should they take a chance when they can sell the house out for weeks in advance to agencies?

There are any number of those slinking, whispering creatures who accost you after you leave the box office with tickets in their hands who have made fortunes. One indeed in a court action confessed he cleared $71,000 in a single year.

What with the agencies and the cut rate exchanges, theatrical production ceases to be the hazard of other days. If a show begins to wobble, seats are thrown on the block. The show is "leblanged." Which means Joe Leglang, king of the cut rate agents, has bought the house and auctions it off nightly in his mammoth bazaar in the rear of Gray's drug store. His career shows the profits of cut-rating. He once had desk room in the drug store to sell cut rate seats. His business grew so rapidly he bought the drug store on Broadway's most prominent corner merely to serve as an entrance to his auction rooms in the rear and basement. It requires a dozen policemen to handle crowds that collect there a half hour before courtain time. Leblang has backed many shows and puffed life into many slowly dying. He is a multi-millionaire, owning vast mercantile establishments, including a big department store, and several midtown skyscrapers.

Overheard in a cafe: "If you think a rich bootlegger cannot bust into society these days, don't be silly."

Now and then in those restaurants classed as smart there will be a lone diner in precise evening habiliments. He appears detached and goes slowly through the menu from potage to pecans. A wine bucket is at his feet and he takes white wine with his fish and red with his meat in prescribed fashion. Afterwards he dallies with a brandy in a wide flanged glass, reveling in the aroma in the manner of a cat with catnip. He is the last of the gourmands in an eat-on-the-run age.

JUST A TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

The lecturer on the occult was warming to his subject. He was dealing at this particular point with supernatural manifestations.

"Ah, my friends!" he exclaimed, "if you could all but be made to believe! If only the world would cease from its scoffing and come to realize the truth. I have told you of my own experiences, but surely, surely in this audience is someone else who had direct communication with a departed spirit. If there is any person here present who ever has been in touch with a ghost I would ask him to stand up."

From his seat in the front row of the balcony a solid-looking citizen of a Celtic cast of countenance got upon his feet.

"Here's wan," he stated simply.

The delighted speaker checked an outburst of involuntary applause from the true believers on the lower floor of the house.

"This is very gratifying," he stated. "Behold, a volunteer witness, one who is a stranger to me, arises to give his testimony. My good sir, so I understand you to say that you have been in touch with a ghost?"

"In touch wit' him?" echoed the citizen. "I sh'd say I was in touch wit' him. He butted me till I was black and blue."

"A ghost butted you?"

"Aw, hell!" exclaimed the gentleman as he sank back into his place. "I thought you said a 'goat.'"

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Ability Grouping of School Children.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—No one phase of modern public school education is attracting more attention at the present time than the new system of ability grouping of children, especially in the larger cities.

About none, however, are there less authoriative and informative data available, for the reason that no agency has as yet brought together statistics on a large scale to show the results attained and that the figures that are available have not been compiled upon uniform bases so as to admit of unimpeachable analyses and deductions.

This is regarded as unfortunate by leading educators who are unreservedly "sold' on the new system, but who find it difficult in some cases to sell it to conservative school boards and to taxpayers and parents, who, in many instances, in the absence of conclusive proof as to the merits of the innovation have criticised or condemned it before seeing it tried out.

Ability grouping of school children means, if carried to its logical conclusion, the segregating of the bright, average, dull, and subnormal, or a typical, pupils; giving them work on the basis of their mental and physical ability, and expecting results from them in proportion to their ability. As practically applied in many cases it means the dividing of the children in a given grade into "bright" and "dull" groups.

This terminology is unfortunate in that it invites antagonism from non-understanding parents. Fathers and mothers instinctively resent having their children classed as "dull." Mr. and Mrs. Jones will admit that their Johnny is backward, or a plodder, but they will insist that if he has the right kind of a teacher he can keep up with his class, and that it is the fundamental duty of the schools to provide the right kind of teachers. At any rate, they want their Johnny to have a chance to show what he can do along with the boys and girls of his age.

Different Kinds of Ages.

And when an attempt is made to talk to such parents about Johnny's IQ—his intelligence quoitent—they not infrequently go straight up in the air and refuse to come down to listen to reason or advice. If they are told that every child has two ages—his mental age, and his physical or chronological age—and that his IQ, which indicates where he should be in school, is determined by dividing his mental age by his chronogical age, they are prone to say that is all rot. They stand pat on their conviction that if Johnny has had a certain number of birthdays he ought to be in a certain grade, and be promoted regularly.

But, happily, parents are being taught, as well as children. They are learning that all children are not alike in mental equipment any more than they are in physique or in the color of their hair. They are grasping the idea that it is just as bad to hold back an alert, bright youngster as it is to attempt to force a backward, less mentally active child through holding them to the same class room standards.

The bright child tends to minimizing his efforts because he lacks incentive

What with the agencies and the cut rate exchanges, theatrical production ceases to be the hazard of other days. If a show begins to wobble, seats are thrown on the block. The show is "leblanged." Which means Joe Leglang, king of the cut rate agents, has bought the house and auctions it off nightly in his mammoth bazaar in the rear of Gray's drug store. His career shows the profits of cut-rating. He once had desk room in the drug store to sell cut rate seats. His business grew so rapidly he bought the drug store on Broadway's most prominent corner merely to serve as an entrance to his auction rooms in the rear and basement. It requires a dozen policemen to handle crowds that collect there a half hour before curtain time. Leblang has backed many shows and puffed life into many slowly dying. He is a multi-millionaire, owning vast mercantile establishments, including a big department store, and several midtown skyscrapers.

Overheard in a cafe: "If you think a rich bootlegger cannot bust into society these days, don't be silly."

Now and then in those restaurants classed as smart there will be a lone diner in precise evening habiliments. He appears detached and goes slowly through the menu from potage to pecans. A wine bucket is at his feet and he takes white wine with his fish and red with his meat in prescribed fashion. Afterwards he dallies with a brandy in a wide flanged glass, reveling in the aroma in the manner of a cat with catnip. He is the last of the gourmands in an eat-on-the-run age.

JUST A TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

The lecturer on the occult was warming to his subject. He was dealing at this particular point with supernatural manifestations.

"Ah, my friends!" he exclaimed, "if you could all but be made to believe! If only the world would cease from its scoffing and come to realize the truth. I have told you of my own experiences, but surely, surely in this audience is someone else who had direct communication with a departed spirit. If there is any person here present who ever has been in touch with a ghost I would ask him to stand up."

From his seat in the front row of the balcony a solid-looking citizen of a Celtic cast of countenance got upon his feet.

"Here's wan," he stated simply.

The delighted speaker checked an outburst of involuntary applause from the true believers on the lower floor of the house.

"This is very gratifying," he stated. "Behold, a volunteer witness, one who is a stranger to me, arises to give his testimony. My good sir, so I understand you to say that you have been in touch with a ghost?"

"In touch wit' him?" echoed the citizen. "I sh'd say I was in touch wit' him. He butted me till I was black and blue."

"A ghost butted you?"

"Aw, hell!" exclaimed the gentleman as he sank back into his place. "I thought you said a 'goat.'"

Ability Grouping of School Children.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—No one phase of modern public school education is attracting more attention at the present time than the new system of ability grouping of children, especially in the larger cities.

About none, however, are there less authoriative and informative data available, for the reason that no agency has as yet brought together statistics on a large scale to show the results attained and that the figures that are available have not been compiled upon uniform bases so as to admit of unimpeachable analyses and deductions.

This is regarded as unfortunate by leading educators who are unreservedly "sold" on the new system, but who find it difficult in some cases to sell it to conservative school boards and to taxpayers and parents, who, in many instances, in the absence of conclusive proof as to the merits of the innovation have criticised or condemned it before seeing it tried out.

Ability grouping of school children means, if carried to its logical conclusion, the segregating of the bright, average, dull, and subnormal, or a typical, pupils; giving them work on the basis of their mental and physical ability, and expecting results from them in proportion to their ability. As practically applied in many cases it means the dividing of the children in a given grade into "bright" and "dull" groups.

This terminology is unfortunate in that it invites antagonism from non-understanding parents. Fathers and mothers instinctively resent having their children classed as "dull." Mr. and Mrs. Jones will admit that their Johnny is backward, or a plodder, but they will insist that if he has the right kind of a teacher he can keep up with his class, and that it is the fundamental duty of the schools to provide the right kind of teachers. At any rate, they want their Johnny to have a chance to show what he can do along with the boys and girls of his age.

Different Kinds of Ages.

And when an attempt is made to talk to such parents about Johnny's IQ—his intelligence quotient—they not infrequently go straight up in the air and refuse to come down to listen to reason or advice. If they are told that every child has two ages—his mental age, and his physical or chronological age—and that his IQ, which indicates where he should be in school, is determined by dividing his mental age by his chronogical age, they are prone to say that is all rot. They stand pat on their conviction that if Johnny has had a certain number of birthdays he ought to be in a certain grade, and be promoted regularly.

But, happily, parents are being taught, as well as children. They are learning that all children are not alike in mental equipment any more than they are in physique or in the color of their hair. They are grasping the idea that it is just as bad to hold back an alert, bright youngster as it is to attempt to force a backward, less mentally active child through holding them to the same class room standards.

The bright child tends to minimizing his efforts because he lacks incentive

FOGO-ASHLEY BREAK PROMPTS PRIVATE MEET

Committee Named to Attempt to Bring About Reconciliation.

WORK HELD UP

Special Conference Will be Held Friday Night.

A special conference of council members, appointed at last night's adjourned meeting of the solons, together with Solicitor S. C. Luccock, Auditor Fred Eckfeld and other city officials will be held privately on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the auditor's office for the purpose of trying to effect a reconciliation between Mayor W. L. Fogo and former Safety-Service Director George P. Ashley.

Arrangements for the special session were rushed through by solons at last night's meting when the solicitor pointed out that the absence of a service-safety director would not only prevent the completion of contractural relations with the Ohio Power company for the installation of a better lighting system but also hinder other municipal operations which demand action by the director.

According to a recent ruling in common pleas court, no other city official possesses the legal power to act for the service-safety director in practically any instance, especially in cases where the latter's signature is required. Solons had this in mind when they launched the peace movement.

Council will be represented at the conference by members W. S. Connor, First ward; W. B. Nicholson, Fourth ward, and C. S. Peters, Second ward.

Suggestion which led to councilmanic action came first from Solicitor Luccock who said that the number of important legislative matters demanding immediate action, make it imperative that a service-safety director be established in office at once.

The question of lights, which is about to be settled for a period of ten years, at least, as a result of a contract with the Ohio Power company, with the installation of a greatly improved lighting system throughout the city, was brought to the attention of council by W. B. Nicholson.

"The people are demanding lights, they voted for lights, and they are entitled to get them," declared Nicholson, "and therefore, I move that a committee from council be named to try to fix up this controversy right now."

Solon Raymond McLean seconded the motion and President Baker named his committee.

COUNCIL MAKES FUND TRANSFER

Needed $150 to Pay for Repairs on City Hall.

City council last night authorized the transfer of $150 from the safety fund to the service fund for repairs on the city hall building. The measure was approved as an emergency resolution.

Solons recently directed the service department to make repairs to the roof of the building, through which water was leaking.

Solicitor Luccock pointed out to council, in connection with a discussion on lights, that the Ohio Power company could make no move toward buying the standards for the white way system here without first consulting head officers of the company.

The contract with the company, as drawn up, did not take the standards into consideration, and the company's bid was made with no reference to the property in conformity with the city's advertisement for bids.

In order to effect a sale of the standards, the solicitor said, it would be necessary to retrace these legislative steps and this would mean a delay of several weeks or more in the installation of the lighting system planned by council.

No action was taken on the announcement that Harry Brannon, local auto dealer, would install a danger signal if council permitted, directly in front of the Ninth street school building in order to warn motorists of the abrupt turn there.

President Clyde Baker suggested that cinders be used in improving conditions in Eleventh street and Buckeye avenue. No action was taken.

$3,000 MORE APPROPRIATED FOR REPAIRS

Maximum Fund for Sewer Work Set at $6,000.

VERBAL CLASH

Solon Connor Suggests Contractor Should Do Work.

City council last night authorized the issuance of a certificate of indebtedness amounting to $3,000, in addition to the certificate issued some time ago for the first $3,000, for repair work on city sewers, last night's resolution limiting the maximum amount for repair work, for the present, to $6,000.

According to City Auditor Fred Eckfeld, $4,000 has already been spent on the repair work. As a result, $2,000 will be left for further operations.

In connection with the passage of the resolution, Councilman Connor made the suggestion that, in his opinion, it would be better to let the job to a contractor, his remarks prompting a lively verbal debate with Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Connor, following the motion to pass the resolution, said, "I think the job ought to be done by a contractor and that's the only way I'll vote for it."

"Finish it up as it is," declared Solon Fred Heldman, in defense of municipal forces.

Mayor Fogo asserted that "We don't want $7,000 or anything like that to clean up McQueen's Run. It's needed all over town. There are gutters and sewers that must be attended to, the run between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, and besides, the run that filled Davidson's cellar with water demands attention. Such things as that are likely to lead into damage suits. Twenty-second street is in better shape than it has been for years."

"It ought to be," remarked Councilman Connor.

"We've worked hard on that job," continued the mayor. "We've filled out the street to its proper level again. Conditions like this are to be found all over town. This has been a real emergency. It was a flood, not a freshet. And no contractor could have men who would do it any better than the ones that have been working on this job."

"I still believe that a contractor could do it better," insisted Connor. "More work could be gotten out of the men by a contractor."

"How?" demanded Mayor Fogo. "Haven't we been watching the job enough?"

"Yes," replied Connor, "there has been enough watching."

"How could any contractor get more work out of his men?" The mayor asked the question again. "These men have been working hard on that job and deserve a great deal of credit for what they've done. They are building a breaker now to keep the stone and debris out of McQueen's run. The Lisbon road demands attention as well as a dozen other places in town."

The resolution was passed as an emergency measure, with Connor casting a negative vote.

The first resolution passed by council called for an appropriation of $3,000 for the work. In the meantime, $4,000 has been spent, making it necessary to appropriate further funds for a continuation of the repair job.

SEVENTEENTH STREET SEWER ISSUE LOSES

Needed 55 Percent Vote in Order to Carry.

SOLICITOR RULES

Mere Majority is Not Sufficient, Says Luccock.

Contrary to the opinion existing in official circles yesterday following Tuesday's general election, the $24,000 Seventeenth street sewer bond issue, proposed by the city as a relief from poor drainage conditions in the district, did not carry.

City Solicitor S. C. Luccock today announced that the issue required a 55 per cent vote, and the small majority of little more than half a dozen votes was not sufficient to swing the issue.

The opinion was held by Solicitor Luccock yesterday that a majority vote would serve, but a further investigation of laws yesterday afternoon led to the discovery that the issue, which was submitted under provisions of a law passed in March by the state legislature, must have a 55 per cent vote.

As a result of the finding, every municipal issue submitted to Wellsville electors was defeated, with the exception of the fire truck bond issue which carried by a vote of 889 to 655, with the city hall repair proposal, the Thirteenth and the Twentieth street sewer propositions also going down to defeat.

COUNCIL MAKES FUND TRANSFER

Needed $150 to Pay for Repairs on City Hall.

City council last night authorized the transfer of $150 from the safety fund to the service fund for repairs on the city hall building. The measure was approved as an emergency resolution.

Solons recently directed the service department to make repairs to the roof of the building, through which water was leaking.

Solicitor Luccock pointed out to council, in connection with a discussion on lights, that the Ohio Power company could make no move toward buying the standards for the white way system here without first consulting head officers of the company.

The contract with the company, as drawn up, did not take the standards into consideration, and the company's bid was made with no reference to the property in conformity with the city's advertisement for bids.

In order to effect a sale of the standards, the solicitor said, it would be necessary to retrace these legislative steps and this would mean a delay of several weeks or more in the installation of the lighting system planned by council.

No action was taken on the announcement that Harry Brannon, local auto dealer, would install a danger signal if council permitted, directly in front of the Ninth street school building in order to warn motorists of the abrupt turn there.

President Clyde Baker suggested that cinders be used in improving conditions in Eleventh street and Buckeye avenue. No action was taken.

$3,000 MORE APPROPRIATED FOR REPAIRS

Maximum Fund for Sewer Work Set at $6,000.

VERBAL CLASH

Solon Connor Suggests Contractor Should Do Work.

City council last night authorized the issuance of a certificate of indebtedness amounting to $3,000, in addition to the certificate issued some time ago for the first $3,000, for repair work on city sewers, last night's resolution limiting the maximum amount for repair work, for the present, to $6,000.

According to City Auditor Fred Eckfeld, $4,000 has already been spent on the repair work. As a result, $2,000 will be left for further operations.

In connection with the passage of the resolution, Councilman Connor made the suggestion that, in his opinion, it would be better to let the job to a contractor, his remarks prompting a lively verbal debate with Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Connor, following the motion to pass the resolution, said, "I think the job ought to be done by a contractor and that's the only way I'll vote for it."

"Finish it up as it is," declared Solon Fred Heldman, in defense of municipal forces.

Mayor Fogo asserted that "We don't want $7,000 or anything like that to clean up McQueen's Run. It's needed all over town. There are gutters and sewers that must be attended to, the run between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, and besides, the run that filled Davidson's cellar with water demands attention. Such things as that are likely to lead into damage suits. Twenty-second street is in better shape than it has been for years."

"It ought to be," remarked Councilman Connor.

"We've worked hard on that job," continued the mayor. "We've filled out the street to its proper level again. Conditions like this are to be found all over town. This has been a real emergency. It was a flood, not a freshet. And no contractor could have men who would do it any better than the ones that have been working on this job."

"I still believe that a contractor could do it better," insisted Connor. "More work could be gotten out of the men by a contractor."

"How?" demanded Mayor Fogo. "Haven't we been watching the job enough?"

"Yes," replied Connor, "there has been enough watching."

"How could any contractor get more work out of his men?" The mayor asked the question again. "These men have been working hard on that job and deserve a great deal of credit for what they've done. They are building a breaker now to keep the stone and debris out of McQueen's run. The Lisbon road demands attention as well as a dozen other places in town."

The resolution was passed as an emergency measure, with Connor casting a negative vote.

The first resolution passed by council called for an appropriation of $3,000 for the work. In the meantime, $4,000 has been spent, making it necessary to appropriate further funds for a continuation of the repair job.

SEVENTEENTH STREET SEWER ISSUE LOSES

Needed 55 Percent Vote in Order to Carry.

SOLICITOR RULES

Mere Majority is Not Sufficient, Says Luccock.

Contrary to the opinion existing in official circles yesterday following Tuesday's general election, the $24,000 Seventeenth street sewer bond issue, proposed by the city as a relief from poor drainage conditions in the district, did not carry.

City Solicitor S. C. Luccock today announced that the issue required a 55 per cent vote, and the small majority of little more than half a dozen votes was not sufficient to swing the issue.

The opinion was held by Solicitor Luccock yesterday that a majority vote would serve, but a further investigation of laws yesterday afternoon led to the discovery that the issue, which was submitted under provisions of a law passed in March by the state legislature, must have a 55 per cent vote.

As a result of the finding, every municipal issue submitted to Wellsville electors was defeated, with the exception of the fire truck bond issue which carried by a vote of 889 to 655, with the city hall repair proposal, the Thirteenth and the Twentieth street sewer propositions also going down to defeat.

FEDERAL JUDGE, FACING IMPEACHMENT, RESIGNS

G. W. ENGLISH ESCAPES TRIAL BEFORE SENATE

Resignation Brought to White House by Counsel.

IT IS ACCEPTED

Illinois Jurist Charged With Bankruptcy Ring Role.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—George W. English, federal judge for the eastern district of Illinois, who was to face an impeachment trial before the senate on Nov. 10, today submitted his resignation to President Coolidge.

It will mean that English will escape the trial, full preparations for which already have been made.

English's resignation was brought to the White House by Edward C. Kramer, of East St. Louis, Ill., his chief counsel.

President Coolidge accepted it immediately.

It is not believed that the government will attempt to prosecute English in the courts, as the department of justice was said to feel that his resignation in face of an impeachment trial was sufficient punishment.

In the articles of impeachment from the house, English was charged with participating in a bankruptcy ring, with favoritism, and unruly conduct on the bench.

Fight Precedes Impeachment.

A long and bitter fight resulted in the house before it voted impeachment. A house committee conducted hearings in East St. Louis, English's home.

English has not sat on the bench since his impeachment by the house last spring.

Rumors of English's resignation have been current here for some time. They first bobbed up when William F. Zumbrunn, counsel for the Ku Klux Klan, resigned as a member of the defense legal staff.

Although it will not sit as a court of impeachment, the senate must meet on Nov. 10. The resolution adopted last summer called for convening at 12:30 o'clock on next Wednesday, and there is no way now that this order can be blocked.

The adjournment resolution did not specifically call for a special meeting to hold the trial, and senate attaches pointed out today that the senate, if it desires, may do business. The chances are, however, the senate will promptly adjourn to meet regularly on Dec. 6.

KIWANIS HEARS FOOD EXPERT

Cooking School Lecturer Speaks at Noon Luncheon.

Mrs. George O. Thurn, food expert, lecturer and demonstrator, who is conducting a free cooking school in the Eagles' Temple, under auspices of The Review-Tribune, addressed the Kiwanis club at a luncheon meeting in Larkins' annex, Market street, today.

She was introduced by President C. C. Cline, who presided at the luncheon.

Fifty-five members and their guests attended the meeting. The chorus singing was led by Prof. Hugh F. Laughlin and Prof. Ralph E. Mitchell, Columbus, who is conducting the music in conection with a union evangelistic service in Chester. W. F. Lones, common pleas judge-elect, and a member of the Wellsville club, was a guest.

Mrs. Thurn described her cooking school and the various phases of the housewife's work. She voiced a plea for modern household appliances and inventions as a means of lessening the burdens of housekeeping.

ALL JURORS ARE 50 OR OLDER

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4.—All the jurors in the Hall-Mills case, with the exception of two, are 50 years old or older. Four are in their sixties.

Frank A. Dunster, the foreman, is 69 and the father of seven children.

The jury is made up of six farmers, a retired teamster, two clerks, a mason, an overseer and a blacksmith.

Hall-Mills Trial

before getting out to see what happened?" Simpson asked.

"About seven or eight minutes."

"You sat there in your car, knowing something had happened and waited that long before making any investigation?"

"I did."

"You are a married man?" Simpson inquired.

"I am."

"Well, what did you see or hear?"

"I heard the mumbling of voices. Then I heard a shot. Then a woman screamed. Then there were three shots. Then I heard moaning."

The witness then was excused.

Miss Rastall On Stand.

Miss Rastall was then called to the stand. She gazed at the spectators timidly from beneath a green hat which almost hid her face.

She admitted she drove to the lane with Gorsline on the night of the murder.

"Did you hear or see anything?" Simpson asked.

"Yes, I heard the mumbling of voices—directly in back of our car. Then I heard a shot, a scream and three more shots."

"How far away was the sound of the shots?"

"I should say several hundred feet."

"How far away were the voices you heard?"

"Directly back of our car."

"Were they quarrelling or just conversing?" asked Robert McCarter, of defense counsel.

"Conversing."

Miss Rastall said she thought "two or three minutes" elapsed from the time she heard the mumbling voices behind the car and the shots.

Miss Rastall was then excused.

George E. Totten, former county detective of Somerset county, was the next witness.

William James Berryman, who made maps of St. John the Evangelist church of New Brunswick, was the first witness today. His testimony was begun yesterday.

Mrs. Frances Hall and her two brothers, "Willie" and Henry Stevens, who are charged with the murder, took their places just back of the defense counsel table. Mrs. Hall was very pale and bore an air of detached interest. She sat quietly next to "Willie" who gazed around the court curiously through his thick-lensed glasses. Another large crowd jammed the tiny court room.

The map-maker, a black-haired man with a round pleasant face, was asked by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson if the maps he had made of Dr. Hall's church were correct as to their physical features.

"They are," he replied.

He was then excused and the Rev. J. Marvin Pettit, rector of Christ church, New Brunswick was called. Rev. Pettit, man of benign appearance, and high forehead, wore shell rimmed glasses. He identified Ralph Gorsline, vestryman of his church, and Berryman's map which he said was correct. The map was then introduced into evidence.

State's Star Witness Ill.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Jane Gibson, one of the state's star witnesses in the Hall-Mills murder trial, is ill in Somerset hospital and her condition may not permit her to testify in court today or tomorrow as planned.

She is the famous "pig woman," who was riding on her mule near De Russey's lane on the night four years ago when the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills were slain.

Mrs. Gibson collapsed in an antiroom in the court house late yesterday and was taken to her temporary home which is under the guard of state troopers.

Late last night her condition took a turn for the worse and she was taken to Somerset hospital. She was better today, although her temperature ran high.

Mrs. Gibson is reported to be suffering from a serious ailment.

"Napoleon of New Jersey Bar."

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4—Alexander Simpson, "Napoleon of the New Jersey bar," is putting the big "kick" in the Hall-Mills murder trial.

This fiery little prosecutor with the abrupt, cocksure manner and clear, resonant voice, is seemingly attempting to confound the expensive array of defense counsel by the "unorthodox" methods he is employing in pressing the state's accusation that Mrs. Frances Noel Hall and her brothers, Henry and "Willie" Stevens, were the slayers of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, four years ago.

Today Simpson stands forth as one of the most picturesque and intriguing figures in the trial. It is Simpson who "starts things." And in what sudden and unexpected manner.

He already has placed the defense attorneys at their wits' ends to meet his quick, menacing legal thrusts. All alone down in the courtroom "pit" he is battling the half dozen attorneys for the other side in a confident, swaggering and sometimes utterly scornful manner.

He surprised the defense first of all by taking only 20 minutes to present the state's case to the jury. He quickly pictured the growth of intimacy between Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills, contended Mrs. Hall was jealous of the pretty young choir singer, outlining his theory of the murder, promised the jury he would support his charges with the "facts," and let it go at that. He gave the defense and courtroom observers the impression that he has an ace or two in the hole.

VOLSTEAD LAW ASSAULT SEEN IN SIX STATES

Wets Point to Vote; Means Nothing, Drys Say.

BATTLE IN 1928

Political Leaders Fear Outbreak at National Conventions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Disturbing probability that both major parties will be confronted with determined assaults on the Volstead law in their national conventions of 1928 faced political leaders today as belated returns permitted a more comprehensive survey of the wet-and-dry battles fought in many states Tuesday.

The present trend, as revealed in the balloting, is distinctly wet. The wets gleefully acclaim it. The drys somewhat ruefully admit it, although they contend it means nothing.

Six states of the eight which voted on a definite question printed on the ballots voiced disapproval of the Volstead law.

New York and Illinois voted to have congress restore to individual states the right to say what is and what is not intoxicating liquor.

Wisconsin voted for modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer.

Nevada voted in favor of a constitutional convention to revise or amend the 18th Amendment, and on another specific question: "Is prohibition a failure?" Nevada voted "yes."

Montana voted to repeal all state laws for enforcing the Volstead act except that which forbids sales to minors.

California voted to repeal the Wright state amendment act, one of the most rigorous state statutes ever written.

The drys emerged with a narrow victory in Colorado, while in Missouri the wets boycotted the question because of the manner in which it was presented on the ballots.

Two More Wets in Senate.

In addition to these victories, two wet votes have been added in the senate in the election of David I. Walsh in Massachusetts and M. E. Tydings in Maryland. Both are Democratic. In the house the wets have gained additional votes, the exact number doubtful yet. But the wets claim a dozen to fifteen outright, with the converting of many other dry votes because of the decisions in their states.

So far as the seventieth congress is concerned, it will be, for all practical purposes, as dry as its predecessor. The wets have increased their strength but are still far from enough votes to change anything.

WOMAN ELUDES MANIAC KILLER

Toledo Police Renew Search for Mysterious "Clubber."

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 4.—Toledo police today renewed their search for the mysterious "slugger" who has killed four women and assaulted numerous others, when a woman reported to them that she was badly frightened by the slugger and narrowly escaped his attack.

Mrs. J. Rayon, 34, of Twelfth street, reported today that a man leaped from behind a tree as she was about to enter her home late last night and shouted: "I'll get you, too.'"

She ran screaming into the house, and the man fled.

Mrs. Rayon's home is near the school house where Miss Lily Croy, a young school teacher, was beaten to death recently by the maniacal clubber.

Guard New York Jails After Fatal Battle in Tombs

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — Heavily armed guards were posted at the gates of all of New York City's penal institutions today as a precaution against a possible repetition of the pitched gun battle staged in tombs prison yesterday when three desperate prisoners attempted a jail break, and failing that sold their lives in a futile effort to shoot their way to freedom.

As a result of the battle two of the prisoners, Warden Mallon and another prison keeper were dead today, "Red" McKenna, leader of the prisoners, was in Beekman street hospital with a bullet in his brain, at the point of death, and another prison keeper was seriously wounded with a bullet in his back. A civilian witness of the shooting affray was wounded in the hand.

TOLEDO WORKER IS DECAPITATED

TOLEDO, Nov. 4.—Robert Hillenkamp, assistant manager of the Acme White Lead company works here, was decapitated in an elevator shaft of the building here today.

Hillenkamp was lowering a freight elevator from which he leaned at the third floor. The lift caught his head, cutting it off, then descended to the ground floor with his body.

TODAY

pretends to be independent. But one is as "safe and sound" as the other.

HUMAN beings cost money to raise, and many are not worth it at all. The imperfect being, all preserved, and children of the ablest made worthless by their father's money success.

California's state board of health says a two-year-old-baby costs less per day than at any other age—less sickness than at any time, less expense in other ways.

FROM two to twenty years cost steadily rise. After sixty it falls off—fewer teeth, eat less, clothes last longer, life runs quietly and nonsense is calming down.

All interesting, but the state board does not tell us why we live at all, or why it was necessary to put us here in the first place.

THE death of Houdini puzzles Conan Doyle, because Houdini never drank, never smoked. Some doctors would say that helps to explain his death. Able men told E. H. Harriman he would have lived a longer life had he drunk light beer, and relaxed.

They even say that teetotalism is safe only for those that do very little thinking, and do that little gently.

That's a terrible insult to prohibition and ice water, but that is what able scientists say. They say also, by the way, that a sure pat to early death is bootleg whisky.

WITHOUT CROSS WE ARE LOST, DR. MEL MORRIS TELLS CROWD

Through it Alone are Men Saved, Says Evangelist.

BAPTIST MEET

Isaiah's Prophecy Read Preceding Forceful Sermon.

"Through the Cross of Jesus Christ and it alone are men saved" declared Rev. Mel Morris at the First Baptist church revival on Fifth street, last evening. "Without it all are lost." His subject was "The Cross."

Preceding his sermon Rev. Mr. Morris feelingly read the 53rd chapter of Isaiah which 700 years before its fulfilment prophesied what ultimately came to pass on the Cross as the Son of Man sacrificed His life for the redemption of humanity.

"This passage of Isaiah's prophecy is one of the greatest prophesies in the Old Testament," the evangelist declared. It is so wonderful that no intelligent person would even today deny it. It presaged what centuries later came to pass and indicates in detail what and how the supreme sacrifice of all time nullifies sin while making possible the soul redemption of him or her who has fallen victim to the irregularity which separates man from God."

Following numerous prayers by laymen and laywomen of the congregation invocation was made by Rev. Angelo W. Bonacci, head of the Faith Italian mission, of Wellsville.

With pertinent address to hymns of special evangelistic import the song service was unique in absence of solos and the singing of the usual revival favorites, that have been taught since his arrival by Marion Ball, musical director, the single exception being the singing of the chorus of one of the hymns utilized in Chinese by the pastor, Rev. A. H. O'Brien, who in his younger days in the ministry was a missionary to China. Miss Edith Higgins assisted Miss Ruby Aley as accompanist.

Movement was made of the coming in a body to the revival on Thursday evening of a large delegation of employes from the C. C. Thompson Pottery company.

With the election over the attendance showed a marked increase of men present, the church auditorium being occupied almost to capacity. As on previous nights of the campaign the Baptist congregation was augmented by many members of other churches in the city.

Following the sermon that developed serious thinking on all the hearers an after-service of prayer followed which was given to lively testimony and good fellowship handshaking, the whole culminating with a hearty, but fervent "Amen" by those in the auditorium.

Stolen Car Fired; Two Other Machines Reported Missing

Willys-Knight sedan, belonging to B. W. Clark, Daisy alley, stolen while parked near the corner of Second and Union streets, Monday night, was located near the Stewart Brothers' farm on the Hookstown-Chester road yesterday. The machine had been fired.

Two more cars were stolen last night. One, a Ford, belonging to Clarence Means of Alpha street, East End was taken while parked on East Fourth street near the Carnegie Library while the owner was attending the Ceramic theatre. It carried license number B-94-542. The other car was a Chevrolet sedan, 1925 model, and belonged to W. S. Pittenger, a teller at the First National bank, who resides on Lincoln highway. Pittinger had the machine parked in Crook alley, near the bank. Its license number was 240-937.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon police announced that the Pittenger car had been located near Thompson park, where it had been abandoned, while the Means machine was found back of Newell. Both cars had been stripped, police said.

Mellett Death Count

the alleged "trigger man" includes the following:

On the night of the assassination of Mellett, Pat showed a certain Canton man a pistol and said: "I have a big job on tonight."

He lived in Canton several weeks with Steve Kascholk, the informer, while the murder was being planned.

He has been completely identified by six persons as the man who spied out the lay of the land about the slain publisher's home several nights before the murder and also loitered about the offices of the Canton Daily News seeking to get a "line on Mellett's activities."

And that he went into a certain district of a town near Canton to report concerning the murder and to receive money.

The above information together with much more complete data of McDermott's activities are in the possession of Prosecutor McClintock, from whom the details were learned.

ANOTHER LARGE CROWD GIVEN COOKING HINTS

Hundreds of Women Attend Review-Tribune School.

FRIDAY SESSION

Market Bags, Fish Salad and Bouquet Awarded.

The Eagles' temple presented an unusual spectacle today when crowds of women assembled for the third session of the Review-Tribune four-day cooking school, conducted under the guidance of Mrs. George O. Thurn, authority on not only the preparation of foods but their scientific value as well.

Assembled on the platform for the cooking school is a model kitchen equipped with the most modern of labor saving devices for the housewife and arranged by Mrs. Thurn to show how steps may be saved in the kitchen.

"The up-to-date household is one that affords every member of the family group a good home and still leaves for the housewife-manager time enough to take her part in civic or community affairs and enjoy enough recreation to keep herself in condition of poise and mental alertness," declared Mrs. Thurn in her talk yesterday.

"Make your pad and pencil save your heels" she recommended.

There will be only one more session of the Review-Tribune Cooking school. Make your plans now to come early so that you may be sure of getting a good seat. Many market baskets were given away today and more will be awarded tomorrow. The winners yesterday were: Mrs. George Waulmaker, 312 West Third street; Mrs. H. G. Smith, 1208 Avondale street; Mrs. Anna Bailey, Box 47, East Liverpool; Mrs. H. R. Hannah, Pleasant Heights; Mrs. Laura Bartlett, 532 College street; Miss Phyllis Crook, 219 West Fifth street. A plate of fish salad went to Mrs. Howard Kaufman, 1401 Fairmont street, while Mrs. Mary S. Elliott, 508 East Sixth street, received the bouquet of flowers.

FEDERAL JUDGE, FACING IMPEACHMENT, RESIGNS

G. W. ENGLISH ESCAPES TRIAL BEFORE SENATE

Resignation Brought to White House by Counsel.

IT IS ACCEPTED

Illinois Jurist Charged With Bankruptcy Ring Role.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—George W. English, federal judge for the eastern district of Illinois, who was to face an impeachment trial before the senate on Nov. 10, today submitted his resignation to President Coolidge.

It will mean that English will escape the trial, full preparations for which already have been made.

English's resignation was brought to the White House by Edward C. Kramer, of East St. Louis, Ill., his chief counsel.

President Coolidge accepted it immediately.

It is not believed that the government will attempt to prosecute English in the courts, as the department of justice was said to feel that his resignation in face of an impeachment trial was sufficient punishment.

In the articles of impeachment from the house, English was charged with participating in a bankruptcy ring, with favoritism, and unruly conduct on the bench.

Fight Precedes Impeachment.

A long and bitter fight resulted in the house before it voted impeachment. A house committee conducted hearings in East St. Louis, English's home.

English has not sat on the bench since his impeachment by the house last spring.

Rumors of English's resignation have been current here for some time. They first bobbed up when William F. Zumbrunn, counsel for the Ku Klux Klan, resigned as a member of the defense legal staff.

Although it will not sit as a court of impeachment, the senate must meet on Nov. 10. The resolution adopted last summer called for convening at 12:30 o'clock on next Wednesday, and there is no way now that this order can be blocked.

The adjournment resolution did not specifically call for a special meeting to hold the trial, and senate attaches pointed out today that the senate, if it desires, may do business. The chances are, however, the senate will promptly adjourn to meet regularly on Dec. 6.

KIWANIS HEARS FOOD EXPERT

Cooking School Lecturer Speaks at Noon Luncheon.

Mrs. George O. Thurn, food expert, lecturer and demonstrator, who is conducting a free cooking school in the Eagles' Temple, under auspices of The Review-Tribune, addressed the Kiwanis club at a luncheon meeting in Larkins' annex, Market street, today.

She was introduced by President C. C. Cline, who presided at the luncheon.

Fifty-five members and their guests attended the meeting. The chorus singing was led by Prof. Hugh F. Laughlin and Prof. Ralph E. Mitchell, Columbus, who is conducting the music in conection with a union evangelistic service in Chester. W. F. Lones, common pleas judge-elect, and a member of the Wellsville club, was a guest.

Mrs. Thurn described her cooking school and the various phases of the housewife's work. She voiced a plea for modern household appliances and inventions as a means of lessening the burdens of housekeeping.

ALL JURORS ARE 50 OR OLDER

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4.—All the jurors in the Hall-Mills case, with the exception of two, are 50 years old or older. Four are in their sixties.

Frank A. Dunster, the foreman, is 69 and the father of seven children.

The jury is made up of six farmers, a retired teamster, two clerks, a mason, an overseer and a blacksmith.

Hall-Mills Trial

before getting out to see what happened?" Simpson asked.

"About seven or eight minutes."

"You sat there in your car, knowing something had happened and waited that long before making any investigation?"

"I did."

"You are a married man?" Simpson inquired.

"I am."

"Well, what did you see or hear?"

"I heard the mumbling of voices. Then I heard a shot. Then a woman screamed. Then there were three shots. Then I heard moaning."

The witness then was excused.

Miss Rastall On Stand.

Miss Rastall was then called to the stand. She gazed at the spectators timidly from beneath a green hat which almost hid her face.

She admitted she drove to the lane with Gorsline on the night of the murder.

"Did you hear or see anything?" Simpson asked.

"Yes, I heard the mumbling of voices—directly in back of our car. Then I heard a shot, a scream and three more shots."

"How far away was the sound of the shots?"

"I should say several hundred feet."

"How far away were the voices you heard?"

"Directly back of our car."

"Were they quarrelling or just conversing?" asked Robert McCarter, of defense counsel.

"Conversing."

Miss Rastall said she thought "two or three minutes" elapsed from the time she heard the mumbling voices behind the car and the shots.

Miss Rastall was then excused.

George E. Totten, former county detective of Somerset county, was the next witness.

William James Berryman, who made maps of St. John the Evangelist church of New Brunswick, was the first witness today. His testimony was begun yesterday.

Mrs. Frances Hall and her two brothers, "Willie" and Henry Stevens, who are charged with the murder, took their places just back of the defense counsel table. Mrs. Hall was very pale and bore an air of detached interest. She sat quietly next to "Willie" who gazed around the court curiously through his thick-lensed glasses. Another large crowd jammed the tiny court room.

The map-maker, a black-haired man with a round pleasant face, was asked by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson if the maps he had made of Dr. Hall's church were correct as to their physical features.

"They are," he replied.

He was then excused and the Rev. J. Marvin Pettit, rector of Christ church, New Brunswick was called. Rev. Pettit, man of benign appearance, and high forehead, wore shell rimmed glasses. He identified Ralph Gorsline, vestryman of his church, and Berryman's map which he said was correct. The map was then introduced into evidence.

State's Star Witness Ill.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Jane Gibson, one of the state's star witnesses in the Hall-Mills murder trial, is ill in Somerset hospital and her condition may not permit her to testify in court today or tomorrow as planned.

She is the famous "pig woman," who was riding on her mule near De Russey's lane on the night four years ago when the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills were slain.

Mrs. Gibson collapsed in an anti-room in the court house late yesterday and was taken to her temporary home which is under the guard of state troopers.

Late last night her condition took a turn for the worse and she was taken to Somerset hospital. She was better today, although her temperature ran high.

Mrs. Gibson is reported to be suffering from a serious ailment.

"Napoleon of New Jersey Bar."

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4—Alexander Simpson, "Napoleon of the New Jersey bar," is putting the big "kick" in the Hall-Mills murder trial.

This fiery little prosecutor with the abrupt, cocksure manner and clear, resonant voice, is seemingly attempting to confound the expensive array of defense counsel by the "unorthodox" methods he is employing in pressing the state's accusation that Mrs. Frances Noel Hall and her brothers, Henry and "Willie" Stevens, were the slayers of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, four years ago.

Today Simpson stands forth as one of the most picturesque and intriguing figures in the trial. It is Simpson who "starts things." And in what sudden and unexpected manner.

He already has placed the defense attorneys at their wits' ends to meet his quick, menacing legal thrusts. All alone down in the courtroom "pit" he is battling the half dozen attorneys for the other side in a confident, swaggering and sometimes utterly scornful manner.

He surprised the defense first of all by taking only 20 minutes to present the state's case to the jury. He quickly pictured the growth of intimacy between Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills, contended Mrs. Hall was jealous of the pretty young choir singer, outlining his theory of the murder, promised the jury he would support his charges with the "facts," and let it go at that. He gave the defense and courtroom observers the impression that he has an ace or two in the hole.

VOLSTEAD LAW ASSAULT SEEN IN SIX STATES

Political Leaders Fear Outbreak at National Conventions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Disturbing probability that both major parties will be confronted with determined assaults on the Volstead law in their national conventions of 1928 faced political leaders today as belated returns permitted a more comprehensive survey of the wet-and-dry battles fought in many states Tuesday.

The present trend, as revealed in the balloting, is distinctly wet. The wets gleefully acclaim it. The drys somewhat ruefully admit it, although they contend it means nothing.

Six states of the eight which voted on a definite question printed on the ballots voiced disapproval of the Volstead law.

New York and Illinois voted to have congress restore to individual states the right to say what is and what is not intoxicating liquor.

Wisconsin voted for modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer.

Nevada voted in favor of a constitutional convention to revise or amend the 18th Amendment, and on another specific question: "Is prohibition a failure?" Nevada voted "yes."

Montana voted to repeal all state laws for enforcing the Volstead act except that which forbids sales to minors.

California voted to repeal the Wright state amendment act, one of the most rigorous state statutes ever written.

The drys emerged with a narrow victory in Colorado, while in Missouri the wets boycotted the question because of the manner in which it was presented on the ballots.

Two More Wets in Senate.

In addition to these victories, two wet votes have been added in the senate in the election of David I. Walsh in Massachusetts and M. E. Tydings in Maryland. Both are Democratic. In the house the wets have gained additional votes, the exact number doubtful yet. But the wets claim a dozen to fifteen outright, with the converting of many other dry votes because of the decisions in their states.

So far as the seventieth congress is concerned, it will be, for all practical purposes, as dry as its predecessor. The wets have increased their strength but are still far from enough votes to change anything.

WOMAN ELUDES MANIAC KILLER

Toledo Police Renew Search for Mysterious "Clubber."

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 4.—Toledo police today renewed their search for the mysterious "slugger" who has killed four women and assaulted numerous others, when a woman reported to them that she was badly frightened by the slugger and narrowly escaped his attack.

Mrs. J. Rayon, 34, of Twelfth street, reported today that a man leaped from behind a tree as she was about to enter her home late last night and shouted: "I'll get you, too.'"

She ran screaming into the house, and the man fled.

Mrs. Rayon's home is near the school house where Miss Lily Croy, a young school teacher, was beaten to death recently by the maniacal clubber.

Guard New York Jails After Fatal Battle in Tombs

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — Heavily armed guards were posted at the gates of all of New York City's penal institutions today as a precaution against a possible repetition of the pitched gun battle staged in tombs prison yesterday when three desperate prisoners attempted a jail break, and failing that sold their lives in a futile effort to shoot their way to freedom.

As a result of the battle two of the prisoners, Warden Mallon and another prison keeper were dead today, "Red" McKenna, leader of the prisoners, was in Beekman street hospital with a bullet in his brain, at the point of death, and another prison keeper was seriously wounded with a bullet in his back. A civilian witness of the shooting affray was wounded in the hand.

TOLEDO WORKER IS DECAPITATED

TOLEDO, Nov. 4.—Robert Hillenkamp, assistant manager of the Acme White Lead company works here, was decapitated in an elevator shaft of the building here today.

Hillenkamp was lowering a freight elevator from which he leaned at the third floor. The lift caught his head, cutting it off, then descended to the ground floor with his body.

pretends to be independent. But one is as "safe and sound" as the other.

HUMAN beings cost money to raise, and many are not worth it at all. The imperfect being, all preserved, and children of the ablest made worthless by their father's money success.

California's state board of health says a two-year-old-baby costs less per day than at any other age—less sickness than at any time, less expense in other ways.

FROM two to twenty years cost steadily rise. After sixty it falls off—fewer teeth, eat less, clothes last longer, life runs quietly and nonsense is calming down.

All interesting, but the state board does not tell us why we live at all, or why it was necessary to put us here in the first place.

THE death of Houdini puzzles Conan Doyle, because Houdini never drank, never smoked. Some doctors would say that helps to explain his death. Able men told E. H. Harriman he would have lived a longer life had he drunk light beer, and relaxed.

They even say that teetotalism is safe only for those that do very little thinking, and do that little gently.

That's a terrible insult to prohibition and ice water, but that is what able scientists say. They say also, by the way, that a sure pat to early death is bootleg whisky.

WITHOUT CROSS WE ARE LOST, DR. MEL MORRIS TELLS CROWD

Through it Alone are Men Saved, Says Evangelist.

BAPTIST MEET

Isaiah's Prophecy Read Preceding Forceful Sermon.

"Through the Cross of Jesus Christ and it alone are men saved" declared Rev. Mel Morris at the First Baptist church revival on Fifth street, last evening. "Without it all are lost." His subject was "The Cross."

Preceding his sermon Rev. Mr. Morris feelingly read the 53rd chapter of Isaiah which 700 years before its fulfilment prophesied what ultimately came to pass on the Cross as the Son of Man sacrificed His life for the redemption of humanity.

"This passage of Isaiah's prophecy is one of the greatest prophesies in the Old Testament," the evangelist declared. It is so wonderful that no intelligent person would even today deny it. It presaged what centuries later came to pass and indicates in detail what and how the supreme sacrifice of all time nullifies sin while making possible the soul redemption of him or her who has fallen victim to the irregularity which separates man from God."

Following numerous prayers by lay men and laywomen of the congregation invocation was made by Rev. Angelo W. Bonacci, head of the Faith Italian mission, of Wellsville.

With pertinent address to hymns of special evangelistic import the song service was unique in absence of solos and the singing of the usual revival favorites, that have been taught since his arrival by Marion Ball, musical director, the single exception being the singing of the chorus of one of the hymns utilized in Chinese by the pastor, Rev. A. H. O'Brien, who in his younger days in the ministry was a missionary to China. Miss Edith Higgins assisted Miss Ruby Aley as accompanist.

Movement was made of the coming in a body to the revival on Thursday evening of a large delegation of employes from the C. C. Thompson Pottery company.

With the election over the attendance showed a marked increase of men present, the church auditorium being occupied almost to capacity. As on previous nights of the campaign the Baptist congregation was augmented by many members of other churches in the city.

Following the sermon that developed serious thinking on all the hearers an after-service of prayer followed which was given to lively testimony and good fellowship handshaking, the whole culminating with a hearty, but fervent "Amen" by those in the auditorium.

Stolen Car Fired; Two Other Machines Reported Missing

Willys-Knight sedan, belonging to B. W. Clark, Daisy alley, stolen while parked near the corner of Second and Union streets, Monday night, was located near the Stewart Brothers' farm on the Hookstown-Chester road yesterday. The machine had been fired.

Two more cars were stolen last night. One, a Ford, belonging to Clarence Means of Alpha street, East End was taken while parked on East Fourth street near the Carnegie Library while the owner was attending the Ceramic theatre. It carried license number B-94-542. The other car was a Chevrolet sedan, 1925 model, and belonged to W. S. Pittenger, a teller at the First National bank, who resides on Lincoln highway. Pittinger had the machine parked in Crook alley, near the bank. Its license number was 240-937.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon police announced that the Pittenger car had been located near Thompson park, where it had been abandoned, while the Means machine was found back of Newell. Both cars had been stripped, police said.

Mellett Death Count

the alleged "trigger man" includes the following:

On the night of the assassination of Mellett, Pat showed a certain Canton man a pistol and said: "I have a big job on tonight."

He lived in Canton several weeks with Steve Kascholk, the informer, while the murder was being planned.

He has been completely identified by six persons as the man who spied out the lay of the land about the slain publisher's home several nights before the murder and also loitered about the offices of the Canton Daily News seeking to get a "line on Mellett's activities."

And that he went into a certain district of a town near Canton to report concerning the murder and to receive money.

The above information together with much more complete data of McDermott's activities are in the possession of Prosecutor McClintock, from whom the details were learned.

East Liverpool-Salem Tilt May Decide County Grid Honors

Kidder-Cox Combine At Peak of Form For Battle With Rivals

Captain Dick Larkins, Halfback McConville and Bromby Back in Harness for Important Contest; Red and Black Hangs Up Great Record With Six Consecutive Victories.

A FAST, charging line, powerful as well on defensive movements; lightning ends; light, fleet backs, who can sweep around the flanks or plow the line with equal adaptability and who are versed to the letter in the use and execution of straight plays and trick performances; a team that has won six games without a break; a team that has piled up 107 points in those half-dozen combats to their opponents' 18.

This is the Salem high school gridiron aggregation that the Kidder-Cox combine of East Liverpool will face Saturday in the game that probably will decide the disposition of Columbiana county scholastic conference title honors for 1926.

This football battle between the Blue and White and the Red and Black will be waged at Reilly Field in Salem and it is certain that the Ceramic City will send quite a large delegation of fans to the Quaker City to trade verbal bouquets with followers of the rival team.

The home field factor may appeal to some as a decidedly advantageous factor for the Salem eleven but on the other hand there are certain other phases that may work out to the advantage of the Blue and White.

Use Full Strength.

Probably of greatest importance to local followers is the fact that Coach Kidder likely will send his full strength against the Salemites, with Captain Dick Larkins back at center and with Bromby and McConville ready for backfield duty. Bromby played only part of Saturday's affair with Lisbon and is in condition to do his stuff this week. McConville is possibly the only doubtful member on the hospital roster.

In addition there will be Kirkham, Fullerton, Van Dyne, Pusey, Lincoln, Deidrick and others available for backfield duty and it is possible Kidder may use his ball carriers in shifts, a plan that worked out successfully against Lisbon.

The other advantageous factor for East Liverpool lies in the possibility that Salem, keyed to an unusually high pitch for the Alliance clash last Saturday, may unconsciously let down a little.

To Salem, the Alliance game is the big event of the football year and the Red and Black's thirst for glory last week was adequately quenched in a 15 to 6 victory. Having killed the fatted calf, and feasted fully the Salemites may be prone to loaf a little, whether they realize it or not.

In this event the Blue and White should be set for a killing of its own with their arch rivals as victims.

Salem Record.

The Salem record of six victories and no defeats does not include any pushovers, with one possible exception, Akron Garfield, a new school in the Rubber City, which went down before a 32 to 0 pasting.

In the first game of the season Salem took over Louisville by two touchdowns. Then came the Garfield game.

Their closest call was the week later when they nosed out a 9 to 6 decision over Akron West, a touchdown and a field goal doing the work. They didn't get away so handily at Struthers either where they emerged with a 10 to 6 conquest, the scoring being the same as in the Akron West game with the exception that Salem added a point from touchdown.

Following their Struthers engagement, the Red and Black invaded Wellsville, and, after being held to a 3-0 score in the first half, piled on 26 more in the second and came away with a 29-0 victory. Last Saturday they had their big day when Alliance went down, 15 to 6.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

by Norman E. Brown.

THE time has come, as the walrus is said to have remarked when the cuckoo clock arrived from Germany, to ponder over possible selections for the annual mythical All-American football team.

Here goes for some of the eligible men, as I see them.

The Big Ten teams as usual present several candidates, and two of them are Marty Karow, captain and fullback of Ohio State University, and Benny Friedman, captain and quarter back of Michigan.

BEN FRIEDMAN

MARTY KAROW

Karow has played a leading part in giving Ohio its strongest team since the days of Chick Harley. Marty's brilliant play on offensive and defense was the highspot of the Buckeys' victory over Chicago—a victory that broke a three-year tie between the schools. He played an important part in the earlier victories over Columbia and Iowa. He is one of the great line plungers of the day.

Friedman is the main spring of the Michigan eleven, one of the greatest forward passers in the game, a good field general and a good booter. The Michigan forward passing comination, Friedman and Oosterbaan, is probably the greatest pair in the game. The passing of Tully and Oberlander of Dartmouth, last fall, left them supreme in the field, I believe.

Friedman led the team to brilliant victories over Minnesota and Illinois the Wolverines faced the Navy. Neit—Big Ten conference battles—before her the Minnesota team nor the Illini scored on the Michigan eleven and under Friedman's hand the Yoste ran up a total of 33 points on the two opponents.

Oddly enough both stars hail from Cleveland, O.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,
Maker of 51 Golf Champions.
"Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When testing for right balance by suspending the club from the right shoulder and you find that when you straighten up so the head of the club hangs even with the right-foot instep you are so far away from the ball you could not reach it, the thing to do, obviously, is to move up closer to the ball. One of the commonest faults of having the weight too far forward is an attendant tendency to reach too far for the ball. There should be only the slightest reaching for the ball, if any at all. If you use a noticeable reach your weight is almost certain to be too far forward. Perhaps you hit a fair ball this way, but you do it with something of a struggle—a fight. Standing with your weight correctly balanced you would do it easily, gracefully and with rhythm, for rhythm flows from a sense of good balance.

Baruch in Slagle's Place.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 4.—Earl Baruch will start in Jake Slagle's backfield post when Princeton plays Harvard on Saturday and Meislahn will replace Darby at tackle. The squad leaves for Cambridge tonight.

Perfect Defense.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 4.—The Harvard coaches concentrated on perfecting the varsity's defense against Princeton's forward passing in the team's final workout today.

Wear New Pants.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—In the Carnegie Tech contest Saturday the N. Y. U. players will wear their new silk football pants and rubber hip pads, which have added speed to the scrimmages. Using new formations, the regulars waded through the scrubs for several touchdowns yesterday.

COBB TO BUY ATLANTA CLUB

Will be Succeeded at Detroit by George Moriarity.

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—Ty Cobb, one of the most colorful players in baseball, who has severed his connection with the Detroit American League Club will take over the controlling interest of the Atlanta club of the Southern league, it was reliably reported today. He will be succeeded as manager of the Tigers by George Moriarty, former Tiger third baseman, but more recently American League umpire.

Cobb, it was learned, tried to buy into the Detroit club but to no avail. As owner of the Atlanta team and probably as a player, Ty will have a chance to realize his reported ambition to be a magnate.

Cobb's record in the American League extended over a period of 21 years, 15 years as player and six years as player-manager.

Cobb is credited by many with revolutionizing baseball. It was Ty who started going from first to third on a bunt, and he holds all time records for almost everything except knocking home runs.

SEEK FEATHER CROWN WEARER

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—With the object of establishing a successor to Louis Kid Kaplan in the featherweight class, officials of Madison Square Garden today were endeavoring to match Benny Bass, of Philadelphia, with the winner of the bout between Honeyboy Finnegan and Chick Suggs in Boston. This match was postponed last night for one week owing to an injury to one of Finnegan's eyes. Kaplan resigned from the class some time ago because of his inability to make the weight.

Middies Rank Among Season's Best Teams

Performance Against Michigan Makes Them Outstanding; Powerful Line Greatest Factor Toward Success.

By DAVID J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Not being equipped with fallen arches of the cranium, I can only see my way clear to stating that, up to and including the precise moment, the Naval Academy looks to have one of the great football teams of the year. It may be the greatest but, as to that, the man is a sap who attempts to call them out of turn: Try to anticipate even the immediate future and you lose. So also does the team with which you string.

No one, however, can or will take issue with the statement that the Navy was a great team against Michigan not later than five days ago. Furthermore, it seemed to be an outfit that should get better instead of worse, for most of its men are just coming to their best. I thought the Navy was great because of its line.

Two Great Linemen.

As a pair, I haven't seen a better offensive and defensive combination all year than Eddy and Wickhorst at the tackle position. Weight 415 pounds in toto, they yet had the speed, the drive and the intelligence to keep all plays in front of them on defense and to tear real, lasting holes in the opposition on attack.

They are only links in a strong chain, at that. The Navy used a lot of split center plays against Michigan and all of them gained because the center trio of Cross, Hoerner and Born simply cleaned up. You could have driven a band wagon through the holes. Cross and Born didn't have much to do on defense but they did it well. As for Hoerner, it was his vigilance, teamed up with Hamilton's, that broke the back of the Michigan passing game.

The ends, Lloyd and Hardwick, were almost flawless. Lloyd, a 200-pound specimen with a turn of speed, looked the part of an all-American possibility. Williamson is another good wing and Olsen an able second stringer in the line.

What a line that is. Fast, aggressive, experienced, intelligent and averaging 191 pounds, it reflects all possible credit upon the coaching of "Rip" Miller, just as the play of the backfield and the team in general redounds to the honor of "Navy Bill" Ingram.

Have Great Backfield.

The boys thought the backfield was good. It was. That being the case, what will it be when Shapely, the best back in the squad, returns to his position as he ultimately will. The improvement will be in proportion to that which followed when Caldwell, an obscure substitute, suddenly found himself late in the Colgate game and now is the leading ball runner of the varsity.

He seems to have just a trifle more punch than Hamilton but the latter takes the play away from his rival by his marked versatility, which not only includes excellent ball running but punting, passing, field goal kicking and just about as natty a defensive game as one could care to view. Hamilton's punting was uncertain against Michigan but it was noted that he didn't muff any chances when the going was rough.

Goudge directed the team very ably, which means that Hannegan will step out when Shapely steps in. Hannegan will find plenty of worthy company, Ransford and Schuber, ex-regulars, having been forced out by Goudge and Caldwell.

STAGG IS HURT IN SCRIMMAGE

Veteran Coach May be Temporarily Crippled.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Alonzo A. Stagg, coach of the University of Chicago football team, was confined to his home today as a result of injuries sustained late yesterday while directing scrimmage between the varsity and freshmen teams.

While the injuries are not likely to prove serious, the veteran coach may be temporarily crippled, his physician announced. His presence on the field Saturday for the Illinois game is doubtful, it was said.

Stagg was caught in the center of a play and one of the plunging freshmen butted him with his head. Stagg went down and was buried under a heap of football brawn.

After first aid had been administered on the field, Stagg was taken to his home.

Bezdek Shifts Lineup.

"HAVE A CAMEL" INVITES YOU TO THE WORLD'S MOST POPULAR SMOKE

In popularity with smokers, no other cigarette is within a thousand miles of Camel. Camels have been rewarded with the greatest favor any cigarette ever enjoyed. In all the history of smoking, there was never such a growing preference as for this cigarette.

There is but one reason for the increasing fame of Camels — tobacco goodness.

From the beginning, Camel has made its way by quality. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos and endless care for perfection are the meaning of Camels, and Camel quality. As new millions try them all, as they become experienced smokers, they come home to Camels.

Camel mildness and mellowness are made for your taste. . . . They will bring you the utmost smoking pleasure. Try them now. For a smoke that never tires the taste, literally never leaves a cigarette after-taste—"Have a Camel!"

Dempsey, 'Plain Guy,' Better Liked Than Dempsey, Champ

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — Babe Ruth was at bat and a hush was on the multitude. The occasion was one of the games of the recent world series; the popular mind was fixed on the impelling situation of Ruth versus the pitcher.

Suddenly there was a stir, a murmur, then a rising in the seats and a roar of welcome. For Ruth? Not by the height of your alabaster brow.

The great American public was acclaiming a new idol, who had been once an old pariah. There is absolutely no accounting for the whimsies of crowd psychology. The man being cheered was Jack Dempsey.

A month before and he would have been hooted out of countenance, stared at coldly or ignored. But now he was a champion no longer, a man shorn of all honors save those of a boxer who took his defeat gracefully. So they pulled and hauled at him, shook his hand, clapped his back, caressed ear with a lot of sweet nothings and otherwise fed the vanity that all men know.

Dempsey is far more popular in defeat than ever he was in victory. He tells me that he received hundreds of letters commiserating with him over the loss of his title to Gene Tunney. If he got a personal letter in the old days, the odds were 100 to 1 it was a bleat.

They produced Dempsey and Tunney in the same ring at the Garden during a recent heavyweight show and Dempsey got the shock of his life. So did Tunney. The latter was greeted by polite applause mingled with a large and enthusiastic boo. Dempsey nearly "stole" the show, getting an ovation that sounded like Niagara during the rainy season.

Neither Dempsey nor Tunney had done anything to merit their wholly dissimilar receptions. One was a man who had been vastly unpopular as a champion and figured to be no less so after he lost the title. The other was one of those rarities, a native New Yorker, and there had been nothing in his life, his demeanor or his fight with Dempsey to earn approbrium from any one.

What is the answer? Possibly it may be found in the inevitable leaning of the public toward the man who is down.

However, I should say, offhand that the source of the reaction strikes a somewhat deeper level and that Jack Kearns is its unwitting author. In brief, I think that sympathy for Dempsey was excited by the writs of attachment and the various court proceedings instituted against him by Kearns, it being evident the boys feel that fate dealt a few off the bottom to the ex-champion.

Mounts, In Great Trim Physically, Ready For Miami

Klippert, Hurt Saturday, Returns to Lineup.

ALLIANCE, Nov. 4.—Without a casualty, for the first time this season, Mount Union college gridders are down to delayed scrimmage for the gruelling tilt with Miami at Oxford Saturday.

Mount emerged from the let-up clash with Hiram here last Saturday without an injury, save for the temporary disability incurred by Klippert, 210-pound tackle, Klippert's knee went bad during the game and he was carried off the field. He is back in uniform this week.

Three more games and the curtain will drop on Mount's grid card. Two of the three are road tilts—the first Saturday at Miami and the second the following Saturday at Kenyon.

November 20 is still an open date on the Purple schedule. Wooster will meet the Purple in the last game of the year on Thanksgiving, day.

New combinations in both backfield and line, developed in the Hiram game, are being worked out this week and a revamped lineup may take the field when the Purple trots out against Miami.

LIBERTYS SET FOR LISBON TILT

The Liberty Billiards Sunday will play their second game of the season away from home when they mix with the Wicky Indians, at Lisbon. The clash will be staged at Harbaugh field.

On the following Sunday the Libertys will play a Pittsburgh Northside eleven at Sherwood.

The following squad will go to Lisbon: Garvey and Stockdale, ends; Pickall and J. Dimmerling, tackles; Russell and Watson, guards; M. Wooley, center; Plant, quarter; Amos and Gilchrist, halves; M. Dyer or J. Johnson, fullback.

JACK FOURNIER GIVEN RELEASE

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Jacques Fournier, veteran first baseman, at his own request, has been granted an unconditional release by the Brooklyn National league club, it was announced today. Fournier said he had an opportunity to manage a minor league club and wishes to open negotiations for the position.

Fournier formerly played with the Chicago White Sox, New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals and up to this year was one of the leading sluggers of baseball.

Montevideo has asked its street car companies to equip all cars with automatic brakes.

South Africa railways handled 5,000,000 more passengers in the last year than in any previous twelvemonth.

COBB IS FIFTH PILOT TO PASS

Year Sees Record Breaking Manager Turnover.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The passing of Ty Cobb as player and manager and the appointment of George Moriarity and Dan Howley as managers of the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns, respectively, within a single day again startled the baseball world, already shaken by the greatest turn-over of managers in the history of the game. Five have been beheaded and four successors appointed since the final contest of the series less than a month ago.

Those in the discard include two immortals of the game, Cobb and George Sisler, for several years player-manager of the Browns; Bill McKechnie, who managed the Pittsburgh Pirates into a world's title two years ago; Arthur Fletcher of the Phillies, and Lee Fohl, of the Boston Red Sox. No successor to Fohl has been announced to date.

Three of the new appointees were surprise candidates. Moriarity had been mentioned as a possible Detroit manager, in the event that Cobb stepped down, but few had taken the umpire's candidacy seriously. Howley also was talked of in St. Louis but others were thought to have the inside track, while the appointment of Donie Bush at Pittsburgh came as a genuine shock. Only one, naming of Stuffy McInnis to succeed Fletcher in Philadelphia, came within general expectations.

Cobb's passing, after 22 wonder years in baseball, had been predicted for some time, but those who new the cordial relationship existing between Cobb and Owner Frank Navin felt that the Georgia Peach could remain as long as he wished. Cobb, however, is believed to have capitulated to fan sentiment, which had become distinctly adverse during recent years because of his failure to win a pennant with the Tigers.

He was not successful as a manager, but as a player his memory will never dim. Greatest of all time, he will take most of the records into retirement with him and a great deal of money. Cobb is reputed to be the richest player in baseball.

Dempsey, 'Plain Guy,' Better Liked Than Dempsey, Champ

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — Babe Ruth was at bat and a hush was on the multitude. The occasion was one of the games of the recent world series; the popular mind was fixed on the impelling situation of Ruth versus the pitcher.

Suddenly there was a stir, a murmur, then a rising in the seats and a roar of welcome. For Ruth? Not by the height of your alabaster brow.

The great American public was acclaiming a new idol, who had been once an old pariah. There is absolutely no accounting for the whimsies of crowd psychology. The man being cheered was Jack Dempsey.

A month before and he would have been hooted out of countenance, stared at coldly or ignored. But now he was a champion no longer, a man shorn of all honors save those of a boxer who took his defeat gracefully. So they pulled and hauled at him, shook his hand, clapped his back, caressed ear with a lot of sweet nothings and otherwise fed the vanity that all men know.

Dempsey is far more popular in defeat than ever he was in victory. He tells me that he received hundreds of letters commiserating with him over the loss of his title to Gene Tunney. If he got a personal letter in the old days, the odds were 100 to 1 it was a bleat.

They produced Dempsey and Tunney in the same ring at the Garden during a recent heavyweight show and Dempsey got the shock of his life. So did Tunney. The latter was greeted by polite applause mingled with a large and enthusiastic boo. Dempsey nearly "stole" the show, getting an ovation that sounded like Niagara during the rainy season.

Neither Dempsey nor Tunney had done anything to merit their wholly dissimilar receptions. One was a man who had been vastly unpopular as a champion and figured to be no less so after he lost the title. The other was one of those rarities, a native New Yorker, and there had been nothing in his life, his demeanor or his fight with Dempsey to earn approbrium from any one.

What is the answer? Possibly it may be found in the inevitable leaning of the public toward the man who is down.

However, I should say, offhand that the source of the reaction strikes a somewhat deeper level and that Jack Kearns is its unwitting author. In brief, I think that sympathy for Dempsey was excited by the writs of attachment and the various court proceedings instituted against him by Kearns, it being evident the boys feel that fate dealt a few off the bottom to the ex-champion.

Mounts, In Great Trim Physically, Ready For Miami

Klippert, Hurt Saturday, Returns to Lineup.

ALLIANCE, Nov. 4.—Without a casualty, for the first time this season, Mount Union college gridders are down to delayed scrimmage for the gruelling tilt with Miami at Oxford Saturday.

Mount emerged from the let-up clash with Hiram here last Saturday without an injury, save for the temporary disability incurred by Klippert, 210-pound tackle, Klippert's knee went bad during the game and he was carried off the field. He is back in uniform this week.

Three more games and the curtain will drop on Mount's grid card. Two of the three are road tilts—the first Saturday at Miami and the second the following Saturday at Kenyon.

November 20 is still an open date on the Purple schedule. Wooster will meet the Purple in the last game of the year on Thanksgiving day.

New combinations in both backfield and line, developed in the Hiram game, are being worked out this week and a revamped lineup may take the field when the Purple trots out against Miami.

LIBERTYS SET FOR LISBON TILT

The Liberty Billiards Sunday will play their second game of the season away from home when they mix with the Wicky Indians, at Lisbon. The clash will be staged at Harbaugh field.

On the following Sunday the Libertys will play a Pittsburgh Northside eleven at Sherwood.

The following squad will go to Lisbon: Garvey and Stockdale, ends; Pickall and J. Dimmerling, tackles; Russell and Watson, guards; M. Wooley, center; Plant, quarter; Amos and Gilchrist, halves; M. Dyer or J. Johnson, fullback.

JACK FOURNIER GIVEN RELEASE

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Jacques Fournier, veteran first baseman, at his own request, has been granted an unconditional release by the Brooklyn National league club, it was announced today. Fournier said he had an opportunity to manage a minor league club and wishes to open negotiations for the position.

Fournier formerly played with the Chicago White Sox, New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals and up to this year was one of the leading sluggers of baseball.

Montevideo has asked its street car companies to equip all cars with automatic brakes.

South Africa railways handled 5,000,000 more passengers in the last year than in any previous twelvemonth.

COBB IS FIFTH PILOT TO PASS

Year Sees Record Breaking Manager Turnover.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The passing of Ty Cobb as player and manager and the appointment of George Moriarity and Dan Howley as managers of the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns, respectively, within a single day again startled the baseball world, already shaken by the greatest turn-over of managers in the history of the game. Five have been beheaded and four successors appointed since the final contest of the series less than a month ago.

Those in the discard include two immortals of the game, Cobb and George Sisler, for several years player-manager of the Browns; Bill McKechnie, who managed the Pittsburgh Pirates into a world's title two years ago; Arthur Fletcher of the Phillies, and Lee Fohl, of the Boston Red Sox. No successor to Fohl has been announced to date.

Three of the new appointees were surprise candidates. Moriarity had been mentioned as a possible Detroit manager, in the event that Cobb stepped down, but few had taken the umpire's candidacy seriously. Howley also was talked of in St. Louis but others were thought to have the inside track, while the appointment of Donie Bush at Pittsburgh came as a genuine shock. Only one, naming of Stuffy McInnis to succeed Fletcher in Philadelphia, came within general expectations.

Cobb's passing, after 22 wonder years in baseball, had been predicted for some time, but those who new the cordial relationship existing between Cobb and Owner Frank Navin felt that the Georgia Peach could remain as long as he wished. Cobb, however is believed to have capitulated to fan sentiment, which had become distinctly adverse during recent years because of his failure to win a pennant with the Tigers.

He was not successful as a manager, but as a player his memory will never dim. Greatest of all time, he will take most of the records into retirement with him and a great deal of money. Cobb is reputed to be the richest player in baseball.

LENINGRAD. — Leningrad municipal authorities announce that they have made preparations to receive a group of 250 Lithuanian men and women who are emigrating to the Soviet Union from America.

According to the Leningrad authorities, the emigrants had lived many years in the United States but tired of the struggle for existence, and requested permission of the Soviets to establish a communal settlement in Leningrad. Their arrival from New York is expected within the next few weeks.

Never a Marcel Wave

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My hair is ever-curly, with never a Marcel wave. And it always has a glow. The reason lies in a hair dress made exclusively for me. It was perfected for me by great experts when I had my long hair bobbed. Now all toilet counters supply it under the name Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is 75c.

I cannot conceive of a girl or woman going without it when she knows. No one who sees my hair will do so. Nothing else I have ever found makes hair so lustrous, so wavy, so fluffy, so abundant. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Go try it at my expense.

Headquarters Gift of Mrs. Belmont for Suffragists.

WASHINGTON—A controversy between the United States Supreme Court and the National Woman's Party promises to enliven the many disputes arising over the carrying out of the Washington end of the $50,000,000 public building program.

Boldly defying the reported wishes of Chief Justice William Howard Taft and other members of the highest court, the officers of the woman's party declare they will not give up their headquarters building, to become a site for a proposed national temple of justice without a hard struggle.

The woman's party occupies an historic three-story building opposite the capitol with a park intervening. It was the gift of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont "for the permanent service of women."

"It is natural that the chief justice should prefer such a fine location, facing the capitol with the Congressional Library close to it," said an announcement of the woman's party.

It is just as important, declare the officers of the organization, to maintain a shrine "through the doors of which pass women from many lands who are remaking the status of women and bringing about the final equality and freedom the world over."

The building is one of the oldest in Washington but is well preserved. A tavern stood on the rear of the property in 1800 to which President Adams went when he arrived in Washington. The building became a temporary capitol in 1815 after British soldiers had captured Washington.

Unless an amicable settlement can be arranged, the United States Public Buildings Commission and the Congressional Commission may institute condemnation proceedings for the property.

Eight windmills and many houses were destroyed in a two-hour hail storm in Coimbra, Portugal, recently.

250 Lithuanians Leave America for Soviet Community

LENINGRAD. — Leningrad municipal authorities announce that they have made preparations to receive a group of 250 Lithuanian men and women who are emigrating to the Soviet Union from America.

According to the Leningrad authorities, the emigrants had lived many years in the United States but tired of the struggle for existence, and requested permission of the Soviets to establish a communal settlement in Leningrad. Their arrival from New York is expected within the next few weeks.

Never a Marcel Wave

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My hair is ever-curly, with never a Marcel wave. And it always has a glow. The reason lies in a hair dress made exclusively for me. It was perfected for me by great experts when I had my long hair bobbed. Now all toilet counters supply it under the name Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is 75c.

I cannot conceive of a girl or woman going without it when she knows. No one who sees my hair will do so. Nothing else I have ever found makes hair so lustrous, so wavy, so fluffy, so abundant. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Go try it at my expense.

BOOK FIVE—IV.

"And bring Yvonne tomorrow," commanded Peg over the telephone.

"Absolutely will."

But when the receiver was back on its hook Jock said to himself. "No, I won't. I'll take Cecily."

True to their word, Peg and Johnny Havens had summoned him to their home in Washington Square very soon after the November day when they had had tea together; and he had been there often since. He loved to go there. Peg amused him always, Johnny he was enormously fond of, and their host of friends he found exactly to his taste. There was a special brand of informality about the Havens's parties. Every one was expected to do just what he pleased in that apartment, and did so. People came if, and when, they wanted to, entertained themselves according to the dictates of their fancies, and departed at such time as they saw fit. They danced, and sang, and stirred weird concoctions on the kitchenette range, and played stud poker on the dining room table, and made light love in the hall, and laughed. . . . Nowhere under the sun, Jun thought, was there quite so much laughter. Into this environment he had taken Yvonne one afternoon around Christmas time, and he was left with a distressing belief that the experiment had not been successful. Yvonne had been an onlooker, not a participant; and the crowd resented onlookers, however lovely and gracious, on the ground that they "crabbed a party." The fun had been rather subdued that day, and Jock had known why and been both grieved and disappointed. He had felt that in this small but somehow not trivial matter, Yvonne had completely failed him.

Cecily would not fail him. She was fundamentally adapted to just that sort of thing.

He reached for the 'phone again with a view to calling Peg back and announcing the substitution, but thought better of it. "No use," he reflected. "They don't care who I bring, and anyway I'm going to see Johnny at lunch"

It was the last Friday in January, and the luncheon engagement was a business one. Johnny's father was to be present, for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not he agreed with his son that Jock would prove an asset to the paper owned by him, the New York Log. A matter of form only; Jock was as good as hired, sight unseen. But he did not know this, and the meeting seemed to him crucial and precarious. He dressed for it with vast attention to detail, and, in the conviction that the first requirement of a reporter was punctuality, reached the appointed place on the stroke of one—and waited half an hour.

While he waited, he planned the dialogue to come. "Then he'll say" . . . "Then I'll say" . . . He examined his watch at minute intervals, and once he held it to his ear. As one-thirty approached he was assailed by a panicky suspicion that Mr. Havens had declined to present himself after all. In fancy he say Mr. Havens, a sort of Johnny-grown-old with a beard and a belly, pounding his fist on a pile of newspapers and roaring, "Why should I waste my time?"

Why, indeed? Jock could think of no good reason, and it began to seem to him that his mere presence here in expectation of the Great was most presumptuous.

Mr. Mr. Havens came, and was not ostentatiously Great at all, but quite human. You felt at once that he enjoyed cards and horse races, and he commanded a supply of excellent stories, and that he had a cellar full of bottles with cobwebs upon them. That type of man. He was of medium height, thick-set, with an abundance of graying hair, a square strong face, and at once the shrewdest and jolliest eyes Jock had ever seen. He spoke in an abbreviated way, as though before presenting each sentence he mentally blue-penciled it to the bone. "Late," he said, pumping Jock's hand. "Kept you waiting. Couldn't help it. How're you? Glad to know you."

Nor was the ensuing meal at all as Jock had thought it would be. Almost to the end of it, business remained unmentioned. He himself dared not introduce the issue, Johnny would not, and Mr. Havens appeared much more interested in the information that Jock had once played the Valleydale course in two below par than in the fact that he wanted a job. They talked golf until dessert.

"Have to have a round together," Mr. Havens remarked at last, "spring comes."

Jock said, truthfully, that he would like that very much. "But you'll probably beat me ten-up, sir," he added smiling. "I've hardly had a club in my hands since I left college, and I never was any great shakes. That Valleydale score Johnny told you about was an accident."

"Haven't been playing?"

"No, sir."

"Why not? No time?"

Jock hesitated, and Johnny supplied the answer. "No inclination. Tread softly, dad, the boy's in love."

Mr. Havens elevated an eyebrow at Jock. "Fact?"

"I'm going to be married about the last of next month."

"Good!" said Mr. Havens. "Means you'll take hold. Look at Johnny. Engaged, perfectly useless. Wrench in the wheels of progress. Sat and mooned from morn till eve. Marriage made all the difference. Now look at him, works like a steer."

"First time you've ever admitted it," Johnny muttered.

His father ignored this. "When can you start?" he shot at Jock.

"Monday, sir."

Mr. Havens jerked his head in manifestation of approval. "Come 'round. Ten a. m. My office. What do you want, anyway? Business end? News end? What?"

"News," said Jock with emphasis.

"Ever done any writing?"

"Just at college. Of course that doesn't mean anything. But I think I can, Mr. Havens."

"Damn right he can!" put in Johnny. "I've read some of his stuff my brother-in-law sent Peg in the olden days. He's got more literary ability than any staff man ever needed. Also personality, guts, and everyth. else you'd want."

"This your press agent?" grinned Mr. Havens, pointing a thumb at his son.

"Seems to be," Jock said, also grinning.

"Well, wel'll try you, see if he's right."

Which was all there was to it. They parted soon after; the Havens, pere et fils, to return whence they had come; Jock to rush into the nearest telephone booth, demand his mother's number, and say in a voice which he vainly strove to control, "Hello! Mrs. Madelaine Hamill? A reporter from the Log speaking" . . .

SKINNYMEN

THIS BEATS RECORD

He Gained 28 Pounds in 8 Weeks—Good Solid Healthy Flesh, Too

In every town in America you can see skinny, scrawny men and women with deep hollows in cheeks, neck and chest who are more to be pitied than blamed.

Doctors, Chemists, Scientists all agree that Cod Liver Oil is full of flesh building, health promoting, strength increasing vitamins. They also agree and the whole world agrees with them that it is about the most evil smelling and nasty tasting, nauseating stuff that human beings come in contact with—it upsets most stomaches.

But now all that is changed—Cod Liver Oil comes in tablet form, sugar coated and as easy to take as candy. Mathews Medicine Store and druggists everywhere sell McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets with the distinct understanding that if any thin, lean, underweight man or woman takes them for 30 days and does not gain at least 5 pounds, the purchase price will be returned.

Just try them for 30 days, all you folks who need 5 or 10 pounds of good, solid flesh. They have rounded out the scrawney places in thousands of people—they will help you.

Standley E. Howe, Atlantic City, N. J., writes that he gained 28 pounds in 8 weeks and further writes: "I sleep, rest and eat and nothing bothers my nerves—I feel like a real man—thanks to McCoy's."

One woman, exceedingly thin, gained 10 pounds in 22 days; and don't forget that, being full of vitalizing vitamins, they do help feeble old folks who need a real tonic and for thin, puny, undeveloped children—they quickly bring health, strength and increased weight. 60 tablets for 90 cents. Insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Odd Sect in England Balks at Marriage, Rejoices at Death

LONDON.—A strange religious sect which does not encourage marriage, which rejoices at death, and which regards a birth as an occasion for concern rather than for festivity has been discovered at Loxwood, a tiny hamlet tucked away in the midst of the beautiful Sussex Downs.

Calling themselves the "Dependents," the members of the sect spend the majority of their time praying and "testifying" in a state of religious fervor.

Their "church" is a little hall adjacent to the village. The worshippers usually number about 200, and are mainly women.

They dress in the style of 1830—, small flat black straw bonnets perched on their heads, with velvet trimmings at the sides, and tied underneath the chin with ribbons.

"We do not encourage marriage," said Harry Alward, made head of the sect, in discussing its principles. "We also do not believe in having celebrations over the birth of a child, nor do we believe in christening or baptism.

A musical sensation that has swept the country . . .

The New Orthophonic

Victor Record

For more than two years, Victor experimented to produce the record which is now sweeping the country. While this improved record has been available for some months, we did not want to present it formally to the public until it had definitely proved its worth as the finest record made.

Two weeks ago we announced the new Orthophonic Record. Already millions of music-lovers have been thrilled by the music of this new and wonderful type of Victor Record—a record unequaled in clarity, tone, and fidelity to the original.

Here at last is a record as good as the Orthophonic Victrola. There is nothing with which to compare it, except the singing or playing of the artists themselves.

Close your eyes and you cannot believe that you are listening to a reproducing instrument playing a record. It is just as much the actual artist as though he or she were in the room with you. For the tone of these amazing records is the tone of naturalness—round, full, true, not pinched and, on the other hand, not too loud.

Microphone recording—Orthophonic—Artists now sing or play in natural position before a microphone, just as they sing or play at a public performance. The microphone "hears" and records what you would hear were you there.

Unpleasant scratch eliminated—Made from a new improved material, Orthophonic Records have eliminated those annoying surface-noises so common to the ordinary type of record. You hear the music and nothing else. Also, these records have longer life.

That elusive "third dimension"—Victor has captured what a great musician calls the "third dimension"—depth! Just as the great masters gave "relief" and depth to their paintings, so these new records give depth and roundness of tone to reproduced music.

Foremost artists in every class—Victor has always attracted the foremost singers and instrumentalists of the world—operatic—orchestral—popular and dance. Their confidence is more than ever justified by the life-like fidelity of Victor's new Orthophonic recordings.

Record stops automatically—An exclusive feature of the Orthophonic Victor Record is a groove, cut "off center." When the music has finished playing, the needle swings into this groove and applies the automatic stop on all modern Victrolas.

Hearing is believing—Whether you own an Orthophonic Victrola or not, hear these new Victor Records. They play on any instrument—and vastly improve its playing quality.

Go to your nearest Victor dealer. Go expecting the musical thrill of a lifetime. You will not be disappointed.

True to their word, Peg and Johnny Havens had summoned him to their home in Washington Square very soon after the November day when they had had tea together; and he had been there often since. He loved to go there. Peg amused him always, Johnny he was enormously fond of, and their host of friends he found exactly to his taste. There was a special brand of informality about the Havens's parties. Every one was expected to do just what he pleased in that apartment, and did so. People came if, and when, they wanted to, entertained themselves according to the dictates of their fancies, and departed at such time as they saw fit. They danced, and sang, and stirred weird concoctions on the kitchenette range, and played stud poker on the dining room table, and made light love in the hall, and laughed. . . . Nowhere under the sun, Jun thought, was there quite so much laughter. Into this environment he had taken Yvonne one afternoon around Christmas time, and he was left with a distressing belief that the experiment had not been successful. Yvonne had been an onlooker, not a participant; and the crowd resented onlookers, however lovely and gracious, on the ground that they "crabbed a party." The fun had been rather subdued that day, and Jock had known why and been both grieved and disappointed. He had felt that in this small but somehow not trivial matter, Yvonne had completely failed him.

Cecily would not fail him. She was fundamentally adapted to just that sort of thing.

He reached for the 'phone again with a view to calling Peg back and announcing the substitution, but thought better of it. "No use," he reflected. "They don't care who I bring, and anyway I'm going to see Johnny at lunch"

It was the last Friday in January, and the luncheon engagement was a business one. Johnny's father was to be present, for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not he agreed with his son that Jock would prove an asset to the paper owned by him, the New York Log. A matter of form only; Jock was as good as hired, sight unseen. But he did not know this, and the meeting seemed to him crucial and precarious. He dressed for it with vast attention to detail, and, in the conviction that the first requirement of a reporter was punctuality, reached the appointed place on the stroke of one—and waited half an hour.

While he waited, he planned the dialogue to come. "Then he'll say" . . . "Then I'll say" . . . He examined his watch at minute intervals, and once he held it to his ear. As one-thirty approached he was assailed by a panicky suspicion that Mr. Havens had declined to present himself after all. In fancy he say Mr. Havens, a sort of Johnny-grown-old with a beard and a belly, pounding his fist on a pile of newspapers and roaring, "Why should I waste my time?"

Why, indeed? Jock could think of no good reason, and it began to seem to him that his mere presence here in expectation of the Great was most presumptuous.

Mr. Mr. Havens came, and was not ostentatiously Great at all, but quite human. You felt at once that he enjoyed cards and horse races, and he commanded a supply of excellent stories, and that he had a cellar full of bottles with cobwebs upon them. That type of man. He was of medium height, thick-set, with an abundance of graying hair, a square strong face, and at once the shrewdest and jolliest eyes Jock had ever seen. He spoke in an abbreviated way, as though before presenting each sentence he mentally blue-penciled it to the bone. "Late," he said, pumping Jock's hand. "Kept you waiting. Couldn't help it. How're you? Glad to know you."

Nor was the ensuing meal at all as Jock had thought it would be. Almost to the end of it, business remained unmentioned. He himself dared not introduce the issue, Johnny would not, and Mr. Havens appeared much more interested in the information that Jock had once played the Valleydale course in two below par than in the fact that he wanted a job. They talked golf until dessert.

"Have to have a round together," Mr. Havens remarked at last, "spring comes."

Jock said, truthfully, that he would like that very much. "But you'll probably beat me ten-up, sir," he added smiling. "I've hardly had a club in my hands since I left college, and I never was any great shakes. That Valleydale score Johnny told you about was an accident."

"Haven't been playing?"

"No, sir."

"Why not? No time?"

Jock hesitated, and Johnny supplied the answer. "No inclination. Tread softly, dad, the boy's in love."

Mr. Havens elevated an eyebrow at Jock. "Fact?"

"I'm going to be married about the last of next month."

"Good!" said Mr. Havens. "Means you'll take hold. Look at Johnny. Engaged, perfectly useless. Wrench in the wheels of progress. Sat and mooned from morn till eve. Marriage made all the difference. Now look at him, works like a steer."

"First time you've ever admitted it," Johnny muttered.

His father ignored this. "When can you start?" he shot at Jock.

"Monday, sir."

Mr. Havens jerked his head in manifestation of approval. "Come 'round. Ten a. m. My office. What do you want, anyway? Business end? News end? What?"

"News," said Jock with emphasis.

"Ever done any writing?"

"Just at college. Of course that doesn't mean anything. But I think I can, Mr. Havens."

"Damn right he can!" put in Johnny. "I've read some of his stuff my brother-in-law sent Peg in the olden days. He's got more literary ability than any staff man ever needed. Also personality, guts, and everyth. else you'd want."

"This your press agent?" grinned Mr. Havens, pointing a thumb at his son.

"Seems to be," Jock said, also grinning.

"Well, wel'll try you, see if he's right."

Which was all there was to it. They parted soon after; the Havens, pere et fils, to return whence they had come; Jock to rush into the nearest telephone booth, demand his mother's number, and say in a voice which he vainly strove to control, "Hello! Mrs. Madelaine Hamill? A reporter from the Log speaking" . . .

SKINNYMEN

THIS BEATS RECORD

He Gained 28 Pounds in 8 Weeks—Good Solid Healthy Flesh, Too

In every town in America you can see skinny, scrawny men and women with deep hollows in cheeks, neck and chest who are more to be pitied than blamed.

Doctors, Chemists, Scientists all agree that Cod Liver Oil is full of flesh building, health promoting, strength increasing vitamins. They also agree and the whole world agrees with them that it is about the most evil smelling and nasty tasting, nauseating stuff that human beings come in contact with—it upsets most stomaches.

But now all that is changed—Cod Liver Oil comes in tablet form, sugar coated and as easy to take as candy. Mathews Medicine Store and druggists everywhere sell McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets with the distinct understanding that if any thin, lean, underweight man or woman takes them for 30 days and does not gain at least 5 pounds, the purchase price will be returned.

Just try them for 30 days, all you folks who need 5 or 10 pounds of good, solid flesh. They have rounded out the scrawney places in thousands of people—they will help you.

Standley E. Howe, Atlantic City, N. J., writes that he gained 28 pounds in 8 weeks and further writes: "I sleep, rest and eat and nothing bothers my nerves—I feel like a real man—thanks to McCoy's."

One woman, exceedingly thin, gained 10 pounds in 22 days; and don't forget that, being full of vitalizing vitamins, they do help feeble old folks who need a real tonic and for thin, puny, undeveloped children—they quickly bring health, strength and increased weight. 60 tablets for 60 cents. Insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Odd Sect in England Balks at Marriage, Rejoices at Death

LONDON.—A strange religious sect which does not encourage marriage, which rejoices at death, and which regards a birth as an occasion for concern rather than for festivity has been discovered at Loxwood, a tiny hamlet tucked away in the midst of the beautiful Sussex Downs.

Calling themselves the "Dependents," the members of the sect spend the majority of their time praying and "testifying" in a state of religious fervor.

Their "church" is a little hall adjacent to the village. The worshippers usually number about 200, and are mainly women.

They dress in the style of 1830—small flat black straw bonnets perched on their heads, with velvet trimmings at the sides, and tied underneath the chin with ribbons.

"We do not encourage marriage," said Harry Alward, made head of the sect, in discussing its principles. "We also do not believe in having celebrations over the birth of a child, nor do we believe in christening or baptism.

A musical sensation that has swept the country . . .

The New Orthophonic Victor Record

For more than two years, Victor experimented to produce the record which is now sweeping the country. While this improved record has been available for some months, we did not want to present it formally to the public until it had definitely proved its worth as the finest record made.

Two weeks ago we announced the new Orthophonic Record. Already millions of music-lovers have been thrilled by the music of this new and wonderful type of Victor Record—a record unequaled in clarity, tone, and fidelity to the original.

Here at last is a record as good as the Orthophonic Victrola. There is nothing with which to compare it, except the singing or playing of the artists themselves.

Close your eyes and you cannot believe that you are listening to a reproducing instrument playing a record. It is just as much the actual artist as though he or she were in the room with you. For the tone of these amazing records is the tone of naturalness—round, full, true, not pinched and, on the other hand, not too loud.

Microphone recording — Orthophonic — Artists now sing or play in natural position before a microphone, just as they sing or play at a public performance. The microphone "hears" and records what you would hear were you there.

Unpleasant scratch eliminated—Made from a new improved material, Orthophonic Records have eliminated those annoying surface-noises so common to the ordinary type of record. You hear the music and nothing else. Also, these records have longer life.

That elusive "third dimension"—Victor has captured what a great musician calls the "third dimension"—depth! Just as the great masters gave "relief" and depth to their paintings, so these new records give depth and roundness of tone to reproduced music.

Foremost artists in every class—Victor has always attracted the foremost singers and instrumentalists of the world—operatic—orchestral—popular and dance. Their confidence is more than ever justified by the life-like fidelity of Victor's new Orthophonic recordings.

Record stops automatically—An exclusive feature of the Orthophonic Victor Record is a groove, cut "off center." When the music has finished playing, the needle swings into this groove and applies the automatic stop on all modern Victrolas.

Hearing is believing—Whether you own an Orthophonic Victrola or not, hear these new Victor Records. They play on any instrument—and vastly improve its playing quality.

Go to your nearest Victor dealer. Go expecting the musical thrill of a lifetime. You will not be disappointed.

When Baby Complains.

There are many ways a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

To avoid imitations always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

'SUBWAY SADIE' AT AMERICAN

Dorothy Mackaill, Mulhall and Murray Featured.

"Subway Sadie," a First National picture, directed by Alfred Santell and produced by Al Rockett of "Abraham Lincoln" fame, is the attraction today, tomorrow and Saturday at the American theatre. Dorothy Mackaill, Jack Mulhall and Charles Murray are the featured players. Others in the cast include Peggy Shaw, Gaston Glass, Bernard Randall and Jack Raymond.

This is an excellent photoplay built around the romance of a New York working girl and a subway guard. It is charming and delightful. Real intelligence has been put into this picture by both producer and director, and the result is a brilliant picture, filled with romance, sprightly comedy, a touch of pathos here and there, a smart fashion show—dazzling night club scenes and other highly entertaining features.

Dorothy Mackaill is the girl. She falls in love with a subway guard (Jack Mulhall) and they decide to wed. But a lifelong ambition of Dorothy's is to be realized when she is made a buyer for her store and sent to Paris.

The wedding is called off and the heartbroken young man wonders what it is all about. The wedding date is the sailing date for Dorothy. But she never sails. Her subway guard is injured and she gives up her job to stay by him, marry him and settle down as the wife of a poor working man—but there is a surprise which we cannot tell about, and the picture ends happily.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

"My Catarrh is all gone"

What freedom in those words! Only those can realize who know the distress of clogged air passages, catarrhal deafness, offensive breath, raising of mucus, and lowered vitality due to catarrh. Yet thousands still endure catarrh needlessly, because they are treating symptoms instead of the cause. Catarrh comes from an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane—that delicate lining of the air passages of nose, throat and head. When this is corrected catarrh disappears. Salves and local ointments give only temporary relief. But Hall's Catarrh Medicine, because it goes directly to the cause, has been successful for over 40 years. Get it from your druggist, or send 85 cents to F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

When Baby Complains.

There are many ways a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

To avoid imitations always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

'SUBWAY SADIE' AT AMERICAN

Dorothy Mackaill, Mulhall and Murray Featured.

"Subway Sadie," a First National picture, directed by Alfred Santell and produced by Al Rockett of "Abraham Lincoln" fame, is the attraction today, tomorrow and Saturday at the American theatre. Dorothy Mackaill, Jack Mulhall and Charles Murray are the featured players. Others in the cast include Peggy Shaw, Gaston Glass, Bernard Randall and Jack Raymond.

This is an excellent photoplay built around the romance of a New York working girl and a subway guard. It is charming and delightful. Real intelligence has been put into this picture by both producer and director, and the result is a brilliant picture, filled with romance, sprightly comedy, a touch of pathos here and there, a smart fashion show—dazzling night club scenes and other highly entertaining features.

Dorothy Mackaill is the girl. She falls in love with a subway guard (Jack Mulhall) and they decide to wed. But a lifelong ambition of Dorothy's is to be realized when she is made a buyer for her store and sent to Paris.

The wedding is called off and the heartbroken young man wonders what it is all about. The wedding date is the sailing date for Dorothy. But she never sails. Her subway guard is injured and she gives up her job to stay by him, marry him and settle down as the wife of a poor working man—but there is a surprise which we cannot tell about, and the picture ends happily.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

"My Catarrh is all gone"

What freedom in those words! Only those can realize who know the distress of clogged air passages, catarrhal deafness, offensive breath, raising of mucus, and lowered vitality due to catarrh. Yet thousands still endure catarrh needlessly, because they are treating symptoms instead of the cause. Catarrh comes from an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane—that delicate lining of the air passages of nose, throat and head. When this is corrected catarrh disappears. Salves and local ointments give only temporary relief. But Hall's Catarrh Medicine, because it goes directly to the cause, has been successful for over 40 years. Get it from your druggist, or send 85 cents to F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

American Guild of Health Will Open Mission On Sunday

Inter-denominational Society Plans Week's Services in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Rev. Edward B. Andrews, D. D., Cleveland, vice-president of the American Guild of Health, wil conduct a teaching mission in St. Stephen's Episcopal church, beginning next Sunday morning and ending with the evening service on Sunday, November 14.

Purpose of Society.

The guild is an inter-denominational society, first started in the Episcopal church. It quickly overleaped the denominational barriers and, when it was incorporated in December, 1922, its membership was thrown open to all baptiszed persons without question all baptized persons affiliation. On its board of trustees are members of several great religious bodies.

The primary purpose of the society is to restore to fuller expression the ministry of healing as an inherent part of the pastoral office of the church. Its objects are:

First, to study the influence of the spiritual upon the physical well being.

Second, the exercise of healing by spiritual means, in complete loyalty to scientific principles and methods.

Third, united prayer for the inspiration of the Holy Spirit in all efforts to heal the sick.

Fourth, the cultivation through spiritual means, of both individual and corporate health.

"Service Organization."

The guild has no man or group of men to guarante its expenses or make up deficits.

It aims to be "a service organization" and to be supported by the subscriptions of those who have benefited by its work and teaching and by the fees paid by those who join its classes in "applied religion."

It is a teaching, rather than a healing movement. It seeks to develop teachers, not healers. It depends upon teaching missions and classes, rather than upon healing missions and service, as the latter are ordinarily conducted. Its task is distinctly that of "religious education." Its primary stress is upon the truth of man's nature, that he is a conscious personal, individualized center of manifestation of the creative life and love.

Any movement of real and permanent worth must give a teaching which is intellectually tenable, and morally and spiritually satisfactory: This is true of this movement about which people are daily inquiring. Its teaching is providing sane and reasonable to all who study it and it develops sane and wholesome reactions and attitudes towards all the problems and responsibilities of life. It gives men and women a working philosophy of life which they are able to apply to all situations and human relations.

and may form habits of indolence and carelessness that will cling to him through life. The dull child is often bewildered and discourgade by being expected to do things he can not do and in time unconsciously becomes set in a conviction that he is a second-rater.

When children are grouped accordingly to ability, those in each group can keep pace with one another, and in each group there are competitive conditions that tend to develop the best there is in every member of the group. Perhaps the greater benefits accrue to those who are classed as average or dull, for in their own groups they develop qualities of leadership and an urge for accomplishment that they would never know under the old system where they would never have a chance to excel and would know that no matter what they did their records would never be outstanding or exceptional. As a teacher in one of the schools of this city reports, "Children who have suffered the discouragement and humiliation that comes from constant failure are gaining confidence in themselves and are taking prominent parts in schoolroom exercises. For the first time in their school career they are knowing the joy of success."

In short, the new system does away with the old idea that all pupils can or ought to be able to do all kinds of mental work and attain high rank, or at least make average grades, if they try hard enough, and that it is all right to be satisfied with average work from bright pupils while an extra drive is made to bring the dull ones up to an average accomplishment.

How Children Are Grouped.

Children are grouped through the use of standardized intelligence and achievement tests, considered in connection with other pertinent information such as physical condition, emotional stability, former school experience, character traits, home influence, and the judgment of their teachers. They are then promoted, demoted, or left in their old classes, in order to get them in the groups where they belong. As it invariably works out, children of approximately the same age are brought together.

This may be illustrated by citing the experience in grouping the children of one grade in a Washington school. The scientific tests showed that all those in the dull group were 11, 12, and 13 years of age; those in the average group were from 9½ to 10½ years; and those in the bright group, 8 to 10 years. The mental ages of those in the first group were 8, 9, and 10; of the second, 9 nad 10; and of the third, 9, 10, and 11. The intelligence quotients of those in the dull group ranged from 70 to 90; second, 95 to 106; third, 110 to 140.

Of 495 pupils in five Washington schools who were promoted on the basis of these tests, most of them being advanced one semester, some two semesters, and a few three semesters, only 19 failed to make good, and 16 of those failures were not due to the method of promotion on standardized tests.

Members of school boards inclined to object to the new system on the ground of expense will be interested in knowing that in this instance a decided economy is shown. The total saving of time of the 476 pupils promoted who made good was 561 semesters. It would have taken 14 teachers with 40 pupils to a group to teach what they already knew or could get quickly without those teachers. One extra teacher was added for a backward class, so the net saving was 13 teachers' salaries for a semester, a minimum of $9,360 on the old salary basis.

Miss Jessie LaSalle, who has been directing this work in the Washington schools for three years, has stated in one of her reports that the children in every school tested were so misplaced that 25 per cent were in grades too low and 16 per cent in grades too high.

"The need for a continuance of intelligence and standardized achievement tests until all schools are reclassified is urgent,' says Miss LaSalle. 'Our schools are pretty well taking care of the average or normal child, but little is being done for the rarely gifted, talented children, and for the dull children. Surely a democratic education should provide for all its children according to their capacities and needs instead of attempting to make all conform to the type and pace of the middle, average group."

Countess Tries Again to Enter United States

Countess Michel Karolyi.

Countess Michel Karolyi of Hungary is trying once more to force the State Department to permit her and her husband to enter the United States. The State Department's ban followed a visit of the Count and the Countess to America. The Count agreed to make no speeches or statements. Going to Canada, however, the Count issued a statement, expressing opposition to the Horthy regime. Count Karolyi was the first president of the Hungarian republic and is bitterly opposed by the Monarchists.

Fourth, the cultivation through spiritual means, of both individual and corporate health.

"Service Organization."

The guild has no man or group of men to guarantee its expenses or make up deficits.

It aims to be "a service organization" and to be supported by the subscriptions of those who have benefited by its work and teaching and by the fees paid by those who join its classes in "applied religion."

It is a teaching, rather than a healing movement. It seeks to develop teachers, not healers. It depends upon teaching missions and classes, rather than upon healing missions and service, as the latter are ordinarily conducted. Its task is distinctly that of "religious education." Its primary stress is upon the truth of man's nature, that he is a conscious personal, individualized center of manifestation of the creative life and love.

Any movement of real and permanent worth must give a teaching which is intellectually tenable, and morally and spiritually satisfactory. This is true of this movement about which people are daily inquiring. Its teaching is providing sane and reasonable to all who study it and it develops sane and wholesome reactions and attitudes towards all the problems and responsibilities of life. It gives men and women a working philosophy of life which they are able to apply to all situations and human relations.

and may form habits of indolence and carelessness that will cling to him through life. The dull child is often bewildered and discourgade by being expected to do things he can not do and in time unconsciously becomes set in a conviction that he is a second-rater.

When children are grouped accordingly to ability, those in each group can keep pace with one another, and in each group there are competitive conditions that tend to develop the best there is in every member of the group. Perhaps the greater benefits accrue to those who are classed as average or dull, for in their own groups they develop qualities of leadership and an urge for accomplishment that they would never know under the old system where they would never have a chance to excel and would know that no matter what they did their records would never be outstanding or exceptional. As a teacher in one of the schools of this city reports, "Children who have suffered the discouragement and humiliation that comes from constant failure are gaining confidence in themselves and are taking prominent parts in schoolroom exercises. For the first time in their school career they are knowing the joy of success."

In short, the new system does away with the old idea that all pupils can or ought to be able to do all kinds of mental work and attain high rank, or at least make average grades, if they try hard enough, and that it is all right to be satisfied with average work from bright pupils while an extra drive is made to bring the dull ones up to an average accomplishment.

How Children Are Grouped.

Children are grouped through the use of standardized intelligence and achievement tests, considered in connection with other pertinent information such as physical condition, emotional stability, former school experience, character traits, home influence, and the judgment of their teachers. They are then promoted, demoted, or left in their old classes, in order to get them in the groups where they belong. As it invariably works out, children of approximately the same age are brought together.

This may be illustrated by citing the experience in grouping the children of one grade in a Washington school. The scientific tests showed that all those in the dull group were 11, 12, and 13 years of age; those in the average group were from 9½ to 10½ years; and those in the bright group, 8 to 10 years. The mental ages of those in the first group were 8, 9, and 10; of the second, 9 nad 10; and of the third, 9, 10, and 11. The intelligence quotients of those in the dull group ranged from 70 to 90; second, 95 to 106; third, 110 to 140.

Of 495 pupils in five Washington schools who were promoted on the basis of these tests, most of them being advanced one semester, some two semesters, and a few three semesters, only 19 failed to make good, and 16 of those failures were not due to the method of promotion on standardized tests.

Members of school boards inclined to object to the new system on the ground of expense will be interested in knowing that in this instance a decided economy is shown. The total saving of time of the 476 pupils promoted who made good was 561 semesters. It would have taken 14 teachers with 40 pupils to a group to teach what they already knew or could get quickly without those teachers. One extra teacher was added for a backward class, so the net saving was 13 teachers' salaries for a semester, a minimum of $9,360 on the old salary basis.

Miss Jessie LaSalle, who has been directing this work in the Washington schools for three years, has stated in one of her reports that the children in every school tested were so misplaced that 25 per cent were in grades too low and 16 per cent in grades too high.

"The need for a continuance of intelligence and standardized achievement tests until all schools are reclassified is urgent,' says Miss LaSalle. 'Our schools are pretty well taking care of the average or normal child, but little is being done for the rarely gifted, talented children, and for the dull children. Surely a democratic education should provide for all its children according to their capacities and needs instead of attempting to make all conform to the type and pace of the middle, average group."

Countess Tries Again to Enter United States

Countess Michel Karolyi.

Countess Michel Karolyi of Hungary is trying once more to force the State Department to permit her and her husband to enter the United States. The State Department's ban followed a visit of the Count and the Countess to America. The Count agreed to make no speeches or statements. Going to Canada, however, the Count issued a statement, expressing opposition to the Horthy regime. Count Karolyi was the first president of the Hungarian republic and is bitterly opposed by the Monarchists.

American Guild of Health Will Open Mission On Sunday

Inter-denominational Society Plans Week's Services in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Rev. Edward B. Andrews, D. D., Cleveland, vice-president of the American Guild of Health, wil conduct a teaching mission in St. Stephen's Episcopal church, beginning next Sunday morning and ending with the evening service on Sunday, November 14.

Purpose of Society.

The guild is an inter-denominational society, first started in the Episcopal church. It quickly overleaped the denominational barriers and, when it was incorporated in December, 1922, its membership was thrown open to all baptiszed persons without question all baptized persons affiliation. On its board of trustees are members of several great religious bodies.

The primary purpose of the society is to restore to fuller expression the ministry of healing as an inherent part of the pastoral office of the church. Its objects are:

First, to study the influence of the spiritual upon the physical well being.

Second, the exercise of healing by spiritual means, in complete loyalty to scientific principles and methods.

Third, united prayer for the inspiration of the Holy Spirit in all efforts to heal the sick.

Fourth, the cultivation through spiritual means, of both individual and corporate health.

"Service Organization."

It aims to be "a service organization" and to be supported by the subscriptions of those who have benefited by its work and teaching and by the fees paid by those who join its classes in "applied religion."

Haskin's Letter

and may form habits of indolence and carelessness that will cling to him through life. The dull child is often bewildered and discourgade by being expected to do things he can not do and in time unconsciously becomes set in a conviction that he is a second-rater.

When children are grouped accordingly to ability, those in each group can keep pace with one another, and in each group there are competitive conditions that tend to develop the best there is in every member of the group. Perhaps the greater benefits accrue to those who are classed as average or dull, for in their own groups they develop qualities of leadership and an urge for accomplishment that they would never know under the old system where they would never have a chance to excel and would know that no matter what they did their records would never be outstanding or exceptional. As a teacher in one of the schools of this city reports, "Children who have suffered the discouragement and humiliation that comes from constant failure are gaining confidence in themselves and are taking prominent parts in schoolroom exercises. For the first time in their school career they are knowing the joy of success."

In short, the new system does away with the old idea that all pupils can or ought to be able to do all kinds of mental work and attain high rank, or at least make average grades, if they try hard enough, and that it is all right to be satisfied with average work from bright pupils while an extra drive is made to bring the dull ones up to an average accomplishment.

How Children Are Grouped.

Children are grouped through the use of standardized intelligence and achievement tests, considered in connection with other pertinent information such as physical condition, emotional stability, former school experience, character traits, home influence, and the judgment of their teachers. They are then promoted, demoted, or left in their old classes, in order to get them in the groups where they belong. As it invariably works out, children of approximately the same age are brought together.

This may be illustrated by citing the experience in grouping the children of one grade in a Washington school. The scientific tests showed that all those in the dull group were 11, 12, and 13 years of age; those in the average group were from 9½ to 10½ years; and those in the bright group, 8 to 10 years. The mental ages of those in the first group were 8, 9, and 10; of the second, 9 nad 10; and of the third, 9, 10, and 11. The intelligence quotients of those in the dull group ranged from 70 to 90; second, 95 to 106; third, 110 to 140.

Of 495 pupils in five Washington schools who were promoted on the basis of these tests, most of them be ing advanced one semester, some two semesters, and a few three semesters, only 19 failed to make good, and 13 of those failures were not due to the method of promotion on standardized tests.

Members of school boards inclined to object to the new system on the ground of expense will be interested in knowing that in this instance a decided economy is shown. The total saving of time of the 476 pupils promoted who made good was 561 semesters. It would have taken 14 teachers with 40 pupils to a group to teach what they already knew or could get quickly without those teachers. One extra teacher was added for a backward class, so the net saving was 13 teachers' salaries for a semester, a minimum of $9,360 on the old salary basis.

Miss Jessie LaSalle, who has been directing this work in the Washington schools for three years, has stated in one of her reports that the children in every school tested were so misplaced that 25 per cent were in grades too low and 16 per cent in grades too high.

"The need for a continuance of intelligence and standardized achievement tests until all schools are reclassified is urgent,' says Miss LaSalle. 'Our schools are pretty well taking care of the average or normal child, but little is being done for the rarely gifted, talented children, and for the dull children. Surely a democratic education should provide for all its children according to their capacities and needs instead of attempting to make all conform to the type and pace of the middle, average group."

Countess Tries Again to Enter United States

Countess Michel Karolyi.

Countess Michel Karolyi of Hungary is trying once more to force the State Department to permit her and her husband to enter the United States. The State Department's ban followed a visit of the Count and the Countess to America. The Count agreed to make no speeches or statements. Going to Canada, however, the Count issued a statement, expressing opposition to the Horthy regime. Count Karolyi was the first president of the Hungarian republic and is bitterly opposed by the Monarchists.

DAREDEVIL DIX IN FILM HIT

"The Quarterback" Scores in Opening Run at Ceramic.

The trickiest, funniest, fastest football game ever played. That's what you'll see in Paramount's latest Richard Dix comedy, "The Quarterback," which arrived at the Ceramic Theatre yesterday for an all-week run.

Richard and his pal, David Butler, are working their way through Colton by means of a milk delivery route. To speed matters up, they utilize their football knowledge and send their bottles whizzing through the air. Then—when they actually get in the game—action starts and never stops till the final whistle blows.

But there's much more to "The Quarterback" than just a football game! W. O. McGeehan and William Slavens McNutt have provided Director Fred Newmeyer with a real story. And in its transfer to the screen, nary a thing has been lost.

"The Quarterback" opens with an 1899 prologue. The star quarterback of Colton College, Harry Beresford, has proposed to Mona Palma. She accepts with the proviso that he remain at school until Colton beats her ancient rival, State. Some twenty-seven years later, he is still "one of the boys," Mona has died and his son now plays dad's old position.

Richard is infatuated with Esther Ralston, a State co-ed. Their romance flourishes until the day of the big game. Then—come a series of startling surprises. Things start to go wrong and—well, why try to describe it?

See "The Quarterback." Richard Dix has never had a better vehicle!

Dare's Mentha Pepsin will stop dyspeptic agony in five minutes; will conquer obstinate cases of indigestion, and turn the old stomach into a new one in a few weeks.

Find Way to Drop Mail From Airplanes Without Landing

LONDON.—An apparatus which will enable mailbags to be delivered from airplanes without landing and to be dropped safely from considerable heights has been invented after years of experimenting by Herr. Kunzer, a Swiss engineer.

The apparatus consists of a metal sheath, containing in the upper part a folded parachute and in the lower a clockwork movement. The mailbag is affixed to the bottom of the apparatus, and the pilot sets the clockwork according to the height at which he is flying, so that when he throws the bag overboard the parachute is timed to open some 150 to 100 yards from the ground.

Tests have been made from a height of 3,000 feet with complete success.

Eleven climbers were killed and many injured in the Tyrolese Alps in a few week last summer.

Things to Know Before Baby Comes

THE expectant mother's comfort and well being is very important. And one of the most important things for her to do is to use Mother's Friend to keep the skin and muscles soft and pliable—thus aiding the tissues and muscles to relax and adjust themselves to the changes during motherhood. Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been used by expectant mothers for over three generations. No woman awaiting the joy of motherhood should allow the days to pass without using Mother's Friend.

Mrs. Laura Hendrix, Gracemont, Okla., writes: "I used Mother's Friend with all my babies and I think it is the grandest help that has ever been discovered for expectant mothers. I can't say too much for it."

Mother's Friend is safe for you to use because it contains no harmful drugs and is applied externally.

Mother! Hot Breads for breakfast in 10 minutes!

SINCE I have learned to make muffins, Johnny Cakes and other things the day before and reheat them quickly in the morning, we have hot breads all the time. And no one realizes that they are not baked fresh every morning.

I wet them (just a "dash" under the cold water faucet), heat them thoroughly in a covered pan, removing the cover a minute before serving to be sure they are dry.

I used to think that because hot breads require so little shortening they could be made with any odds and ends of fat I happened to have in the house. But one day I made some muffins with Crisco and they were certainly the best I ever ate. Light, tender, with a wonderful flavor and appetizing smell. They were so much better than any I had made before that now I use Crisco for every hot bread I make, and I do get the most gratifying compliments on all my hot breads. They really could not be any better if made with the best, most expensive butter.

DELICIOUS PASTRY, CAKES AND FRIED FOODS, TOO

Crisco is by no means limited to making hot breads. I find that I can always depend on Crisco for flaky pie crusts, delicious cakes, dainty desserts—and for all frying.

Q. Please give Billy Sunday's itinerary for this winter? E. T.

A. The Rev. William Sunday has the following engagements: November 7th, Yakima, Washington (and six weeks following); January 2, Mobile, Ala., six weeks; February 15, Tampa, Fla., six weeks; April 1, Aurora, Ill., six weeks; May 15, Butte, Mont., six weeks.

Q. Where was the chariot race photographed for Ben Hur? L. R.

A. The chariot race in the Circus Maximus was filmed in California. The gallery scenes were taken at Leghorn, Italy.

Q. Why are Buda and Pest sometimes written separately and sometimes hyphenated? W. K. W.

A. These two cities are on opposite sides of the river. Sometimes one is speaking of one city particularly, and sometimes of the hyphenated entirety.

Q. What was the Malthusian theory? G. A. S.

A. Thomas Robert Malthus born 1766 was an English economist interested in social problems and study of population. In 1798 he published a book "Essay on the Principles of Population as it Affects the Future Improvement of Society." This book demonstrated the theory that in all time population has tended to outrun subsistence, leading to the decay of the nation. He enlarged this theory in 1803 to demonstrate the impossibility to evade poverty and suffering among the mass of the people if unrestricted increase in population continued.

Q. Will you kindly advise me which of the following is correct: "This firm has fifty acres of land which are not being used." "This firm has fifty acres of land which is not being used?" E. M. R.

A. In the above sentence the speaker uses the plural form "are" if he wishes to emphasize the number of acres involved. If he regards the fifty acres as a unit, the singular form is used.

Q. How are safety matches different from other matches? W. L. T.

A. The composition of the head of an ordinary match consists of phosphorus and nitre, or phosphorus, sulphur and chlorate of potash, mixed with melted gum or glue, and colored with vermilion, umber, soot, or other coloring material. The safety match differs from the ordinary match in having the phosphorus omitted from the composition applied to the match stick and combined instead with sand to form a friction surface on the match box, where the matches, which usually have chlorate of potash in their heads, are rubbed in order to be lighted.

Q. Where was the first negro university founded? E. S.

A. Lincoln University, a Presbyterian college, at Lincoln University, Pennsylvania, was the first negro university to be established in the United States. This school was established in 1854.

Q. Is a pane of glass perfectly flat? F. M. F.

A. Plate glass is the only kind of glass that is perfectly flat; all other glass is slightly bowed since it is made on a cylinder and before it has hardened is split and allowed to fall flat, but the glass never becomes perfectly flat.

Q. What kinds of tomatoes are wilt and blight resistant? W. T. S.

A. Some varieties have been developed that are wilt resistant and to a certain extent blight resistant. Among these are Dwarf Stone, Dwarf Champion and Marglobe.

Q. Why do people blush and what could be done to stop it? A. J.

A. Blushing is due to the suspending of the action of the local vasomotor nerves allowing the arteries and capillaries to dilate so that there is an increased flow of blood to the parts that redden. To conquer the habit of blushing is largely a matter of will power.

Q. What has been called "the mother of sciences?" C. D.

A. Philosophy has been called this. The real meaning of the term is "the love of wisdom."

Q. What species of fish are most abundant in the Mississippi river? R. M. R.

A. According to the latest complete survey by the Bureau of Fisheries there were 9,374,073 pounds of German carp and 5,842,828 pounds of Buffalofish. These two varieties outnumbered any other.

St. Isaac's Cathedral Russia's Large Church, Will Become Museum

LENINGRAD.—The famous old Cathedral of St. Isaac's, largest church in Leningrad and in Russia, and best known to all visitors from abroad, is about to be turned into a museum.

A committee of the Main Science board, reporting that the church is falling into a dangerous state of disrepair and that recently a section of stone weighing 500 pounds fell from a cornice of the building, has recommended that the building be taken out of the hands of the church authorities and converted into a government museum. The committee's advice probably will be followed.

The church has not been used for regular worship since the revolution but still is considered a consecrated building, visited by the faithful for prayers. It is the chief architectural monument of the Orthodox Church, corrosponding to St. Sophia's in Constantinople.

Why We Become Weak, Tired and Run-Down If Glands Fail

THOUSANDS drag through life always tired and worn-out, suffering with loss of energy and vitality, and fail to recognize the cause of their trouble. Medical authorities now know the trouble as "asthenia," and claim it is caused by an unbalanced glandular system or weakened glands.

Gland secretions are called hormones—mysterious messengers which science has discovered exert a remarkable influence on health, strength and vitality. When the glands function normally they supply these vitalizing hormones (or secretions) which are essential to physical well-being. And when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Now, glandular treatment, which is endorsed by eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe, is being used by thousands of men and women to help overcome a weakened, worn-out, run-down, exhausted condition, and to regain the strength, vigor and vitality that are the natural benefits resulting from a normal glandular system.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

St. Isaac's Cathedral Russia's Large Church, Will Become Museum

LENINGRAD.—The famous old Cathedral of St. Isaac's, largest church in Leningrad and in Russia, and best known to all visitors from abroad, is about to be turned into a museum.

A committee of the Main Science board, reporting that the church is falling into a dangerous state of disrepair and that recently a section of stone weighing 500 pounds fell from a cornice of the building, has recommended that the building be taken out of the hands of the church authorities and converted into a government museum. The committee's advice probably will be followed.

The church has not been used for regular worship since the revolution but still is considered a consecrated building, visited by the faithful for prayers. It is the chief architectural monument of the Orthodox Church, corrosponding to St. Sophia's in Constantinople.

Why We Become Weak, Tired and Run-Down If Glands Fail

THOUSANDS drag through life always tired and worn-out, suffering with loss of energy and vitality, and fail to recognize the cause of their trouble. Medical authorities now know the trouble as "asthenia," and claim it is caused by an unbalanced glandular system or weakened glands.

Gland secretions are called hormones—mysterious messengers which science has discovered exert a remarkable influence on health, strength and vitality. When the glands function normally they supply these vitalizing hormones (or secretions) which are essential to physical well-being. And when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Now, glandular treatment, which is endorsed by eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe, is being used by thousands of men and women to help overcome a weakened, worn-out, run-down, exhausted condition, and to regain the strength, vigor and vitality that are the natural benefits resulting from a normal glandular system.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.

BLOOM WINNER OVER MILLS

Today

Happy, Careless Country.
Nervous, High Finance.
The Low Cost 2-Year-Old.
Death and Ice Water.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

HAPPY, they say, is the country that has no history; little has happened to worry the inhabitants.

Happy also, persumably, the nation that does not take its elections seriously, the citizens not agitated about the public questions.

ELECTIONS Tuesday, which might mean inability of the administration to carry out its plans, leave the average citizen as cold as a bulletin from the agricultural department on raising sweet potatoes.

THE little man makes $5 a day. Seventy-five Americans tell the tax department they make more than $3,000 a day, $1,000,000 a year. At least three of us Americans own a thousand million dollars. Why should elections worry us, or interest us much? Let lawyers look after the big men and the corporations, while the little fellows trust to luck.

WE have no national policy and absolutely no systematic, modern national defense. We are unfit as Haiti to fight a modern nation. The world at large hates us or feels toward us as a hungry fox feels toward a fat goose. But why should we worry? God will take care of us probably. He always has done so.

Anyhow, worrying or taking violent interest in elections would do us little good, the difference between the men that want to be elected is so slight.

WALL STREET gentlemen were quiet and conservative before election day, and will continue quiet until they know definitely what happened Tuesday.

Wall street, which really buys and sells the nation and its values, acts as though it were dealing in politics.

A Democratic Senate would not put Pennsylvania down from a 7 per cent oasis, with Attebury President, or melt away the four hundred million cash surplus that Gary has piled up for United States Steel.

HIGH finance is as nervous as a man with a load of plaster statues on his head. The Democrats come out from behind the door and say "boo" oftener than Republicans. But neither of them means anything by it, and neither lack deep affection for high finance.

That institution owns two parties, and usually prefers to use the Republican one because it never even

POSTMASTER RICHARD GILSON DIES IN STEUBENVILLE HOME

Jefferson County Republican Leader, Long Active in State and National Affairs, Claimed by Blood Poisoning.

Richard Gilson, 63, postmaster at Steubenville, former sheriff of Jefferson county and a leader in the Republican party in the 18th district for 25 years, died in his home, 1302 Oregon avenue, Steubenville at 7 o'clock this morning after an eight weeks' illness of blood poisoning whic had been superinduced by a carbuncle.

He was born at Yellow Creek, Columbiana county, on December 15, 1863, a son of James and Jane Kerr Gilson, and first worked as a brakeman on the Cleveland and Pittsburgh railroad. While thus engaged he suffered the amputation of his right band. He next was employed as a telegraph operator at Irondale, Rush Run and Rayland, Jefferson county. Afterwards he moved to Steubenville where he entered politics.

He was sheriff of Jefferson county for four years, and later was appointed sergeant-at-arms of the house of representatives, Columbus. He was also connected with the Steubenville water works department under Mayor George McLeish. He was appointed postmaster at Steubenville during the administration of President Taft. Four years later he relinquished the post to a Democrat, appointed by President Wilson. He was reappointed by the late President Harding.

Secretary to Congressman.

Gilson was secretary to Congressman Frank Murphy for several years, giving up this place upon his appointment as postmaster. The secretaryship is now held by his brother, Charles Gilson. He was also chairman of the Jefferson County Republican Central committee for many years.

He married Miss Susan McCarroll of Irondale 39 years ago. He is survived by his widow and six children, Herbert of East Liverpool; Mrs. Rezen Morton and Mrs. Charles Roe, Steubenville; Mrs. Clarence Clark, Los Angeles; and Misses Edna and Helen Gilson, at home.

He was a member of the Odd Fellows, Maccabees and Knights of Pythias and was also affiliated with the La Belle View Methodist Episcopal church, Steubenville.

Funeral services will be conducted probably Saturday afternoon.

MELLETT DEATH COUNT WILL BE SERVED TODAY ON M'DERMOTT

"Key Figure" Will be First to Face Trial.

HE KEEPS MUM

Supreme Penalty Will be Asked, Prosecutor Says.

CANTON, O., Nov. 4.—After loitering along and taking it easy for three and one-half months since the assassination of Don R. Mellett, vice fighting Canton publisher, justice this afternoon stepped on the gas with the serving of a first degree murder indictment on Pat McDermott, "key figure" in the mystery.

Prosecutor C. B. McClintock asked Judge Edwin Diehl that Pat be arraigned at 1 o'clock tomorrow afternoon and that the judge then also set "an early date for a speedy trial."

McDermott, in a low voice, asked that the court appoint an attorney for him as he claimed to be destitute. He expressed a preference for Ed L. Mills, Canton attorney, who is defending Louis Mazer and Ben Rudner, the two others indicted in connection with the murder.

CANTON, Nov. 4.—Service will be made this afternoon on Pat McDermott of a first degree murder indictment as a result of the assassination of Don R. Mellett, vice fighting Canton publisher on July 16.

The indictment will be served before Common Pleas Judge Edwin Diehl, according to the announcement made by Prosecutor C. B. McClintock.

Arraignment of McDermott on the same indictment will be made before Judge Diehl some time tomorrow, McClintock said.

Close on the heels of these announcements came definite information from an authoritative source that the "key figure" to the murder mystery will be the first of the indicted trio to go on trial, and that the supreme penalty will be asked by the prosecutor.

Refuses to Talk.

"Pat McDermott has signed his own death warrant," the same person said. "He refused to talk. We did not care for the information he may have given against himself—we have an air-tight case against him. What the state wanted was some more evidence against Mazer and Ben Rudner.

"McDermott has received the 'office' not to talk and all the pleadings of his brothers were rendered null by these 'grapevine' messages."

Direct denial of reports that a deal has been made with McDermott before his surrender after a three months' nation-wide search, that the first degree murder indictment would be nolled and that McDermott would be charged with manslaughter was made by McClintock.

Evidence Against Prisoner.

"All that was told McDermott when he surrendered was that he would be given a 'square deal if he talked.' He hasn't talked the way he should." McClintock said, "and so he is going to take the rap just like any one else."

Evidence that the state has against

46 OTHER MEN DROWNED BY QUICKSAND CAVE-IN NEAR ISHPEMING, MICH.

Hidden Pocket of Watery Substance, Breaking Through Wall Without Warning, Pours Down Upon Workers 1600 Feet Under Ground in Barnes-Hacker Iron Shaft.

CATASTROPHE OCCURS JUST BEFORE LUNCH HOUR, TRAPPING VICTIMS

Sand and Water Floods Every Nook and Cranny of Mine and Backs Up and Rises Within 175 Feet of Surface, Killing Men Who are Caught Like Rats in Trap.

ISHPEMING, Mich., Nov. 4.—Seven of the 53 miners who were drowned by a cave-in of watery quicksand in the Barnes-Hacker iron mines here yesterday, had been accounted for early today.

Their crushed and badly mangled bodies were recovered in No. 6 level of the North Lake mine, two miles from the Barnes-Hacker shaft.

The disaster was one of the most unusual in the history of mining. A huge, hidden pocket of quicksand, broke through the mine shaft wall without warning, and poured down upon the workers, caught like rats in a trap on the third and last level of the mines, 1,600 feet below the surface.

The catastrophe occurred just before the noon lunch hour. Thirty minutes more and the men would have been safe on the surface.

Sweeping everything in its path, the hundreds of tons of sand and water poured into every nook and cranny of the mine. Its progress halted by the stub ends of the levels, it backed up until it had risen to within 175 feet of the surface.

Horror and Swiftness of Tragedy.

The seven bodies recovered included those of Captain William Tippett and William E. Hill, county mine inspector. From the bodies the rescuers were able to picture the horror and swiftness of the tragedy. The men had apparently tried to outrun the rushing torrent that came upon them from behind.

Officials of the mine declared there wasn't one chance in a million that any of the miners in the workings at the time would be taken out alive.

Today preparations were being made to sink a new shaft into the mine, through the shifting sands within the old shaft, through which it is hoped the bodies may be brought to the surface.

Force of Water Strips Victims of Their Clothing

ISHPEMING, Mich., Nov. 3.—So strong was the force of water which snuffed out the lives of 53 miners in the Barnes-Hacker iron mine that several of the victims were found today to have been completely stripped of their clothing. Many were horribly mangled.

Gas Fumes Cause Death of Bride; Husband May Die

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 4.—Fumes from a gas stove caused the death of a young bride here early today and may prove fatal to her husband.

The stove had been left burning when the couple retired. They were married two weeks ago.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.

COURTHOUSE, SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4.—Henry Stevens, expert marksmen, on trial with two others for murder in the Halls-Mills case, visited the scene of the crime a year after the double murder was committed and when he passed the spot where the bodies were found he almost collapsed, it was testified in court today.

This dramatic testimony was given by Mrs. Anna L. Hoag, who lives on a farm near the scene of the double murder.

Mrs. Hoag, an elderly woman, with a sharp, incisive voice, said that she now lives in East Orange but four years ago she resided on a farm near De Russey's lane where the Rev. Edward W. Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, were shot to death on the night of September 14, 1922.

She Heard Four Shots.

"Did you hear or see anything unusual on the night of Sept. 14, 1922? Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, asked the witness.

"I did. That night I heard four shots."

"Did anything unusual come to your attention at any time after the murders?" Simpson asked.

"Yes, about a year after."

"Well, a man came to my place—"Can you identify that man?" Simpson asked.

She rose from her seat, glanced around and then dramatically pointed to Henry Stevens.

"Tell what occurred," Simpson said.

"Well," she related, "Henry Stevens came to my place. He was alone and immaculately dressed. He wore a Panama hat. He did not look as if he was hiking. After asking me a few questions he suddenly said:

"'Wasn't there a tragedy on this place?'

"I leaped up, declaring that I knew nothing of a tragedy and rushed into the house.

"He then left. As he passed near the spot where the bodies were found, he almost collapsed."

Mrs. Hoag said she remembered Henry Stevens because "his face made a deep impression on me."

Ralph Gorsline Called.

Mrs. Hoag was then excused and Ralph Gorsline, vestryman who admits he was in De Russey's lane the night of the murder, with a girl companion, was next called to the stand.

Gorsline, tall, thin vestryman in the slain Dr. Edward W. Hall's church, denied on the witness stand that he had seen or spoken to Henry Stevens on the Phillips farm the night four years ago when the rector and his choir singer were shot to death.

He told of going to the scene which was a "lovers' lane" at about 10:30 on the night of the double murder. He was accompanied, he testified, by Miss Catherine Rastall. He parked his car near the famous crabapple tree where the murders were committed. Soon he heard the mumbling of voices, a shot, a woman's scream, then three shots—and then moans.

"Didn't you ever tell a man that you were in the lane that night and that you saw there Henry Stevens and that he said to you: 'Get to hell out of here,' and fired two shots into the ground?" Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson shouted.

"I did not," the witness replied.

He said he met Miss Rastall in front of the Y. M. C. A., in New Brunswick about 10 o'clock on the night of the murder. He invited her for a ride in his car. They then drove to the lane, about 700 feet from the crabapple tree, and put out the automobile lights.

He Heard Mumblings.

"How long were you in the lane when you heard the shots?"

"A few minutes."

"How long did you wait in your car

Collegiate Flivvers Will Not be Barred From College Campus

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Collegiate flivvers shall not be barred from the University of Minnesota campus.

This announcement by E. E. Nicholson, dean of student affairs, set at rest the fears of college boys who have labored all summer in developing their hand painted autos for use this fall and winter.

"There are too many student automobiles," Dean Nicholson said, "but we cannot legislate against them because too many students need their cars in coming to and from school."

So although Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin and other universities have barred students from using their autos the collegiate flivver will survive in Minnesota.

Popular London Vicar, Prominent in Radio Circles Quits Post

LONDON.—The Rev. "Dick" Shephard, London's most popular vicar, who has become known to thousands through his radio sermons, is resigning at Christmas through ill-health.

His church of Saint Martin's in the Fields, situated at the east side of Trafalgar Square, has been crowded every Sunday since he was appointed vicar, and so great is his popularity that when his resignation was announced from the pulpit several women broke down and cried.

He gained nation-wide fame by allowing the crypt of his church to be kept open all night to house London's unfortunates, and by his broadmindedness in religious matters.

UNION CHURCH SERVICES HERE

Large Crowds Attending Meetings; Chorus Singing Featured.

Large crowds are attending the union evangelistic meetings under the auspices of the First Presbyterian, United Presbyterian, Christian and First Methodist Episcopal churches.

Services last night were held in the Christian church which was taxed to capacity. The sermon was delivered by Rev. William T. McKee, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Meeting tonight will be held in the First Presbyterian church, while services are scheduled tomorrow evening in the Christian church. Services Sunday night will be in the United Presbyterian church. There will be two services held, provided the church is unable to accommodate all who desire to attend.

Members of the Young People's societies of the four co-operating churches will hold a union meeting at 6:15 Sunday night in the United Presbyterian church. This meeting will last one hour.

Large chorus choir in charge of the singing is being directed by Prof. Ralph E. Mitchell, of Columbus, O. This is proving one of the features of the meetings which will continue for two more weeks.

CLOSE BATTLE FOR CONGRESS

Official Canvass May be Necessary to Decide Winner.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 4. — An official canvass may be necessary to determine the winner in the sixth congressional district of West Virginia it appeared today when belated returns from Tuesday's election show that Congressman Alfred Taylor had made tremendous gains on E. T. England, his Republican opponent.

With only nine precincts missing, including seven in Kanawha county and one each in Pocahontas and Fayette counties, the unofficial count showed England leading by 210 votes. The total was: England, 45,728; Taylor, 45,518.

Congressman Taylor maintained that he has won the seat on the basis of returns compiled at his headquarters in Fayetteville which gave him a lead of 239 votes with only one Kanawha precinct missing.

Further belated returns this morning assured the election of W. S. O'Brien, Democrat, for the seat in the third district, over John Wolverton, Republican incumbent.

Republican victories in three of the congressional districts were made more certain by today's reports and their majories in both branches of the legislature by substantial numbers is certain.

Hungarian Pawnshop Shows Money Shortage; Many Articles Pawned

BUDAPEST. — Money is getting tighter and tighter in Hungary as measured by that infallible meter, the pawnshop. More than twice as many articles found temporary asylum in the pawnshops of Budapest during the first four months of 1926 than a year ago.

Like Russia, most of the personal wealth of Hungarians is represented in jewels, and 157,752 jewels were pledged in the four-month period this year as compared with only 75,735 last year. Other pledges this year totalled 285,584 and last year 136,497.

London Poorhouse Street Now Termed Land of Promise

LONDON.—Of all London's thousand of streets and roads the most ironically named is surely Land of Promise, in the Islington district.

Land of Promise is nothing more or less than a gateway to the poorhouse, down which come the sick and the aged and infirm, to be received as guests of the local guardians.

Once there were six cottages and several workshops in the street, but these were pulled down when the poorhouse was erected.

Steps are to be taken to have the plate naming the one-time street taken down.

The Improved Anchor Hot Blast Heater Has No Equal

Wherever heating stoves are used, the Anchor Hot Blast Heater proves its superiority—proves that in downright efficiency, in convenience, in actual economy, it is without an equal.

This superiority is not an accident, but is the result of many years of practical and scientific heating-stove manufacture and practical tests.

The features of construction in the Anchor Hot Blast Heater meet every requirement of heating-stove efficiency and long-time service. Highest quality materials, expert workmanship, and scientific design combine to give a heating result unequalled in this type of heater.

The Anchor Hot Blast wil burn any fuel—hard coal, soft coal, lignite, wood, or coke, giving a uniform heat under perfect control, and a slow, economical combustion. Because of the hot-blast feature, the gases from soft coal are completely burned, making a ton of soft coal about equal to a ton of the more expensive hard coal.

Careful attention has been applie dto every detail of construction. And it is mounted absolutely air-tight and remains air-tight, because these details have been perfected and made practical.

In addition to a fine appearance that will last the life of the stove, the Anchor Hot Blast offers real home comfort and a saving of 25% on your fuel bill.

Collegiate Flivvers Will Not be Barred From College Campus

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Collegiate flivvers shall not be barred from the University of Minnesota campus.

This announcement by E. E. Nicholson, dean of student affairs, set at rest the fears of college boys who have labored all summer in developing their hand painted autos for use this fall and winter.

"There are too many student automobiles," Dean Nicholson said, "but we cannot legislate against them because too many students need their cars in coming to and from school."

So although Ohio State, Illinois, Wisconsin and other universities have barred students from using their autos the collegiate flivver will survive in Minnesota.

Popular London Vicar, Prominent in Radio Circles Quits Post

LONDON.—The Rev. "Dick" Shephard, London's most popular vicar, who has become known to thousands through his radio sermons, is resigning at Christmas through ill-health.

His church of Saint Martin's in the Fields, situated at the east side of Trafalgar Square, has been crowded every Sunday since he was appointed vicar, and so great is his popularity that when his resignation was announced from the pulpit several women broke down and cried.

He gained nation-wide fame by allowing the crypt of his church to be kept open all night to house London's unfortunates, and by his broadmindedness in religious matters.

CLOSE BATTLE FOR CONGRESS

Official Canvass May be Necessary to Decide Winner.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 4. — An official canvass may be necessary to determine the winner in the sixth congressional district of West Virginia it appeared today when belated returns from Tuesday's election show that Congressman Alfred Taylor had made tremendous gains on E. T. England, his Republican opponent.

With only nine precincts missing, including seven in Kanawha county and one each in Pocahontas and Fayette counties, the unofficial count showed England leading by 210 votes. The total was: England, 45,728; Taylor, 45,518.

Congressman Taylor maintained that he has won the seat on the basis of returns compiled at his headquarters in Fayetteville which gave him a lead of 239 votes with only one Kanawha precinct missing.

Further belated returns this morning assured the election of W. S. O'Brien, Democrat, for the seat in the third district, over John Wolverton, Republican incumbent.

Republican victories in three of the congressional districts were made more certain by today's reports and their majories in both branches of the legislature by substantial numbers is certain.

Hungarian Pawnshop Shows Money Shortage; Many Articles Pawned

BUDAPEST. — Money is getting tighter and tighter in Hungary as measured by that infallible meter, the pawnshop. More than twice as many articles found temporary asylum in the pawnshops of Budapest during the first four months of 1926 than a year ago.

Like Russia, most of the personal wealth of Hungarians is represented in jewels, and 157,752 jewels were pledged in the four-month period this year as compared with only 75,735 last year. Other pledges this year totalled 285,584 and last year 136,497.

London Poorhouse Street Now Termed Land of Promise

LONDON.—Of all London's thousand of streets and roads the most ironically named is surely Land of Promise, in the Islington district.

Land of Promise is nothing more or less than a gateway to the poorhouse, down which come the sick and the aged and infirm, to be received as guests of the local guardians.

Once there were six cottages and several workshops in the street, but these were pulled down when the poorhouse was erected.

Steps are to be taken to have the plate naming the one-time street taken down.

The Improved Anchor Hot Blast Heater Has No Equal

Wherever heating stoves are used, the Anchor Hot Blast Heater proves its superiority—proves that in downright efficiency, in convenience, in actual economy, it is without an equal.

This superiority is not an accident, but is the result of many years of practical and scientific heating-stove manufacture and practical tests.

The features of construction in the Anchor Hot Blast Heater meet every requirement of heating-stove efficiency and long-time service. Highest quality materials, expert workmanship, and scientific design combine to give a heating result unequalled in this type of heater.

The Anchor Hot Blast wil burn any fuel—hard coal, soft coal, lignite, wood, or coke, giving a uniform heat under perfect control, and a slow, economical combustion. Because of the hot-blast feature, the gases from soft coal are completely burned, making a ton of soft coal about equal to a ton of the more expensive hard coal.

Careful attention has been applie dto every detail of construction. And it is mounted absolutely air-tight and remains air-tight, because these details have been perfected and made practical.

In addition to a fine appearance that will last the life of the stove, the Anchor Hot Blast offers real home comfort and a saving of 25% on your fuel bill.

Rival Waterway Routes

The proposed international ship canal via the St. Lawrence, as against the proposed "all-American" canal from the Lakes to the Hudson across New York State, is given another boost in the latest report of government experts.

The army engineers find, after fresh investigation, that the St. Lawrence route can be built for about half the money the New York route would cost; that the United States will be obliged to pay only half of the money required for it, whereas it would be expected to pay the whole cost of the New York project; that the St. Lawrence route would repay its cost in waterpower developed, while the New York route would not; and that the St. Lawrence route would be more useful to American shipping than the other.

In the face of such a report, it seems unlikely that congress will sanction the New York project as a national undertaking.

It will still be possible for New York state itself to develop its present barge canal into a channel to carry ocean shipping, if it cares to spend the necessary money. American transportation could doubtless make good use of both routes eventually. But it would be a very costly undertaking for a state already heavily taxed.

King of Germany

German monarchists, lately in the dumps, are said to be plucking up hope as a result of a prophecy made by an Italian fortune-teller.

In the mountains behind Locarno, the story runs, the soothsayer studied long over the hand of the German crown-prince and then told him:

"You have fingers like a woman. The lines on your hand tell me that you will be proclaimed king of Germany."

Fritz may have fingers like a woman. He certainly acts like a woman. But what has that to do with his being proclaimed king is not clear. Still, prophecies always have something queer in them, to make them more mysterious.

The crown prince may be proclaimed king of Germany, at that. It's easy to make a proclamation. What gruff old Hindenburg or his successor will do with the proclaimers is another story.

When An Industry Quits

Lloyd George estimates that the British coal strike has cost the nation about $2,500,000,000 in the last six months. That is very likely. The lost wages and profits of the labor and capital in the industry itself, though great, are a minor consideration. Other industries have been handicapped, trade has dragged, general business has been prostrated. Peace is said to be hopeless.

Every strike in a fundamental industry has such an effect. Industries are "members one of another." When the coal or iron or transportation industry is tied up by strike, it is as if an individual's stomach or heart or spinal chord were on strike. Society is an organism made up of many organs, all of which have to act together, else the rest suffer and die with it.

It is just as necessary to maintain industrial peace as it is to prevent wars between nations.

Real Americans in Disguise

The Queen of Roumania is said to regret that so far she has not seen America or the real Americans. Of course, no country can be "seen" in a few weeks when the points of vision are confined to hotels, railroad trains and banquet halls. Celebrities rarely have opportunity to see a country in which they travel from any more intimate vantage points. On the whole, however, Queen Marie and her party are doing pretty well and covering an amazing lot of ground in their visit, so that they should at least acquire a feeling for the size of and variety of scene of this country.

When it comes to "real Americans," the royal party is doing still better, but doesn't know it. What more typical citizens have we to offer than the President of the United States and the mayor of New York, not to mention the other public officials and business men with whom the Roumanians have dined or driven or lunched?

The trouble is that the queen has seen these real Americans only in a sort of stage setting, all dressed up and putting on formal manners as etiquette seems require for meeting royalty. If the queen could have slipped into this country as any well-to-do private traveler, she might have had better luck catching Americans in more customary and democratic surroundings, attire and poses.

The Blood-Giver

Most philanthropists give money. Some give time or labor. Raymond Briez, a young Frenchman, gives blood. The other day he submitted to transfusion for the 101st time, giving a quart of his blood to save a patient's life.

He has given 25 gallons of blood in five years, and never taken a cent for it. Once he gave a quart to three different patients in one day. Giving that much in one transfusion would have killed him. Few persons can stand the loss of a quart at a time. Briez's blood cells multiply like yeast germs.

Friends have asked his admission to the Legion of Honor. What war hero is more entitled to membership?

Family Stuff— By Fontaine Fox

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, No. 4.—New York has howled for years about theatrical ticket speculation but does nothing. State laws have been passed to no avail. When a play is a "hit" it means best seats go to reputable agencies and from there into hands of the "gyppers."

There is a maximum 50 cent fee permitted by law allowed the agencies. It is doubtful if they could keep their tickets from going into the hands of "gyps' if they desired. The "gyps" employ "stalls" as 50 cents a head to buy tickets in advance.

Considering they are able to dispose of the tickets at triple the printed price, that fee is of course slight. Only New Yorkers realize the enormity of this graft. Few out-of-towners will stand for the gouge. They sit in the balcony or go to a matinee.

Eventually, of course, it will work irreparable harm to the theatre although the producers smile at such prophecy. It has reached the point already where many lovers of the theatre have abandoned it because of the trouble it requires to secure seats. Try to get a seat two hours after a play is a hit!

For a successful play it is well night impossible to obtain seats far down front. The agencies—where a patron is willing to pay the 50 cents extra—cannot supply them. The tickets have gone into the hands of the "stalls" who work for the "gyps."

The turn-over in theatrical ticket speculation amounts to many millions a year which is, naturally, at the expense of the public that supports it. Producers feel they have expended a fortune on a gamble and why should they take a chance when they can sell the house out for weeks in advance to agencies?

There are any number of those slinking, whispering creatures who accost you after you leave the box office with tickets in their hands who have made fortunes. One indeed in a court action confessed he cleared $71,000 in a single year.

What with the agencies and the cut rate exchanges, theatrical production ceases to be the hazard of other days. If a show begins to wobble, seats are thrown on the block. The show is "leblanged." Which means Joe Leglang, king of the cut rate agents, has bought the house and auctions it off nightly in his mammoth bazaar in the rear of Gray's drug store. His career shows the profits of cut-rating. He once had desk room in the drug store to sell cut rate seats. His business grew so rapidly he bought the drug store on Broadway's most prominent corner merely to serve as an entrance to his auction rooms in the rear and basement. It requires a dozen policemen to handle crowds that collect there a half hour before courtain time. Leblang has backed many shows and puffed life into many slowly dying. He is a multi-millionaire, owning vast mercantile establishments, including a big department store, and several midtown skyscrapers.

Overheard in a cafe: "If you think a rich bootlegger cannot bust into society these days, don't be silly."

Now and then in those restaurants classed as smart there will be a lone diner in precise evening habiliments. He appears detached and goes slowly through the menu from potage to pecans. A wine bucket is at his feet and he takes white wine with his fish and red with his meat in prescribed fashion. Afterwards he dallies with a brandy in a wide flanged glass, reveling in the aroma in the manner of a cat with catnip. He is the last of the gourmands in an eat-on-the-run age.

JUST A TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR

The lecturer on the occult was warming to his subject. He was dealing at this particular point with supernatural manifestations.

"Ah, my friends!" he exclaimed, "if you could all but be made to believe! If only the world would cease from its scoffing and come to realize the truth. I have told you of my own experiences, but surely, surely in this audience is someone else who had direct communication with a departed spirit. If there is any person here present who ever has been in touch with a ghost I would ask him to stand up."

From his seat in the front row of the balcony a solid-looking citizen of a Celtic cast of countenance got upon his feet.

"Here's wan," he stated simply.

The delighted speaker checked an outburst of involuntary applause from the true believers on the lower floor of the house.

"This is very gratifying," he stated. "Behold, a volunteer witness, one who is a stranger to me, arises to give his testimony. My good sir, so I understand you to say that you have been in touch with a ghost?"

"In touch wit' him?" echoed the citizen. "I sh'd say I was in touch wit' him. He butted me till I was black and blue."

"A ghost butted you?"

"Aw, hell!" exclaimed the gentleman as he sank back into his place. "I thought you said a 'goat.'"

Ability Grouping of School Children.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 4.—No one phase of modern public school education is attracting more attention at the present time than the new system of ability grouping of children, especially in the larger cities.

About none, however, are there less authoriative and informative data available, for the reason that no agency has as yet brought together statistics on a large scale to show the results attained and that the figures that are available have not been compiled upon uniform bases so as to admit of unimpeachable analyses and deductions.

This is regarded as unfortunate by leading educators who are unreservedly "sold" on the new system, but who find it difficult in some cases to sell it to conservative school boards and to taxpayers and parents, who, in many instances, in the absence of conclusive proof as to the merits of the innovation have criticised or condemned it before seeing it tried out.

Ability grouping of school children means, if carried to its logical conclusion, the segregating of the bright, average, dull, and subnormal, or atypical, pupils; giving them work on the basis of their mental and physical ability, and expecting results from them in proportion to their ability. As practically applied in many cases it means the dividing of the children in a given grade into "bright" and "dull" groups.

This terminology is unfortunate in that it invites antagonism from non-understanding parents. Fathers and mothers instinctively resent having their children classed as "dull." Mr. and Mrs. Jones will admit that their Johnny is backward, or a plodder, but they will insist that if he has the right kind of a teacher he can keep up with his class, and that it is the fundamental duty of the schools to provide the right kind of teachers. At any rate, they want their Johnny to have a chance to show what he can do along with the boys and girls of his age.

Different Kinds of Ages.

And when an attempt is made to talk to such parents about Johnny's IQ—his intelligence quotient—they not infrequently go straight up in the air and refuse to come down to listen to reason or advice. If they are told that every child has two ages—his mental age, and his physical or chronological age—and that his IQ, which indicates where he should be in school, is determined by dividing his mental age by his chronogical age, they are prone to say that is all rot. They stand pat on their conviction that if Johnny has had a certain number of birthdays he ought to be in a certain grade, and be promoted regularly.

But, happily, parents are being taught, as well as children. They are learning that all children are not alike in mental equipment any more than they are in physique or in the color of their hair. They are grasping the idea that it is just as bad to hold back an alert, bright young as it is to attempt to force a backward, less mentally active child through holding them to the same class room standards.

The bright child tends to minimize his efforts because he lacks incentive.

WELLSVILLE SOLONS SEEK PEACE IN MAYOR'S CABINET

FOGO-ASHLEY BREAK PROMPTS PRIVATE MEET

Committee Named to Attempt to Bring About Reconciliation.

WORK HELD UP

Special Conference Will be Held Friday Night.

A special conference of council members, appointed at last night's adjourned meeting of the solons, together with Solicitor S. C. Luccock, Auditor Fred Eckfeld and other city officials will be held privately on Friday night at 7:30 o'clock in the auditor's office for the purpose of trying to effect a reconciliation between Mayor W. L. Fogo and former Safety-Service Director George P. Ashley.

Arrangements for the special session were rushed through by solons at last night's meting when the solicitor pointed out that the absence of a service-safety director would not only prevent the completion of contractural relations with the Ohio Power company for the installation of a better lighting system but also hinder other municipal operations which demand action by the director.

According to a recent ruling in common pleas court, no other city official possesses the legal power to act for the service-safety director in practically any instance, especially in cases where the latter's signature is required. Solons had this in mind when they launched the peace movement.

Council will be represented at the conference by members W. S. Connor, First ward; W. B. Nicholson, Fourth ward, and C. S. Peters, Second ward.

Suggestion which led to councilmanic action came first from Solicitor Luccock who said that the number of important legislative matters demanding immediate action, make it imperative that a service-safety director be established in office at once.

The question of lights, which is about to be settled for a period of ten years, at least, as a result of a contract with the Ohio Power company, with the installation of a greatly improved lighting system throughout the city, was brought to the attention of council by W. B. Nicholson.

"The people are demanding lights, they voted for lights, and they are entitled to get them," declared Nicholson, "and therefore, I move that a committee from council be named to try to fix up this controversy right now."

Solon Raymond McLean seconded the motion and President Baker named his committee.

COUNCIL MAKES FUND TRANSFER

Needed $150 to Pay for Repairs on City Hall.

City council last night authorized the transfer of $150 from the safety fund to the service fund for repairs on the city hall building. The measure was approved as an emergency resolution.

Solons recently directed the service department to make repairs to the roof of the building, through which water was leaking.

Solicitor Luccock pointed out to council, in connection with a discussion on lights, that the Ohio Power company could make no move toward buying the standards for the white way system here without first consulting head officers of the company.

The contract with the company, as drawn up, did not take the standards into consideration, and the company's bid was made with no reference to the property in conformity with the city's advertisement for bids.

In order to effect a sale of the standards, the solicitor said, it would be necessary to retrace these legislative steps and this would mean a delay of several weeks or more in the installation of the lighting system planned by council.

No action was taken on the announcement that Harry Brannon, local auto dealer, would install a danger signal if council permitted, directly in front of the Ninth street school building in order to warn motorists of the abrupt turn there.

President Clyde Baker suggested that cinders be used in improving conditions in Eleventh street and Buckeye avenue. No action was taken.

$3,000 MORE APPROPRIATED FOR REPAIRS

Maximum Fund for Sewer Work Set at $6,000.

VERBAL CLASH

Solon Connor Suggests Contractor Should Do Work.

City council last night authorized the issuance of a certificate of indebtedness amounting to $3,000, in addition to the certificate issued some time ago for the first $3,000, for repair work on city sewers, last night's resolution limiting the maximum amount for repair work, for the present, to $6,000.

According to City Auditor Fred Eckfeld, $4,000 has already been spent on the repair work. As a result, $2,000 will be left for further operations.

In connection with the passage of the resolution, Councilman Connor made the suggestion that, in his opinion, it would be better to let the job to a contractor, his remarks prompting a lively verbal debate with Mayor W. L. Fogo.

Connor, following the motion to pass the resolution, said, "I think the job ought to be done by a contractor and that's the only way I'll vote for it."

"Finish it up as it is," declared Solon Fred Heldman, in defense of municipal forces.

Mayor Fogo asserted that "We don't want $7,000 or anything like that to clean up McQueen's Run. It's needed all over town. There are gutters and sewers that must be attended to, the run between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, and besides, the run that filled Davidson's cellar with water demands attention. Such things as that are likely to lead into damage suits. Twenty-second street is in better shape than it has been for years."

"It ought to be," remarked Councilman Connor.

"We've worked hard on that job," continued the mayor. "We've filled out the street to its proper level again. Conditions like this are to be found all over town. This has been a real emergency. It was a flood, not a freshet. And no contractor could have men who would do it any better than the ones that have been working on this job."

"I still believe that a contractor could do it better," insisted Connor. "More work could be gotten out of the men by a contractor."

"How?" demanded Mayor Fogo. "Haven't we been watching the job enough?"

"Yes," replied Connor, "there has been enough watching."

"How could any contractor get more work out of his men?" The mayor asked the question again. "These men have been working hard on that job and deserve a great deal of credit for what they've done. They are building a breaker now to keep the stone and debris out of McQueen's run. The Lisbon road demands attention as well as a dozen other places in town."

The resolution was passed as an emergency measure, with Connor casting a negative vote.

The first resolution passed by council called for an appropriation of $3,000 for the work. In the meantime, $4,000 has been spent, making it necessary to appropriate further funds for a continuation of the repair job.

SEVENTEENTH STREET SEWER ISSUE LOSES

Needed 55 Percent Vote in Order to Carry.

SOLICITOR RULES

Mere Majority is Not Sufficient, Says Luccock.

Contrary to the opinion existing in official circles yesterday following Tuesday's general election, the $24,000 Seventeenth street sewer bond issue, proposed by the city as a relief from poor drainage conditions in the district, did not carry.

City Solicitor S. C. Luccock today announced that the issue required a 55 per cent vote, and the small majority of little more than half a dozen votes was not sufficient to swing the issue.

The opinion was held by Solicitor Luccock yesterday that a majority vote would serve, but a further investigation of laws yesterday afternoon led to the discovery that the issue, which was submitted under provisions of a law passed in March by the state legislature, must have a 55 per cent vote.

As a result of the finding, every municipal issue submitted to Wellsville electors was defeated, with the exception of the fire truck bond issue which carried by a vote of 889 to 655, with the city hall repair proposal, the Thirteenth and the Twentieth street sewer propositions also going down to defeat.

FEDERAL JUDGE, FACING IMPEACHMENT, RESIGNS

G. W. ENGLISH ESCAPES TRIAL BEFORE SENATE

Resignation Brought to White House by Counsel.

IT IS ACCEPTED

Illinois Jurist Charged With Bankruptcy Ring Role.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—George W. English, federal judge for the eastern district of Illinois, who was to face an impeachment trial before the senate on Nov. 10, today submitted his resignation to President Coolidge.

It will mean that English will escape the trial, full preparations for which already have been made.

English's resignation was brought to the White House by Edward C. Kramer, of East St. Louis, Ill., his chief counsel.

President Coolidge accepted it immediately.

It is not believed that the government will attempt to prosecute English in the courts, as the department of justice was said to feel that his resignation in face of an impeachment trial was sufficient punishment.

In the articles of impeachment from the house, English was charged with participating in a bankruptcy ring, with favoritism, and unruly conduct on the bench.

Fight Precedes Impeachment.

A long and bitter fight resulted in the house before it voted impeachment. A house committee conducted hearings in East St. Louis, English's home.

English has not sat on the bench since his impeachment by the house last spring.

Rumors of English's resignation have been current here for some time. They first bobbed up when William F. Zumbrunn, counsel for the Ku Klux Klan, resigned as a member of the defense legal staff.

Although it will not sit as a court of impeachment, the senate must meet on Nov. 10. The resolution adopted last summer called for convening at 12:30 o'clock on next Wednesday, and there is no way now that this order can be blocked.

The adjournment resolution did not specifically call for a special meeting to hold the trial, and senate attaches pointed out today that the senate, if it desires, may do business. The chances are, however, the senate will promptly adjourn to meet regularly on Dec. 6.

KIWANIS HEARS FOOD EXPERT

Cooking School Lecturer Speaks at Noon Luncheon.

Mrs. George O. Thurn, food expert, lecturer and demonstrator, who is conducting a free cooking school in the Eagles' Temple, under auspices of The Review-Tribune, addressed the Kiwanis club at a luncheon meeting in Larkins' annex, Market street, today.

She was introduced by President C. C. Cline, who presided at the luncheon.

Fifty-five members and their guests attended the meeting. The chorus singing was led by Prof. Hugh F. Laughlin and Prof. Ralph E. Mitchell, Columbus, who is conducting the music in conection with a union evangelistic service in Chester. W. F. Lones, common pleas judge-elect, and a member of the Wellsville club, was a guest.

Mrs. Thurn described her cooking school and the various phases of the housewife's work. She voiced a plea for modern household appliances and inventions as a means of lessening the burdens of housekeeping.

ALL JURORS ARE 50 OR OLDER

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4.—All the jurors in the Hall-Mills case, with the exception of two, are 50 years old or older. Four are in their sixties.

Frank A. Dunster, the foreman, is 69 and the father of seven children.

The jury is made up of six farmers, a retired teamster, two clerks, a mason, an overseer and a blacksmith.

Hall-Mills Trial

before getting out to see what happened?" Simpson asked.

"About seven or eight minutes."

"You sat there in your car, knowing something had happened and waited that long before making any investigation?"

"I did."

"You are a married man?" Simpson inquired.

"I am."

"Well, what did you see or hear?"

"I heard the mumbling of voices. Then I heard a shot. Then a woman screamed. Then there were three shots. Then I heard moaning."

The witness then was excused.

Miss Rastall On Stand.

Miss Rastall was then called to the stand. She gazed at the spectators timidly from beneath a green hat which almost hid her face.

She admitted she drove to the lane with Gorsline on the night of the murder.

"Did you hear or see anything?" Simpson asked.

"Yes, I heard the mumbling of voices—directly in back of our car. Then I heard a shot, a scream and three more shots."

"How far away was the sound of the shots?"

"I should say several hundred feet."

"How far away were the voices you heard?"

"Directly back of our car."

"Were they quarrelling or just conversing?" asked Robert McCarter, of defense counsel.

"Conversing."

Miss Rastall said she thought "two or three minutes" elapsed from the time she heard the mumbling voices behind the car and the shots.

Miss Rastall was then excused.

George E. Totten, former county detective of Somerset county, was the next witness.

William James Berryman, who made maps of St. John the Evangelist church of New Brunswick, was the first witness today. His testimony was begun yesterday.

Mrs. Frances Hall and her two brothers, "Willie" and Henry Stevens, who are charged with the murder, took their places just back of the defense counsel table. Mrs. Hall was very pale and bore an air of detached interest. She sat quietly next to "Willie" who gazed around the court curiously through his thick-lensed glasses. Another large crowd jammed the tiny court room.

The map-maker, a black-haired man with a round pleasant face, was asked by Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson if the maps he had made of Dr. Hall's church were correct as to their physical features.

"They are," he replied.

He was then excused and the Rev. J. Marvin Pettit, rector of Christ church, New Brunswick was called. Rev. Pettit, man of benign appearance, and high forehead, wore shell rimmed glasses. He identified Ralph Gorsline, vestryman of his church, and Berryman's map which he said was correct. The map was then introduced into evidence.

State's Star Witness Ill.

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4.—Mrs. Jane Gibson, one of the state's star witnesses in the Hall-Mills murder trial, is ill in Somerset hospital and her condition may not permit her to testify in court today or tomorrow as planned.

She is the famous "pig woman," who was riding on her mule near De Russey's lane on the night four years ago when the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills were slain.

Mrs. Gibson collapsed in an anti-room in the court house late yesterday and was taken to her temporary home which is under the guard of state troopers.

Late last night her condition took a turn for the worse and she was taken to Somerset hospital. She was better today, although her temperature ran high.

Mrs. Gibson is reported to be suffering from a serious ailment.

"Napoleon of New Jersey Bar."

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 4—Alexander Simpson, "Napoleon of the New Jersey bar," is putting the big "kick" in the Hall-Mills murder trial.

This fiery little prosecutor with the abrupt, cocksure manner and clear, resonant voice, is seemingly attempting to confound the expensive array of defense counsel by the "unorthodox" methods he is employing in pressing the state's accusation that Mrs. Frances Noel Hall and her brothers, Henry and "Willie" Stevens, were the slayers of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, four years ago.

Today Simpson stands forth as one of the most picturesque and intriguing figures in the trial. It is Simpson who "starts things." And in what sudden and unexpected manner.

He already has placed the defense attorneys at their wits' ends to meet his quick, menacing legal thrusts. All alone down in the courtroom "pit" he is battling the half dozen attorneys for the other side in a confident, swaggering and sometimes utterly scornful manner.

He surprised the defense first of all by taking only 20 minutes to present the state's case to the jury. He quickly pictured the growth of intimacy between Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills, contended Mrs. Hall was jealous of the pretty young choir singer, outlining his theory of the murder, promised the jury he would support his charges with the "facts," and let it go at that. He gave the defense and courtroom observers the impression that he has an ace or two in the hole.

VOLSTEAD LAW ASSAULT SEEN IN SIX STATES

Political Leaders Fear Outbreak at National Conventions.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Disturbing probability that both major parties will be confronted with determined assaults on the Volstead law in their national conventions of 1928 faced political leaders today as belated returns permitted a more comprehensive survey of the wet-and-dry battles fought in many states Tuesday.

The present trend, as revealed in the balloting, is distinctly wet. The wets gleefully acclaim it. The drys somewhat ruefully admit it, although they contend it means nothing.

Six states of the eight which voted on a definite question printed on the ballots voiced disapproval of the Volstead law.

New York and Illinois voted to have congress restore to individual states the right to say what is and what is not intoxicating liquor.

Wisconsin voted for modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer.

Nevada voted in favor of a constitutional convention to revise or amend the 18th Amendment, and on another specific question: "Is prohibition a failure?" Nevada voted "yes."

Montana voted to repeal all state laws for enforcing the Volstead act except that which forbids sales to minors.

California voted to repeal the Wright state amendment act, one of the most rigorous state statutes ever written.

The drys emerged with a narrow victory in Colorado, while in Missouri the wets boycotted the question because of the manner in which it was presented on the ballots.

Two More Wets in Senate.

In addition to these victories, two wet votes have been added in the senate in the election of David I. Walsh in Massachusetts and M. E. Tydings in Maryland. Both are Democratic. In the house the wets have gained additional votes, the exact number doubtful yet. But the wets claim a dozen to fifteen outright, with the converting of many other dry votes because of the decisions in their states.

So far as the seventieth congress is concerned, it will be, for all practical purposes, as dry as its predecessor. The wets have increased their strength but are still far from enough votes to change anything.

WOMAN ELUDES MANIAC KILLER

Toledo Police Renew Search for Mysterious "Clubber."

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 4.—Toledo police today renewed their search for the mysterious "slugger" who has killed four women and assaulted numerous others, when a woman reported to them that she was badly frightened by the slugger and narrowly escaped his attack.

Mrs. J. Rayon, 34, of Twelfth street, reported today that a man leaped from behind a tree as she was about to enter her home late last night and shouted: "I'll get you, too.'"

She ran screaming into the house, and the man fled.

Mrs. Rayon's home is near the school house where Miss Lily Croy, a young school teacher, was beaten to death recently by the maniacal clubber.

Guard New York Jails After Fatal Battle in Tombs

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — Heavily armed guards were posted at the gates of all of New York City's penal institutions today as a precaution against a possible repetition of the pitched gun battle staged in tombs prison yesterday when three desperate prisoners attempted a jail break, and failing that sold their lives in a futile effort to shoot their way to freedom.

As a result of the battle two of the prisoners, Warden Mallon and another prison keeper were dead today, "Red" McKenna, leader of the prisoners, was in Beekman street hospital with a bullet in his brain, at the point of death, and another prison keeper was seriously wounded with a bullet in his back. A civilian witness of the shooting affray was wounded in the hand.

TOLEDO WORKER IS DECAPITATED

TOLEDO, Nov. 4.—Robert Hillenkamp, assistant manager of the Acme White Lead company works here, was decapitated in an elevator shaft of the building here today.

Hillenkamp was lowering a freight elevator from which he leaned at the third floor. The lift caught his head, cutting it off, then descended to the ground floor with his body.

pretends to be independent. But one is as "safe and sound" as the other.

HUMAN beings cost money to raise, and many are not worth it at all. The imperfect being, all preserved, and children of the ablest made worthless by their father's money success.

California's state board of health says a two-year-old-baby costs less per day than at any other age—less sickness than at any time, less expense in other ways.

FROM two to twenty years cost steadily rise. After sixty it falls off—fewer teeth, eat less, clothes last longer, life runs quietly and nonsense is calming down.

All interesting, but the state board does not tell us why we live at all, or why it was necessary to put us here in the first place.

THE death of Houdini puzzles Conan Doyle, because Houdini never drank, never smoked. Some doctors would say that helps to explain his death. Able men told E. H. Harriman he would have lived a longer life had he drunk light beer, and relaxed.

They even say that teetotalism is safe only for those that do very little thinking, and do that little gently.

That's a terrible insult to prohibition and ice water, but that is what able scientists say. They say also, by the way, that a sure pat to early death is bootleg whisky.

ONE-SIXTH of an inch yearly seems small. But that would be a foot and a half a century, and with such a sinking Pike's Peak would be below the Atlantic ocean in much less time than it took the horse to change to a one-toed animal.

REPORTS FROM STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — A spurt in the industrial stocks at the beginning of trading today, due chiefly to short covering, failed to carry through, and the higher price levels invited a flood of selling orders which promptly wiped out the results of the early price gains.

The over-night developments were favorable, including the maintenance of record car loadings, the continuance of the 4 per cent rediscount rate by the Boston bank, and the constructive survey of the automobile trade by the head of the General Motors Corporation. Call money was unchanged at 4 1-2 per cent.

WITHOUT CROSS WE ARE LOST, DR. MEL MORRIS TELLS CROWD

Through it Alone are Men Saved, Says Evangelist.

BAPTIST MEET

Isaiah's Prophecy Read Preceding Forceful Sermon.

"Through the Cross of Jesus Christ and it alone are men saved" declared Rev. Mel Morris at the First Baptist church revival on Fifth street, last evening. "Without it all are lost." His subject was "The Cross."

Preceding his sermon Rev. Mr. Morris feelingly read the 53rd chapter of Isaiah which 700 years before its fulfilment prophesied what ultimately came to pass on the Cross as the Son of Man sacrificed His life for the redemption of humanity.

"This passage of Isaiah's prophecy is one of the greatest prophesies in the Old Testament," the evangelist declared. It is so wonderful that no intelligent person would even today deny it. It presaged what centuries later came to pass and indicates in detail what and how the supreme sacrifice of all time nullifies sin while making possible the soul redemption of him or her who has fallen victim to the irregularity which separates man from God."

Following numerous prayers by laymen and laywomen of the congregation invocation was made by Rev. Angelo W. Bonacci, head of the Faith Italian mission, of Wellsville.

With pertinent address to hymns of special evangelistic import the song service was unique in absence of solos and the singing of the usual revival favorites, that have been taught since his arrival by Marion Ball, musical director, the single exception being the singing of the chorus of one of the hymns utilized in Chinese by the pastor, Rev. A. H. O'Brien, who in his younger days in the ministry was a missionary to China. Miss Edith Higgins assisted Miss Ruby Aley as accompanist.

Movement was made of the coming in a body to the revival on Thursday evening of a large delegation of employes from the C. C. Thompson Pottery company.

With the election over the attendance showed a marked increase of men present, the church auditorium being occupied almost to capacity. As on previous nights of the campaign the Baptist congregation was augmented by many members of other churches in the city.

Following the sermon that developed serious thinking on all the hearers an after-service of prayer followed which was given to lively testimony and good fellowship handshaking, the whole culminating with a hearty, but fervent "Amen" by those in the auditorium.

Stolen Car Fired; Two Other Machines Reported Missing

Willys-Knight sedan, belonging to B. W. Clark, Daisy alley, stolen while parked near the corner of Second and Union streets, Monday night, was located near the Stewart Brothers' farm on the Hookstown-Chester road yesterday. The machine had been fired.

Two more cars were stolen last night. One, a Ford, belonging to Clarence Means of Alpha street, East End was taken while parked on East Fourth street near the Carnegie Library while the owner was attending the Ceramic theatre. It carried license number B-94-542. The other car was a Chevrolet sedan, 1925 model, and belonged to W. S. Pittenger, a teller at the First National bank, who resides on Lincoln highway. Pittinger had the machine parked in Crook alley, near the bank. Its license number was 240-937.

At 1:30 o'clock this afternoon police announced that the Pittenger car had been located near Thompson park, where it had been abandoned, while the Means machine was found back of Newell. Both cars had been stripped, police said.

Mellett Death Count

the alleged "trigger man" includes the following:

On the night of the assassination of Mellett, Pat showed a certain Canton man a pistol and said: "I have a big job on tonight."

He lived in Canton several weeks with Steve Kascholk, the informer, while the murder was being planned.

He has been completely identified by six persons as the man who spied out the lay of the land about the slain publisher's home several nights before the murder and also loitered about the offices of the Canton Daily News seeking to get a "line on Mellett's activities."

And that he went into a certain district of a town near Canton to report concerning the murder and to receive money.

The above information together with much more complete data of McDermott's activities are in the possession of Prosecutor McClintock, from whom the details were learned.

Market Bags, Fish Salad and Bouquet Awarded.

The Eagles' temple presented an unusual spectacle today when crowds of women assembled for the third session of the Review-Tribune four-day cooking school, conducted under the guidance of Mrs. George O. Thurn, authority on not only the preparation of foods but their scientific value as well.

Assembled on the platform for the cooking school is a model kitchen equipped with the most modern of labor saving devices for the housewife and arranged by Mrs. Thurn to show how steps may be saved in the kitchen.

"The up-to-date household is one that affords every member of the family group a good home and still leaves for the housewife-manager time enough to take her part in civic or community affairs and enjoy enough recreation to keep herself in condition of poise and mental alertness," declared Mrs. Thurn in her talk yesterday.

"Make your pad and pencil save your heels" she recommended.

There will be only one more session of the Review-Tribune Cooking school. Make your plans now to come early so that you may be sure of getting a good seat. Many market baskets were given away today and more will be awarded tomorrow. The winners yesterday were: Mrs. George Waulmaker, 312 West Third street; Mrs. H. G. East Liverpool-Salem Tilt May Decide County Grid Honors

Kidder-Cox Combine At Peak of Form For Battle With Rivals

Captain Dick Larkins, Halfback McConville and Bromby Back in Harness for Important Contest; Red and Black Hangs Up Great Record With Six Consecutive Victories.

A FAST, charging line, powerful as well on defensive movements; lightning ends; light, fleet backs, who can sweep around the flanks or plow the line with equal adaptability and who are versed to the letter in the use and execution of straight plays and trick performances; a team that has won six games without a break; a team that has piled up 107 points in those half-dozen combats to their opponents' 18.

This is the Salem high school gridiron aggregation that the Kidder-Cox combine of East Liverpool will face Saturday in the game that probably will decide the disposition of Columbiana county scholastic conference title honors for 1926.

This football battle between the Blue and White and the Red and Black will be waged at Reilly Field in Salem and it is certain that the Ceramic City will send quite a large delegation of fans to the Quaker City to trade verbal bouquets with followers of the rival team.

The home field factor may appeal to some as a decidedly advantageous factor for the Salem eleven but on the other hand there are certain other phases that may work out to the advantage of the Blue and White.

Use Full Strength.

Probably of greatest importance to local followers is the fact that Coach Kidder likely will send his full strength against the Salemites, with Captain Dick Larkins back at center and with Bromby and McConville ready for backfield duty. Bromby played only part of Saturday's affair with Lisbon and is in condition to do his stuff this week. McConville is possibly the only doubtful member on the hospital roster.

In addition there will be Kirkham, Fullerton, Van Dyne, Pusey, Lincoln, Deidrick and others available for backfield duty and it is possible Kidder may use his ball carriers in shifts, a plan that worked out successfully against Lisbon.

The other advantageous factor for East Liverpool lies in the possibility that Salem, keyed to an unusually high pitch for the Alliance clash last Saturday, may unconsciously let down a little.

To Salem, the Alliance game is the big event of the football year and the Red and Black's thirst for glory last week was adequately quenched in a 15 to 6 victory. Having killed the fatted calf, and feasted fully the Salemites may be prone to loaf a little, whether they realize it or not.

In this event the Blue and White should be set for a killing of its own with their arch rivals as victims.

Salem Record.

The Salem record of six victories and no defeats does not include any pushovers, with one possible exception, Akron Garfield, a new school in the Rubber City, which went down before a 32 to 0 pasting.

In the first game of the season Salem took over Louisville by two touchdowns. Then came the Garfield game.

Their closest call was the week later when they nosed out a 9 to 6 decision over Akron West, a touchdown and a field goal doing the work. They didn't get away so handily at Struthers either where they emerged with a 10 to 6 conquest, the scoring being the same as in the Akron West game with the exception that Salem added a point from touchdown.

Following their Struthers engagement, the Red and Black invaded Wellsville, and, after being held to a 3-0 score in the first half, piled on 26 more in the second and came away with a 29-0 victory. Last Saturday they had their big day when Alliance went down, 15 to 6.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

by Norman E. Brown.

THE time has come, as the walrus is said to have remarked when the cuckoo clock arrived from Germany, to ponder over possible selections for the annual mythical All-American football team.

Here goes for some of the eligible men, as I see them.

The Big Ten teams as usual present several candidates, and two of them are Marty Karow, captain and fullback of Ohio State University, and Benny Friedman, captain and quarter back of Michigan.

BEN FRIEDMAN

MARTY KAROW

Karow has played a leading part in giving Ohio its strongest team since the days of Chick Harley. Marty's brilliant play on offensive and defense was the highspot of the Buckeys' victory over Chicago—a victory that broke a three-year tie between the schools. He played an important part in the earlier victories over Columbia and Iowa. He is one of the great line plungers of the day.

Friedman is the main spring of the Michigan eleven, one of the greatest forward passers in the game, a good field general and a good booter. The Michigan forward passing comination, Friedman and Oosterbaan, is probably the greatest pair in the game. The passing of Tully and Oberlander of Dartmouth, last fall, left them supreme in the field, I believe.

Friedman led the team to brilliant victories over Minnesota and Illinois the Wolverines faced the Navy. Neit—Big Ten conference battles—before her the Minnesota team nor the Illini scored on the Michigan eleven and under Friedman's hand the Yoste ran up a total of 33 points on the two opponents.

Oddly enough both stars hail from Cleveland, O.

INSIDE GOLF

By CHESTER HORTON,

Maker of 51 Golf Champions. "Golf's most successful teacher," says "Chick" Evans.

When testing for right balance by suspending the club from the right shoulder and you find that when you straighten up so the head of the club hangs even with the right-foot instep you are so far away from the ball you could not reach it, the thing to do, obviously, is to move up closer to the ball. One of the commonest faults of having the weight too far forward is an attendant tendency to reach too far for the ball. There should be only the slightest reaching for the ball, if any at all. If you use a noticeable reach your weight is almost certain to be too far forward. Perhaps you hit a fair ball this way, but you do it with something of a struggle—a fight. Standing with your weight correctly balanced you would do it easily, gracefully and with rhythm, for rhythm flows from a sense of good balance.

IT SHOULD NOT BE NECESSARY TO "REACH" FOR BALL

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 4.—The Harvard coaches concentrated on perfecting the varsity's defense against Princeton's forward passing in the team's final workout today.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—In the Carnegie Tech contest Saturday the N. Y. U. players will wear their new silk football pants and rubber hip pads, which have added speed to the scrimmages. Using new formations, the regulars waded through the scrubs for several touchdowns yesterday.

COBB TO BUY ATLANTA CLUB

Will be Succeeded at Detroit by George Moriarity.

DETROIT, Nov. 4.—Ty Cobb, one of the most colorful players in baseball, who has severed his connection with the Detroit American League Club will take over the controlling interest of the Atlanta club of the Southern league, it was reliably reported today. He will be succeeded as manager of the Tigers by George Moriarty, former Tiger third baseman, but more recently American League umpire.

Cobb, it was learned, tried to buy into the Detroit club but to no avail. As owner of the Atlanta team and probably as a player, Ty will have a chance to realize his reported ambition to be a magnate.

Cobb's record in the American League extended over a period of 21 years, 15 years as player and six years as player-manager.

Cobb is credited by many with revolutionizing baseball. It was Ty who started going from first to third on a bunt, and he holds all time records for almost everything except knocking home runs.

SEEK FEATHER CROWN WEARER

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—With the object of establishing a successor to Louis Kid Kaplan in the featherweight class, officials of Madison Square Garden today were endeavoring to match Benny Bass, of Philadelphia, with the winner of the bout between Honeyboy Finnegan and Chick Suggs in Boston. This match was postponed last night for one week owing to an injury to one of Finnegan's eyes. Kaplan resigned from the class some time ago because of his inability to make the weight.

Middies Rank Among Season's Best Teams

Performance Against Michigan Makes Them Outstanding; Powerful Line Greatest Factor Toward Success.

By DAVID J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Not being equipped with fallen arches of the cranium, I can only see my way clear to stating that, up to and including the precise moment, the Naval Academy looks to have one of the great football teams of the year. It may be the greatest but, as to that, the man is a sap who attempts to call them out of turn. Try to anticipate even the immediate future and you lose. So also does the team with which you string.

No one, however, can or will take issue with the statement that the Navy was a great team against Michigan not later than five days ago. Furthermore, it seemed to be an outfit that should get better instead of worse, for most of its men are just coming to their best. I thought the Navy was great because of its line.

Two Great Linemen.

As a pair, I haven't seen a better offensive and defensive combination all year than Eddy and Wickhorst at the tackle position. Weight 415 pounds in toto, they yet had the speed, the drive and the intelligence to keep all plays in front of them on defense and to tear real, lasting holes in the opposition on attack.

They are only links in a strong chain, at that. The Navy used a lot of split center plays against Michigan and all of them gained because the center trio of Cross, Hoerner and Born simply cleaned up. You could have driven a band wagon through the holes. Cross and Born didn't have much to do on defense but they did it well. As for Hoerner, it was his vigilance, teamed up with Hamilton's, that broke the back of the Michigan passing game.

The ends, Lloyd and Hardwick, were almost flawless. Lloyd, a 200-pound specimen with a turn of speed, looked the part of an all-American possibility. Williamson is another good wing and Olsen an able second stringer in the line.

What a line that is. Fast, aggressive, experienced, intelligent and averaging 191 pounds, it reflects all possible credit upon the coaching of "Rip" Miller, just as the play of the backfield and the team in general redounds to the honor of "Navy Bill" Ingram.

Have Great Backfield.

The boys thought the backfield was good. It was. That being the case, what will it be when Shapely, the best back in the squad, returns to his position as he ultimately will. The improvement will be in proportion to that which followed when Caldwell, an obscure substitute, suddenly found himself late in the Colgate game and now is the leading ball runner of the varsity.

He seems to have just a trifle more punch than Hamilton but the latter takes the play away from his rival by his marked versatility, which not only includes excellent ball running but punting, passing, field goal kicking and just about as natty a defensive game as one could care to view. Hamilton's punting was uncertain against Michigan but it was noted that he didn't muff any chances when the going was rough.

Goudge directed the team very ably, which means that Hannegan will step out when Shapely steps in. Hannegan will find plenty of worthy company, Ransford and Schuber, ex-regulars, having been forced out by Goudge and Caldwell.

STAGG IS HURT IN SCRIMMAGE

Veteran Coach May be Temporarily Crippled.

CHICAGO, Nov. 4.—Alonzo A. Stagg, coach of the University of Chicago football team, was confined to his home today as a result of injuries sustained late yesterday while directing scrimmage between the varsity and freshmen teams.

While the injuries are not likely to prove serious, the veteran coach may be temporarily crippled, his physician announced. His presence on the field Saturday for the Illinois game is doubtful, it was said.

Stagg was caught in the center of a play and one of the plunging freshmen butted him with his head. Stagg went down and was buried under a heap of football brawn.

After first aid had been administered on the field, Stagg was taken to his home.

Bezdek Shifts Lineup.

"HAVE A CAMEL" INVITES YOU TO THE WORLD'S MOST POPULAR SMOKE

In popularity with smokers, no other cigarette is within a thousand miles of Camel. Camels have been rewarded with the greatest favor any cigarette ever enjoyed. In all the history of smoking, there was never such a growing preference as for this cigarette.

There is but one reason for the increasing fame of Camels — tobacco goodness.

From the beginning, Camel has made its way by quality. The choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos and endless care for perfection are the meaning of Camels, and Camel quality. As new millions try them all, as they become experienced smokers, they come home to Camels.

Camel mildness and mellowness are made for your taste. . . . They will bring you the utmost smoking pleasure. Try them now. For a smoke that never tires the taste, literally never leaves a cigarette after-taste—"Have a Camel!"

Dempsey, 'Plain Guy,' Better Liked Than Dempsey, Champ

NEW YORK, Nov. 4. — Babe Ruth was at bat and a hush was on the multitude. The occasion was one of the games of the recent world series; the popular mind was fixed on the impelling situation of Ruth versus the pitcher.

Suddenly there was a stir, a murmur, then a rising in the seats and a roar of welcome. For Ruth? Not by the height of your alabaster brow.

The great American public was acclaiming a new idol, who had been once an old pariah. There is absolutely no accounting for the whimsies of crowd psychology. The man being cheered was Jack Dempsey.

A month before and he would have been hooted out of countenance, stared at coldly or ignored. But now he was a champion no longer, a man shorn of all honors save those of a boxer who took his defeat gracefully. So they pulled and hauled at him, shook his hand, clapped his back, caressed ear with a lot of sweet nothings and otherwise fed the vanity that all men know.

Dempsey is far more popular in defeat than ever he was in victory. He tells me that he received hundreds of letters commiserating with him over the loss of his title to Gene Tunney. If he got a personal letter in the old days, the odds were 100 to 1 it was a bleat.

They produced Dempsey and Tunney in the same ring at the Garden during a recent heavyweight show and Dempsey got the shock of his life. So did Tunney. The latter was greeted by polite applause mingled with a large and enthusiastic boo. Dempsey nearly "stole" the show, getting an ovation that sounded like Niagara during the rainy season.

Neither Dempsey nor Tunney had done anything to merit their wholly dissimilar receptions. One was a man who had been vastly unpopular as a champion and figured to be no less so after he lost the title. The other was one of those rarities, a native New Yorker, and there had been nothing in his life, his demeanor or his fight with Dempsey to earn approbrium from any one.

What is the answer? Possibly it may be found in the inevitable leaning of the public toward the man who is down.

However, I should say, offhand that the source of the reaction strikes a somewhat deeper level and that Jack Kearns is its unwitting author. In brief, I think that sympathy for Dempsey was excited by the writs of attachment and the various court proceedings instituted against him by Kearns, it being evident the boys feel that fate dealt a few off the bottom to the ex-champion.

Mounts, In Great Trim Physically, Ready For Miami

Klippert, Hurt Saturday, Returns to Lineup.

ALLIANCE, Nov. 4.—Without a casualty, for the first time this season, Mount Union college gridders are down to delayed scrimmage for the gruelling tilt with Miami at Oxford Saturday.

Mount emerged from the let-up clash with Hiram here last Saturday without an injury, save for the temporary disability incurred by Klippert, 210-pound tackle. Klippert's knee went bad during the game and he was carried off the field. He is back in uniform this week.

Three more games and the curtain will drop on Mount's grid card. Two of the three are road tilts—the first Saturday at Miami and the second the following Saturday at Kenyon.

November 20 is still an open date on the Purple schedule. Wooster will meet the Purple in the last game of the year on Thanksgiving day.

New combinations in both backfield and line, developed in the Hiram game, are being worked out this week and a revamped lineup may take the field when the Purple trots out against Miami.

LIBERTYS SET FOR LISBON TILT

The Liberty Billiards Sunday will play their second game of the season away from home when they mix with the Wicky Indians, at Lisbon. The clash will be staged at Harbaugh field.

On the following Sunday the Libertys will play a Pittsburgh Northside eleven at Sherwood.

The following squad will go to Lisbon: Garvey and Stockdale, ends; Pickall and J. Dimmerling, tackles; Russell and Watson, guards; M. Wooley, center; Plant, quarter; Amos and Gilchrist, halves; M. Dyer or J. Johnson, fullback.

JACK FOURNIER GIVEN RELEASE

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Jacques Fournier, veteran first baseman, at his own request, has been granted an unconditional release by the Brooklyn National league club, it was announced today. Fournier said he had an opportunity to manage a minor league club and wishes to open negotiations for the position.

Fournier formerly played with the Chicago White Sox, New York Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals and up to this year was one of the leading sluggers of baseball.

Montevideo has asked its street car companies to equip all cars with automatic brakes.

South Africa railways handled 5,000,000 more passengers in the last year than in any previous twelvemonth.

COBB IS FIFTH PILOT TO PASS

Year Sees Record Breaking Manager Turnover.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The passing of Ty Cobb as player and manager and the appointment of George Moriarity and Dan Howley as managers of the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Browns, respectively, within a single day again startled the baseball world, already shaken by the greatest turn-over of managers in the history of the game. Five have been beheaded and four successors appointed since the final contest of the series less than a month ago.

Those in the discard include two immortals of the game, Cobb and George Sisler, for several years player-manager of the Browns; Bill McKechnie, who managed the Pittsburgh Pirates into a world's title two years ago; Arthur Fletcher of the Phillies, and Lee Fohl, of the Boston Red Sox. No successor to Fohl has been announced to date.

Three of the new appointees were surprise candidates. Moriarity had been mentioned as a possible Detroit manager, in the event that Cobb stepped down, but few had taken the umpire's candidacy seriously. Howley also was talked of in St. Louis but others were thought to have the inside track, while the appointment of Donie Bush at Pittsburgh came as a genuine shock. Only one, naming of Stuffy McInnis to succeed Fletcher in Philadelphia, came within general expectations.

Cobb's passing, after 22 wonder years in baseball, had been predicted for some time, but those who new the cordial relationship existing between Cobb and Owner Frank Navin felt that the Georgia Peach could remain as long as he wished. Cobb, however, is believed to have capitulated to fan sentiment, which had become distinctly adverse during recent years because of his failure to win a pennant with the Tigers.

He was not successful as a manager, but as a player his memory will never dim. Greatest of all time, he will take most of the records into retirement with him and a great deal of money. Cobb is reputed to be the richest player in baseball.

250 Lithuanians Leave America for Soviet Community

LENINGRAD. — Leningrad municipal authorities announce that they have made preparations to receive a group of 250 Lithuanian men and women who are emigrating to the Soviet Union from America.

According to the Leningrad authorities, the emigrants had lived many years in the United States but tired of the struggle for existence, and requested permission of the Soviets to establish a communal settlement in Leningrad. Their arrival from New York is expected within the next few weeks.

Never a Marcel Wave

By Edna Wallace Hopper

My hair is ever curly, with never a Marcel wave. And it always has a glow. The reason lies in a hair dress made exclusively for me. It was perfected for me by great experts when I had my long hair bobbed. Now all toilet counters supply it under the name Edna Wallace Hopper's Wave and Sheen. The price is 75c.

I cannot conceive of a girl or woman going without it when she knows. No one who sees my hair will do so. Nothing else I have ever found makes hair so lustrous, so wavy, so fluffy, so abundant. My guarantee is enclosed with every bottle, so it costs you nothing if it doesn't please. Go try it at my expense.

WOMEN FIGHT SUPREME COURT FOR BUILDING

National Woman's Party Refuses to Give Justice Home.

TAFT IS DEFIED

Headquarters Gift of Mrs. Belmont for Suffragists.

WASHINGTON—A controversy between the United States Supreme Court and the National Woman's Party promises to enliven the many disputes arising over the carrying out of the Washington end of the $50,000,000 public building program.

Boldly defying the reported wishes of Chief Justice William Howard Taft and other members of the highest court, the officers of the woman's party declare they will not give up their headquarters building, to become a site for a proposed national temple of justice without a hard struggle.

The woman's party occupies an historic three-story building opposite the capitol with a park intervening. It was the gift of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont "for the permanent service of women."

"It is natural that the chief justice should prefer such a fine location, facing the capitol with the Congressional Library close to it," said an announcement of the woman's party.

It is just as important, declare the officers of the organization, to maintain a shrine "through the doors of which pass women from many lands who are remaking the status of women and bringing about the final equality and freedom the world over."

The building is one of the oldest in Washington but is well preserved. A tavern stood on the rear of the property in 1800 to which President Adams went when he arrived in Washington. The building became a temporary capitol in 1815 after British soldiers had captured Washington.

Unless an amicable settlement can be arranged, the United States Public Buildings Commission and the Congressional Commission may institute condemnation proceedings for the property.

Eight windmills and many houses were destroyed in a two-hour hail storm in Coimbra, Portugal, recently.

BOOK FIVE—IV.

"And bring Yvonne tomorrow," commanded Peg over the telephone.

"Absolutely will."

But when the receiver was back on its hook Jock said to himself. "No, I won't. I'll take Cecily."

True to their word, Peg and Johnny Havens had summoned him to their home in Washington Square very soon after the November day when they had had tea together; and he had been there often since. He loved to go there. Peg amused him always, Johnny he was enormously fond of, and their host of friends he found exactly to his taste. There was a special brand of informality about the Havens's parties. Every one was expected to do just what he pleased in that apartment, and did so. People came if, and when, they wanted to, entertained themselves according to the dictates of their fancies, and departed at such time as they saw fit. They danced, and sang, and stirred weird concoctions on the kitchenette range, and played stud poker on the dining room table, and made light love in the hall, and laughed. . . . Nowhere under the sun, Jun thought, was there quite so much laughter. Into this environment he had taken Yvonne one afternoon around Christmas time, and he was left with a distressing belief that the experiment had not been successful. Yvonne had been an onlooker, not a participant; and the crowd resented onlookers, however lovely and gracious, on the ground that they "crabbed a party." The fun had been rather subdued that day, and Jock had known why and been both grieved and disappointed. He had felt that in this small but somehow not trivial matter, Yvonne had completely failed him.

Cecily would not fail him. She was fundamentally adapted to just that sort of thing.

He reached for the 'phone again with a view to calling Peg back and announcing the substitution, but thought better of it. "No use," he reflected. "They don't care who I bring, and anyway I'm going to see Johnny at lunch"

It was the last Friday in January, and the luncheon engagement was a business one. Johnny's father was to be present, for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not he agreed with his son that Jock would prove an asset to the paper owned by him, the New York Log. A matter of form only; Jock was as good as hired, sight unseen. But he did not know this, and the meeting seemed to him crucial and precarious. He dressed for it with vast attention to detail, and, in the conviction that the first requirement of a reporter was punctuality, reached the appointed place on the stroke of one—and waited half an hour.

While he waited, he planned the dialogue to come. "Then he'll say" . . . "Then I'll say" . . . He examined his watch at minute intervals, and once he held it to his ear. As one-thirty approached he was assailed by a panicky suspicion that Mr. Havens had declined to present himself after all. In fancy he say Mr. Havens, a sort of Johnny-grown-old with a beard and a belly, pounding his fist on a pile of newspapers and roaring, "Why should I waste my time?"

Why, indeed? Jock could think of no good reason, and it began to seem to him that his mere presence here in expectation of the Great was most presumptuous.

Mr. Mr. Havens came, and was not ostentatiously Great at all, but quite human. You felt at once that he enjoyed cards and horse races, and he commanded a supply of excellent stories, and that he had a cellar full of bottles with cobwebs upon them. That type of man. He was of medium height, thick-set, with an abundance of graying hair, a square strong face, and at once the shrewdest and jolliest eyes Jock had ever seen. He spoke in an abbreviated way, as though before presenting each sentence he mentally blue-penciled it to the bone. "Late," he said, pumping Jock's hand. "Kept you waiting. Couldn't help it. How're you? Glad to know you."

Nor was the ensuing meal at all as Jock had thought it would be. Almost to the end of it, business remained unmentioned. He himself dared not introduce the issue, Johnny would not, and Mr. Havens appeared much more interested in the information that Jock had once played the Valleydale course in two below par than in the fact that he wanted a job. They talked golf until dessert.

"Have to have a round together," Mr. Havens remarked at last, "spring comes."

Jock said, truthfully, that he would like that very much. "But you'll probably beat me ten-up, sir," he added smiling. "I've hardly had a club in my hands since I left college, and I never was any great shakes. That Valleydale score Johnny told you about was an accident."

"Haven't been playing?"

"No, sir."

"Why not? No time?"

Jock hesitated, and Johnny supplied the answer. "No inclination. Tread softly, dad, the boy's in love."

Mr. Havens elevated an eyebrow at Jock. "Fact?"

"I'm going to be married about the last of next month."

"Good!" said Mr. Havens. "Means you'll take hold. Look at Johnny. Engaged, perfectly useless. Wrench in the wheels of progress. Sat and mooned from morn till eve. Marriage made all the difference. Now look at him, works like a steer."

"First time you've ever admitted it," Johnny muttered.

His father ignored this. "When can you start?" he shot at Jock.

"Monday, sir."

Mr. Havens jerked his head in manifestation of approval. "Come 'round. Ten a. m. My office. What do you want, anyway? Business end? News end? What?"

"News," said Jock with emphasis.

"Ever done any writing?"

"Just at college. Of course that doesn't mean anything. But I think I can, Mr. Havens."

"Damn right he can!" put in Johnny. "I've read some of his stuff my brother-in-law sent Peg in the olden days. He's got more literary ability than any staff man ever needed. Also personality, guts, and everything else you'd want."

"This your press agent?" grinned Mr. Havens, pointing a thumb at his son.

"Seems to be," Jock said, also grinning.

"Well, wel'll try you, see if he's right."

Which was all there was to it. They parted soon after; the Havens, pere et fils, to return whence they had come; Jock to rush into the nearest telephone booth, demand his mother's number, and say in a voice which he vainly strove to control, "Hello! Mrs. Madelaine Hamill? A reporter from the Log speaking" . . .

SKINNYMEN THIS BEATS RECORD

He Gained 28 Pounds in 8 Weeks—Good Solid Healthy Flesh, Too

In every town in America you can see skinny, scrawny men and women with deep hollows in cheeks, neck and chest who are more to be pitied than blamed.

Doctors, Chemists, Scientists all agree that Cod Liver Oil is full of flesh building, health promoting, strength increasing vitamins. They also agree and the whole world agrees with them that it is about the most evil smelling and nasty tasting, nauseating stuff that human beings come in contact with—it upsets most stomaches.

But now all that is changed—Cod Liver Oil comes in tablet form, sugar coated and as easy to take as candy. Mathews Medicine Store and druggists everywhere sell McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets with the distinct understanding that if any thin, lean, underweight man or woman takes them for 30 days and does not gain at least 5 pounds, the purchase price will be returned.

Just try them for 30 days, all you folks who need 5 or 10 pounds of good, solid flesh. They have rounded out the scrawney places in thousands of people—they will help you.

Standley E. Howe, Atlantic City, N. J., writes that he gained 28 pounds in 8 weeks and further writes: "I sleep, rest and eat and nothing bothers my nerves—I feel like a real man—thanks to McCoy's."

One woman, exceedingly thin, gained 10 pounds in 22 days; and don't forget that, being full of vitalizing vitamins, they do help feeble old folks who need a real tonic and for thin, puny, undeveloped children—they quickly bring health, strength and increased weight. 60 tablets for 60 cents. Insist on McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Odd Sect in England Balks at Marriage, Rejoices at Death

LONDON.—A strange religious sect which does not encourage marriage, which rejoices at death, and which regards a birth as an occasion for concern rather than for festivity has been discovered at Loxwood, a tiny hamlet tucked away in the midst of the beautiful Sussex Downs.

Calling themselves the "Dependents," the members of the sect spend the majority of their time praying and "testifying" in a state of religious fervor.

Their "church" is a little hall adjacent to the village. The worshippers usually number about 200, and are mainly women.

They dress in the style of 1830—small flat black straw bonnets perched on their heads, with velvet trimmings at the sides, and tied underneath the chin with ribbons.

"We do not encourage marriage," said Harry Alward, made head of the sect, in discussing its principles. "We also do not believe in having celebrations over the birth of a child, nor do we believe in christening or baptism.

A musical sensation that has swept the country . . .

The New Orthophonic Victor Record

For more than two years, Victor experimented to produce the record which is now sweeping the country. While this improved record has been available for some months, we did not want to present it formally to the public until it had definitely proved its worth as the finest record made.

Two weeks ago we announced the new Orthophonic Record. Already millions of music-lovers have been thrilled by the music of this new and wonderful type of Victor Record—a record unequaled in clarity, tone, and fidelity to the original.

Here at last is a record as good as the Orthophonic Victrola. There is nothing with which to compare it, except the singing or playing of the artists themselves.

Close your eyes and you cannot believe that you are listening to a reproducing instrument playing a record. It is just as much the actual artist as though he or she were in the room with you. For the tone of these amazing records is the tone of naturalness—round, full, true, not pinched and, on the other hand, not too loud.

Microphone recording — Orthophonic — Artists now sing or play in natural position before a microphone, just as they sing or play at a public performance. The microphone "hears" and records what you would hear were you there.

Unpleasant scratch eliminated—Made from a new improved material, Orthophonic Records have eliminated those annoying surface-noises so common to the ordinary type of record. You hear the music and nothing else. Also, these records have longer life.

That elusive "third dimension"—Victor has captured what a great musician calls the "third dimension"—depth! Just as the great masters gave "relief" and depth to their paintings, so these new records give depth and roundness of tone to reproduced music.

Foremost artists in every class—Victor has always attracted the foremost singers and instrumentalists of the world—operatic—orchestral—popular and dance. Their confidence is more than ever justified by the life-like fidelity of Victor's new Orthophonic recordings.

Record stops automatically—An exclusive feature of the Orthophonic Victor Record is a groove, cut "off center." When the music has finished playing, the needle swings into this groove and applies the automatic stop on all modern Victrolas.

Hearing is believing—Whether you own an Orthophonic Victrola or not, hear these new Victor Records. They play on any instrument—and vastly improve its playing quality.

Go to your nearest Victor dealer. Go expecting the musical thrill of a lifetime. You will not be disappointed.

When Baby Complains.

There are many ways a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

To avoid imitations always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

'SUBWAY SADIE' AT AMERICAN

Dorothy Mackaill, Mulhall and Murray Featured.

"Subway Sadie," a First National picture, directed by Alfred Santell and produced by Al Rockett of "Abraham Lincoln" fame, is the attraction today, tomorrow and Saturday at the American theatre. Dorothy Mackaill, Jack Mulhall and Charles Murray are the featured players. Others in the cast include Peggy Shaw, Gaston Glass, Bernard Randall and Jack Raymond.

This is an excellent photoplay built around the romance of a New York working girl and a subway guard. It is charming and delightful. Real intelligence has been put into this picture by both producer and director, and the result is a brilliant picture, filled with romance, sprightly comedy, a touch of pathos here and there, a smart fashion show—dazzling night club scenes and other highly entertaining features.

Dorothy Mackaill is the girl. She falls in love with a subway guard (Jack Mulhall) and they decide to wed. But a lifelong ambition of Dorothy's is to be realized when she is made a buyer for her store and sent to Paris.

The wedding is called off and the heartbroken young man wonders what it is all about. The wedding date is the sailing date for Dorothy. But she never sails. Her subway guard is injured and she gives up her job to stay by him, marry him and settle down as the wife of a poor working man—but there is a surprise which we cannot tell about, and the picture ends happily.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil as a substitute for calomel to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c, 30c and 60c.

"My Catarrh is all gone"

What freedom in those words! Only those can realize who know the distress of clogged air passages, catarrhal deafness, offensive breath, raising of mucus, and lowered vitality due to catarrh. Yet thousands still endure catarrh needlessly, because they are treating symptoms instead of the cause. Catarrh comes from an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane—that delicate lining of the air passages of nose, throat and head. When this is corrected catarrh disappears. Salves and local ointments give only temporary relief. But Hall's Catarrh Medicine, because it goes directly to the cause, has been successful for over 40 years. Get it from your druggist, or send 65 cents to F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

American Guild of Health Will Open Mission On Sunday

Inter-denominational Society Plans Week's Services in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church.

Rev. Edward B. Andrews, D. D., Cleveland, vice-president of the American Guild of Health, wil conduct a teaching mission in St. Stephen's Episcopal church, beginning next Sunday morning and ending with the evening service on Sunday, November 14.

Purpose of Society.

The guild is an inter-denominational society, first started in the Episcopal church. It quickly overleaped the denominational barriers and, when it was incorporated in December, 1922, its membership was thrown open to all baptiszed persons without question all baptized persons affiliation. On its board of trustees are members of several great religious bodies.

The primary purpose of the society is to restore to fuller expression the ministry of healing as an inherent part of the pastoral office of the church. Its objects are:

First, to study the influence of the spiritual upon the physical well being.

Second, the exercise of healing by spiritual means, in complete loyalty to scientific principles and methods.

Third, united prayer for the inspiration of the Holy Spirit in all efforts to heal the sick.

Fourth, the cultivation through spiritual means, of both individual and corporate health.

"Service Organization."

The guild has no man or group of men to guarante its expenses or make up deficits.

It aims to be "a service organization" and to be supported by the subscriptions of those who have benefited by its work and teaching and by the fees paid by those who join its classes in "applied religion."

It is a teaching, rather than a healing movement. It seeks to develop teachers, not healers. It depends upon teaching missions and classes, rather than upon healing missions and service, as the latter are ordinarily conducted. Its task is distinctly that of "religious education." Its primary stress is upon the truth of man's nature, that he is a conscious personal, individualized center of manifestation of the creative life and love.

Any movement of real and permanent worth must give a teaching which is intellectually tenable, and morally and spiritually satisfactory. This is true of this movement about which people are daily inquiring. Its teaching is providing sane and reasonable to all who study it and it develops sane and wholesome reactions and attitudes towards all the problems and responsibilities of life. It gives men and women a working philosophy of life which they are able to apply to all situations and human relations.

and may form habits of indolence and carelessness that will cling to him through life. The dull child is often bewildered and discourgade by being expected to do things he can not do and in time unconsciously becomes set in a conviction that he is a second-rater.

When children are grouped accordingly to ability, those in each group can keep pace with one another, and in each group there are competitive conditions that tend to develop the best there is in every member of the group. Perhaps the greater benefits accrue to those who are classed as average or dull, for in their own groups they develop qualities of leadership and an urge for accomplishment that they would never know under the old system where they would never have a chance to excel and would know that no matter what they did their records would never be outstanding or exceptional. As a teacher in one of the schools of this city reports, "Children who have suffered the discouragement and humiliation that comes from constant failure are gaining confidence in themselves and are taking prominent parts in schoolroom exercises. For the first time in their school career they are knowing the joy of success."

In short, the new system does away with the old idea that all pupils can or ought to be able to do all kinds of mental work and attain high rank, or at least make average grades, if they try hard enough, and that it is all right to be satisfied with average work from bright pupils while an extra drive is made to bring the dull ones up to an average accomplishment.

How Children Are Grouped.

Children are grouped through the use of standardized intelligence and achievement tests, considered in connection with other pertinent information such as physical condition, emotional stability, former school experience, character traits, home influence, and the judgment of their teachers. They are then promoted, demoted, or left in their old classes, in order to get them in the groups where they belong. As it invariably works out, children of approximately the same age are brought together.

This may be illustrated by citing the experience in grouping the children of one grade in a Washington school. The scientific tests showed that all those in the dull group were 11, 12, and 13 years of age; those in the average group were from 9½ to 10½ years; and those in the bright group, 8 to 10 years. The mental ages of those in the first group were 8, 9, and 10; of the second, 9 nad 10; and of the third, 9, 10, and 11. The intelligence quotients of those in the dull group ranged from 70 to 90; second, 95 to 106; third, 110 to 140.

Of 495 pupils in five Washington schools who were promoted on the basis of these tests, most of them being advanced one semester, some two semesters, and a few three semesters, only 19 failed to make good, and 16 of those failures were not due to the method of promotion on standardized tests.

Members of school boards inclined to object to the new system on the ground of expense will be interested in knowing that in this instance a decided economy is shown. The total saving of time of the 476 pupils promoted who made good was 561 semesters. It would have taken 14 teachers with 40 pupils to a group to teach what they already knew or could get quickly without those teachers. One extra teacher was added for a backward class, so the net saving was 13 teachers' salaries for a semester, a minimum of $9,360 on the old salary basis.

Miss Jessie LaSalle, who has been directing this work in the Washington schools for three years, has stated in one of her reports that the children in every school tested were so misplaced that 25 per cent were in grades too low and 16 per cent in grades too high.

"The need for a continuance of intelligence and standardized achievement tests until all schools are reclassified is urgent,' says Miss LaSalle. 'Our schools are pretty well taking care of the average or normal child, but little is being done for the rarely gifted, talented children, and for the dull children. Surely a democratic education should provide for all its children according to their capacities and needs instead of attempting to make all conform to the type and pace of the middle, average group."

Fourth, the cultivation through spiritual means, of both individual and corporate health.

"Service Organization."

The guild has no man or group of men to guarante its expenses or make up deficits.

It aims to be "a service organization" and to be supported by the subscriptions of those who have benefited by its work and teaching and by the fees paid by those who join its classes in "applied religion."

It is a teaching, rather than a healing movement. It seeks to develop teachers, not healers. It depends upon teaching missions and classes, rather than upon healing missions and service, as the latter are ordinarily conducted. Its task is distinctly that of "religious education." Its primary stress is upon the truth of man's nature, that he is a conscious personal, individualized center of manifestation of the creative life and love.

Any movement of real and permanent worth must give a teaching which is intellectually tenable, and morally and spiritually satisfactory. This is true of this movement about which people are daily inquiring. Its teaching is providing sane and reasonable to all who study it and it develops sane and wholesome reactions and attitudes towards all the problems and responsibilities of life. It gives men and women a working philosophy of life which they are able to apply to all situations and human relations.

and may form habits of indolence and carelessness that will cling to him through life. The dull child is often bewildered and discourgade by being expected to do things he can not do and in time unconsciously becomes set in a conviction that he is a second-rater.

When children are grouped accordingly to ability, those in each group can keep pace with one another, and in each group there are competitive conditions that tend to develop the best there is in every member of the group. Perhaps the greater benefits accrue to those who are classed as average or dull, for in their own groups they develop qualities of leadership and an urge for accomplishment that they would never know under the old system where they would never have a chance to excel and would know that no matter what they did their records would never be outstanding or exceptional. As a teacher in one of the schools of this city reports, "Children who have suffered the discouragement and humiliation that comes from constant failure are gaining confidence in themselves and are taking prominent parts in schoolroom exercises. For the first time in their school career they are knowing the joy of success."

In short, the new system does away with the old idea that all pupils can or ought to be able to do all kinds of mental work and attain high rank, or at least make average grades, if they try hard enough, and that it is all right to be satisfied with average work from bright pupils while an extra drive is made to bring the dull ones up to an average accomplishment.

How Children Are Grouped.

Children are grouped through the use of standardized intelligence and achievement tests, considered in connection with other pertinent information such as physical condition, emotional stability, former school experience, character traits, home influence, and the judgment of their teachers. They are then promoted, demoted, or left in their old classes, in order to get them in the groups where they belong. As it invariably works out, children of approximately the same age are brought together.

This may be illustrated by citing the experience in grouping the children of one grade in a Washington school. The scientific tests showed that all those in the dull group were 11, 12, and 13 years of age; those in the average group were from 9½ to 10½ years; and those in the bright group, 8 to 10 years. The mental ages of those in the first group were 8, 9, and 10; of the second, 9 nad 10; and of the third, 9, 10, and 11. The intelligence quotients of those in the dull group ranged from 70 to 90; second, 95 to 106; third, 110 to 140.

Of 495 pupils in five Washington schools who were promoted on the basis of these tests, most of them being advanced one semester, some two semesters, and a few three semesters, only 19 failed to make good, and 16 of those failures were not due to the method of promotion on standardized tests.

Members of school boards inclined to object to the new system on the ground of expense will be interested in knowing that in this instance a decided economy is shown. The total saving of time of the 476 pupils promoted who made good was 561 semesters. It would have taken 14 teachers with 40 pupils to a group to teach what they already knew or could get quickly without those teachers. One extra teacher was added for a backward class, so the net saving was 13 teachers' salaries for a semester, a minimum of $9,360 on the old salary basis.

Miss Jessie LaSalle, who has been directing this work in the Washington schools for three years, has stated in one of her reports that the children in every school tested were so misplaced that 25 per cent were in grades too low and 16 per cent in grades too high.

"The need for a continuance of intelligence and standardized achievement tests until all schools are reclassified is urgent,' says Miss LaSalle. 'Our schools are pretty well taking care of the average or normal child, but little is being done for the rarely gifted, talented children, and for the dull children. Surely a democratic education should provide for all its children according to their capacities and needs instead of attempting to make all conform to the type and pace of the middle, average group."

Countess Tries Again to Enter United States

Countess Michel Karolyi.

Countess Michel Karolyi of Hungary is trying once more to force the State Department to permit her and her husband to enter the United States. The State Department's ban followed a visit of the Count and the Countess to America. The Count agreed to make no speeches or statements. Going to Canada, however, the Count issued a statement, expressing opposition to the Horthy regime. Count Karolyi was the first president of the Hungarian republic and is bitterly opposed by the Monarchists.

DAREDEVIL DIX IN FILM HIT

"The Quarterback" Scores in Opening Run at Ceramic.

The trickiest, funniest, fastest football game ever played. That's what you'll see in Paramount's latest Richard Dix comedy, "The Quarterback," which arrived at the Ceramic Theatre yesterday for an all-week run.

Richard and his pal, David Butler, are working their way through Colton by means of a milk delivery route. To speed matters up, they utilize their football knowledge and send their bottles whizzing through the air. Then—when they actually get in the game—action starts and never stops till the final whistle blows.

But there's much more to "The Quarterback" than just a football game! W. O. McGeehan and William Slavens McNutt have provided Director Fred Newmeyer with a real story. And in its transfer to the screen, nary a thing has been lost.

"The Quarterback" opens with an 1899 prologue. The star quarterback of Colton College, Harry Beresford, has proposed to Mona Palma. She accepts with the proviso that he remain at school until Colton beats her ancient rival, State. Some twenty-seven years later, he is still "one of the boys," Mona has died and his son now plays dad's old position.

Richard is infatuated with Esther Ralston, a State co-ed. Their romance flourishes until the day of the big game. Then—come a series of startling surprises. Things start to go wrong and—well, why try to describe it?

See "The Quarterback." Richard Dix has never had a better vehicle!

Find Way to Drop Mail From Airplanes Without Landing

LONDON.—An apparatus which will enable mailbags to be delivered from airplanes without landing and to be dropped safely from considerable heights has been invented after years of experimenting by Herr. Kunzer, a Swiss engineer.

The apparatus consists of a metal sheath, containing in the upper part a folded parachute and in the lower a clockwork movement. The mailbag is affixed to the bottom of the apparatus, and the pilot sets the clockwork according to the height at which he is flying, so that when he throws the bag overboard the parachute is timed to open some 150 to 100 yards from the ground.

Tests have been made from a height of 3,000 feet with complete success.

Eleven climbers were killed and many injured in the Tyrolese Alps in a few week last summer.

Hot Breads for breakfast in 10 minutes!

SINCE I have learned to make muffins, Johnny Cakes and other things the day before and reheat them quickly in the morning, we have hot breads all the time. And no one realizes that they are not baked fresh every morning.

I wet them (just a "dash" under the cold water faucet), heat them thoroughly in a covered pan, removing the cover a minute before serving to be sure they are dry.

I used to think that because hot breads require so little shortening they could be made with any odds and ends of fat I happened to have in the house. But one day I made some muffins with Crisco and they were certainly the best I ever ate. Light, tender, with a wonderful flavor and appetizing smell. They were so much better than any I had made before that now I use Crisco for every hot bread I make, and I do get the most gratifying compliments on all my hot breads. They really could not be any better if made with the best, most expensive butter.

DELICIOUS PASTRY, CAKES AND FRIED FOODS, TOO

Crisco is by no means limited to making hot breads. I find that I can always depend on Crisco for flaky pie crusts, delicious cakes, dainty desserts—and for all frying.

Graham Muffins

Johnny Cake

A real New England recipe. If Crisco is used, this Johnny Cake will be light, tender and delicious.

½ cup Crisco
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg (beaten)
1 cup thick sour milk
½ teaspoon soda
1 cup bread flour
½ cup cornmeal
4 teaspoons baking powder

Cream Crisco, sugar and salt together. Add egg, then sour milk and soda beaten together. Last baking powder, flour and cornmeal sifted together three times. Beat until smooth and turn into Criscoed shallow pan. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 minutes.

Q. What was the Malthusian theory? G. A. S.

A. Thomas Robert Malthus born 1766 was an English economist interested in social problems and study of population. In 1798 he published a book "Essay on the Principles of Population as it Affects the Future Improvement of Society." This book demonstrated the theory that in all time population has tended to outrun subsistence, leading to the decay of the nation. He enlarged this theory in 1803 to demonstrate the impossibility to evade poverty and suffering among the mass of the people if unrestricted increase in population continued.

Q. Will you kindly advise me which of the following is correct: "This firm has fifty acres of land which are not being used." "This firm has fifty acres of land which is not being used?" E. M. R.

A. In the above sentence the speaker uses the plural form "are" if he wishes to emphasize the number of acres involved. If he regards the fifty acres as a unit, the singular form is used.

Q. How are safety matches different from other matches? W. L. T.

A. The composition of the head of an ordinary match consists of phosphorus and nitre, or phosphorus, sulphur and chlorate of potash, mixed with melted gum or glue, and colored with vermilion, umber, soot, or other coloring material. The safety match differs from the ordinary match in having the phosphorus omitted from the composition applied to the match stick and combined instead with sand to form a friction surface on the match box, where the matches, which usually have chlorate of potash in their heads, are rubbed in order to be lighted.

Q. Where was the first negro university founded? E. S.

A. Lincoln University, a Presbyterian college, at Lincoln University, Pennsylvania, was the first negro university to be established in the United States. This school was established in 1854.

Q. Is a pane of glass perfectly flat? F. M. F.

A. Some varieties have been developed that are wilt resistant and to a certain extent blight resistant. Among these are Dwarf Stone, Dwarf Champion and Marglobe.

Q. Why do people blush and what could be done to stop it? A. J.

A. Blushing is due to the suspending of the action of the local vasomotor nerves allowing the arteries and capillaries to dilate so that there is an increased flow of blood to the parts that redden. To conquer the habit of blushing is largely a matter of will power.

Q. What has been called "the mother of sciences?" C. D.

A. Philosophy has been called this. The real meaning of the term is "the love of wisdom."

Q. What species of fish are most abundant in the Mississippi river? R. M. R.

Now Enjoys Good Health

Relieved of Stomach Trouble, Nervousness. Gains 17 Pounds.

"Anybody who has been benefited as I was by Tanlac could not do anything but praise this wonderful tonic," says Mrs. M. Wagoner, 101 Norton Court, Akron, Ohio, whose amazing recovery has surprised her family.

"I was so run-down and weak that I was discouraged with life. The very thought of food distressed me terribly. No matter what I ate I would suffer for hours from heartburn and gas that bloated my stomach. Sweeping and making the beds was drudgery. And my nerves were in such shape that I could not sit still a moment.

"Tanlac changed my life. Gave me strength and energy to live every day, every hour, happily, to do my housework without tiring. It put my stomach in good condition so that I now eat everything without a sign of trouble or pain. It has built me up from 93 to 110 pounds. Every one who is ailing should take Tanlac."

Get Tanlac from your druggist. First bottle shows amazing results. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Often Caused by Bladedr Weakness. It's Nature's Signal of "Danger Ahead."

You should get the credit as I had tried many things. I will be glad to write my experience to any one. Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder as epsom salts do the bowels, driving out deposits, neutralizes excess acids, thereby relieving irritation that causes getting up nights. St. Isaac's Cathedral Russia's Large Church, Will Become Museum

LENINGRAD.—The famous old Cathedral of St. Isaac's, largest church in Leningrad and in Russia, and best known to all visitors from abroad, is about to be turned into a museum.

A committee of the Main Science board, reporting that the church is falling into a dangerous state of disrepair and that recently a section of stone weighing 500 pounds fell from a cornice of the building, has recommended that the building be taken out of the hands of the church authorities and converted into a government museum. The committee's advice probably will be followed.

The church has not been used for regular worship since the revolution but still is considered a consecrated building, visited by the faithful for prayers. It is the chief architectural monument of the Orthodox Church, corrosponding to St. Sophia's in Constantinople.

Why We Become Weak, Tired and Run-Down If Glands Fail

THOUSANDS drag through life always tired and worn-out, suffering with loss of energy and vitality, and fail to recognize the cause of their trouble. Medical authorities now know the trouble as "asthenia," and claim it is caused by an unbalanced glandular system or weakened glands.

Gland secretions are called hormones—mysterious messengers which science has discovered exert a remarkable influence on health, strength and vitality. When the glands function normally they supply these vitalizing hormones (or secretions) which are essential to physical well-being. And when the glands fail to function, health fails.

Now, glandular treatment, which is endorsed by eminent scientists and physicians of this country and Europe, is being used by thousands of men and women to help overcome a weakened, worn-out, run-down, exhausted condition, and to regain the strength, vigor and vitality that are the natural benefits resulting from a normal glandular system.

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment. Glandogen is prepared in convenient tablet form, for both men and women. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic.
